War Tempo Quickens; Six North Targets Hit

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes launched massive scorched-earth raids against the Viet Cong and attacked a half dozen targets in North Viet Nam Wednesday.

By Thursday, savage fighting for control of Viet An, a strategic center in the mountains south of the Da Nang Air Base, appeared to have died down.

Preliminary reports said two American helicopter crewmen were killed in the Viet An action and 17 wounded there by heavy Viet Cong groundfire. Two U S Army and two Marine helicopters were shot down, but both Army and one Marine machine were recovered Thursday.

The Americans killed were identified as Marine 1st Lt. Wendell T. Eliason of Escalon, Calif., and Marine 1st Lt. James E. Magel of St. Louis, Mo. The U.S. combat death toll in Viet Nam rose to 315.

Eleven South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the Viet An battle.

Many Bodies

U S sources said at least 50 Viet Cong were killed. One U.S. pilot said he counted 200 Viet Cong bodies, but this could not be confirmed.

The war's tempo had sped up in the wake of the terrorist bombing of the U.S. embassy in Saigon, although no direct connection was evident between that and the expanded strikes.

On Wednesday, nearly 200 planes and 25 helicopters were aloft. A Hanoi dispatch claimed 12 of them were shot down. The United States admitted two.

Hit Red Forest

About 70 U.S. Air Force planes poured tons of napalm, phosphorous bombs and fuel oil on the Communist-infested Boi Loi Forest 25 miles northeast of Saigon with the aim of burning all its 19,000 acres.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of U.S. Air Force units in Viet Nam, said the fire was burning briskly when he flew over the area late in the day and he hoped it "will keep burning for some time."

However, several infantry officers, recalling vain efforts in the past to root out the Red guerrillas in that area, were skeptical about the operation's strategic value.

The fuel oil, napalm and phosphorous bombs were aimed at two primary points in the forest, which is filled with Viet Cong caves, tunnels and fortifications. Each of the target areas was about a half mile square. Much of the forest, laced with trees 100 feet tall, is tinder dry as a result of both the chemical defoliation and the current rainless hot season.

Participating in buckshot-type strikes north of the 17th Parallel were 45 land-based U.S. and Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers and 60 U.S. Navy planes from the carriers Hancock and Coral Sea.

Announced losses were an F100 reconnaissance jet, which crashed in friendly territory after being hit by flak over North Viet Nam, and one of the Hancock's raiders. The F100 pilot bailed out and landed safely. The Navy flier's fate was not immediately determined.

Budget Committee Will Ask Tuition Increases

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Budget Committee announced Wednesday that it will recommend specific increases in tuition at the University of Nebraska and the state colleges as part of its first appropriations package.

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said specific tuition figures would probably be released next week.

The committee will use projected revenues from such increases to help finance its recommended appropriations for the institutions, Marvel said.

"As part of the budget figures for the state colleges and the University, the committee is incorporating in its recommendations to the Legislature tuition increases for resident and non-resident students in all areas," the senator announced.

Decided In Private

Decisions on tuition were made at two executive sessions this week.

The first was attended by seven of the nine committee members and all votes were unanimous, Marvel said. The second, held Wednesday, was attended by all members with decisions rendered by 8-0 votes, with one senator abstaining.

Informed of the committee's announcement, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff declared: "I propose to raise hell about it."

Carpenter said it is "a very unfair method, a half-nelson method" of forcing the institutions to raise tuition to the recommended levels.

'Caste System'

Tuition hikes would "implement a caste system in education," the senator declared, "further restricting the number of young persons who can afford to receive a higher education."

In the long run, Carpenter argued, restricted educational opportunities "will make sure that the welfare rolls continue to accelerate."

By tying operating budget appropriations to anticipated revenue from recommended tuition increases, Carpenter noted, the committee may remove the possibility of University use of tuition-backed revenue bonds to finance construction on the downtown campus.

LB826,, which would authorize NU to proceed with such financing, will be debated on the floor Thursday.

"If the intent is to nullify LB826 after the Budget Committee has already approved LB826 by sending it to the floor, then that's a little bit irresponsible," Carpenter said.

Current Rates

Current tuition rates at the University are $102 per semester for resident students, $270 per semester for non-resident students. All students, however, must pay an additional $60 per year in special service fees.

Tuition at the state colleges is now $102 per semester for residents and $150 per semester for non-residents.

Annual tuition charges at the NU College of Medicine are $600 for residents and $990 for non-residents. Rates were raised in 1964 from $525 and $765.

Dentistry College

Annual tuition at the NU College of Dentistry is $430 for residents and $840 for non-residents. Rates were raised in 1964 from $330 and $570.

The Legislature is not specifically empowered to raise tuition rates at the institutions, but it could presumably force the schools to do so by basing budget recommendations upon the hikes.

With a chunk of the budget pegged to income fom tuition increases, sufficient state tax funds would not be raised to finance the recommended budget.

Warning Issued By Morrison

Gov Frank Morrison warned Wednesday against tuition increases that would deprive students of a college education.

However, the governor declined to comment directly on the Legislature's Budget Committee recommendation for hiked tuitions at the University of Nebraska and state colleges until actual figures are disclosed.

"The Legislature should bear in mind that our obligation is to provide public education for our citizens," Morrison said. "It should assure itself no one would be deprived of an education from tuition increases."

Increases Productivity

"Education increases productivity of the individual citizen and the state gets back many times what it invests in education," he said, but noted the tuition matter is for Legislature determination.

On non-resident tuition, Morrison said he believes an out-of-state student should be charged whatever tuition rate a Nebraska student would pay attending the university or college of that state.

"This is the fairest kind of non-resident tuition," he said.

Recriminations

He suggested non-resident hikes without regard for those of other states can result in recriminations against the state and a "fencing off" of Nebraska.

"An interchange of students between states is of important intellectual and cultural benefit," he said.

Morrison said he will discuss tuition increase matters with University officials and other educators in the state.

Motion To Dismiss Long Case Denied

. . . STATE'S BID FAILS

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster District Judge William Hastings Wednesday overruled the state's motion to dismiss the injunction suit filed by Dr Walter Long of Burwell who is seeking a court ruling preventing his dismissal as livestock inspector at the Burwell Sales Barn.

Lincoln attorney Chauncey Barney, representing Long, told the court that the law states that a resignation obtained under duress is not legal.

Barney said that Dr Long's resignation was "forced under threat he would be fired if he didn't resign."

Mel Kammerlohr of the State attorney general's office argued that since Dr. Long did resign he should be held to that decision.

'Could Have Insisted'

"If pressure were put on him to resign he could have stuck to insisting on having a hearing," Kammerlohr said.

Dr Long, who was dismissed from his position by State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan, contends that a formal hearing must be held before he could be replaced, and that Gov Frank Morrison refused to order such legal hearing.

Two veterinarians were appointed by Finigan to replace Dr. Long Jan. 1.

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele issued a temporary order Dec. 31 restraining Finigan from removing Long with the provision that Dr Long "shall not be required or shall he perform duties at said market until further order of the court."

Dr Long testified Wednesday that on Nov. 6, 1963, he withheld from sale two consignments of cattle after laboratory tests confirmed the clinical observation that the cattle were diseased.

The suit contends the dispute between Long and Finigan is primarily over Long's determination that some 500 head of cattle brought to the Burwell Market in Nov., 1963, were diseased.

He said before dismissing the cattle, he contacted Dr. F E. Ziegenbein, who was at that time state veterinarian, and Dr. Ziegenbein told him he had a responsibility as veterinary inspector to dismiss the cattle and not permit them to be sold.

Dr. Long said after he dismissed the cattle the three owners of the sales barn called him into the office and criticized his calling Dr. Ziegenbein, disagreed with his diagnosis and told him (Long) he "hadn't heard the end of it."

He further testified that in July, 1964 he received a letter from the State Agriculture Department which contained a list of alleged charges from the livestock market and informing him that a meeting would be held in Lincoln.

No Testimony

He said a meeting was subsequently held in Dr. Ziegenbein's office but there "was no testimony or evidence taken from anyone in support of the charges."

He said that three representatives of the State Agriculture Department came to see him at Burwell and in the course of the conversation "I was asked by these gentleman if the situation arose would I resign or would they be forced to terminate my agreement with the director."

Dr. Long said he told them that if the situation arose he would make a determination at that time.

The former veterinary inspector said that he was informed by his attorney that a letter terminating his services had been written but not yet mailed to him.

On July 30 1964, he said he submitted his resignation to Finigan and there was a gentlemen's agreement" that his services would terminate Jan. 1 or when he could sell his practice to another veterinarian who would be hired as the Burwell inspector.

Offer

He said he had an offer to sell his business in December which was never consummated, and on Dec. 2, he wrote a letter to the governor asking to withdraw his resignation.

A hearing held Dec. 28 before Gubernatorial Administrative Assistant James Dunlevey resulted in a denial of Long's request to withdraw his resignation, Long said.

The court recessed until 10 a.m. Thursday to give the defendants time to study for possible objections depositions including one taken from Finigan.

Increase In School Board's Size Nixed

Provisions in two bills which would have increased the size of the Lincoln Board of Education from its present membership of six were killed Wednesday by the Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee.

However, the committee approved 7-0 a reduction in the length of members' terms from six to four years.

A proposal to elect board members by area was also rejected.

Mrs. L. John Cooper, president of the Lincoln Area Council PTA, led the support for both LB401 and LB464, which were heard together, providing for area election of board members and expanded membership. Robert Wekesser, vice president of the Lincoln School Board, voiced opposition to both bills, speaking for the entire board.

Compromise

In effect, the committee junked two alternative proposals and came up with a type of compromise.

Lincoln Sen. John E. Knight's LB401 would have created a seven-member board, with two elected at-large and the remaining five elected by districts. The committee killed this bill, 5-2.

The other measure, LB464, chiefly introduced by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, would have increased the size of the board to 10, continue to have them elected at-large instead of by districts, but cut members' terms to four years. It was this bill which the committee amended and sent to the floor.

In other action the Urban Affairs Committee reported out with an amendment a procedural bill, LB206, designed to permit Lincoln and Lancaster County to meet fiscal problems resulting from the difference in due dates on taxes they levy.

Doctors Amazed At Wonder Drug

New Orleans (AP)—Researchers probed Wednesday the mysteries of what may be one of the most fantastic and weird drugs of all time.

It passes right through your skin, enhances the action of other drugs, kills pain, relieves inflammation, stops the growth of some bacteria, tranquilizes, acts as a diuretic and heaven knows what else.

It's called DMSO—short for dimethyl sulfoxide—and the doctors who use it experimentally are almost as amazed at what it does, as are some of their experimental patients.

Potent Solvent

It is a potent solvent, has wide industrial uses, and will dissolve your clothes if they are made of synthetic fibers like rayon, polyurethane and acrylics.

But as a drug it is not yet ready for prescription use by doctors, has only been used experimentally, but is showing some very unusual results. It may be years away from federal approval.

Dr. Stanley W. Jacob of the University of Oregon Medical School said toxicity tests have been and are being run in a number of animals, and so far the compound appears to have a low toxicity.

Science Seminar

There were three reports on the drug and its uses to a science writers' seminar held by the American Cancer Society. Drs. Jacob, Edward E. Rosenbaum of the University of Oregon, and Arthur L. Scherbel of the Cleveland (Ohio) Clinic, made the reports.

—The drug gave pain relief to persons with superficial second-degree burns of the hand and forearm, and for some third-degree burns.

Eases Bursitis

—In some cases of acute bursitis—severe shoulder pain and inflammation—the drug has relieved pain, and for most patients helps bring recovery in from one to seven days.

—It relieves pain in common arthritis—but does not cure it.

—In scleroderma, a progressive and deforming disease that begins with the skin, and leads to internal organs, the drug has dramatically helped nine of ten patients. It stopped pain and cleared up ulcers of the fingertips, relaxed the tight leathery skin and made hands mobile and strong again.

Affects Collagen

It seems to have a dissolving effect on collagen—the tough fibers of the body's connective tissue, and could be useful in diseases involving abnormal collagen.

It has been tried on one animal cancer without effect, but doctors are looking into its use in a number of areas from hardening of the arteries to diabetes, where it enhances the effect of insulin—at least in animals.

In some patients, the mild burning or tingling sensation when DMSO is applied to the skin is disagreeable. In some others, it yields an oyster-like odor and taste to the breath.

USA Water Planning Bill Passes House

Washington (AP)— The House passed Wednesday a bill for planning conservation and development of the nation's water resources.

The roll call vote was 383 to 0.

The bill would authorize the spending of $160 million in 10 years for planning water projects.

The measure is similar to one passed by the Senate Feb. 25. Differences between the two measures will require the appointment of a Senate-House conference committee to seek an agreement. The bill calls for:

—Federal grants of $5 million annually to states for planning water resource development.

—$6 million a year to be used by river basin commissions.

—Creation of a cabinet-level Water Resources Council.

The federal grants would be matched by the states so as to encourage the states to play a major role in planning the use of their water and related land resources.

The river basin commissions would serve as principal agencies for the coordination of federal, state, local and nongovernmental plans.

Searchers Still Unable To Find Body

The search continued Wednesday for a Lincoln man believed to have drowned Tuesday morning in the Wagor Train Lake three miles east of Hickman.

The victim is believed to be William Mulkey, 31, an engineer for KOLN-TV.

According to the Lancaster County Sheriff's office, attempts to locate the body by scuba divers and dragging the lake would continue during the daylight hours Thursday.

The drowning was witnessed by a Holland carpenter, Ivan Kats, who was working on a nearby farm. He said he went to get a rope for the man who was clinging to a capsized canoe but when he returned the man had disappeared.

Mrs Mulkey told authorities that her husband had recently purchased a boat and had taken it to the lake to fish Tuesday.

War Tempo Quickens; Six North Targets Hit

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes launched massive scorched-earth raids against the Viet Cong and attacked a half dozen targets in North Viet Nam Wednesday.

By Thursday, savage fighting for control of Viet An, a strategic center in the mountains south of the Da Nang Air Base, appeared to have died down.

Preliminary reports said two American helicopter crewmen were killed in the Viet An action and 17 wounded there by heavy Viet Cong groundfire. Two U.S. Army and two Marine helicopters were shot down, but both Army and one Marine machine were recovered Thursday.

The Americans killed were identified as Marine 1st Lt. Wendell T. Eliason of Escalon, Calif., and Marine 1st Lt. James E. Magel of St. Louis, Mo. The U.S. combat death toll in Viet Nam rose to 315.

Eleven South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the Viet An battle.

Many Bodies

U.S. sources said at least 50 Viet Cong were killed. One U.S. pilot said he counted 200 Viet Cong bodies, but this could not be confirmed.

The war's tempo had sped up in the wake of the terrorist bombing of the U.S. embassy in Saigon, although no direct connection was evident between that and the expanded strikes.

On Wednesday, nearly 200 planes and 25 helicopters were aloft. A Hanoi dispatch claimed 12 of them were shot down. The United States admitted two.

Hit Red Forest

About 70 U.S. Air Force planes poured tons of napalm, phosphorous bombs and fuel oil on the Communist-infested Boi Loi Forest 25 miles northeast of Saigon with the aim of burning all its 19,000 acres.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of U.S. Air Force units in Viet Nam, said the fire was burning briskly when he flew over the area late in the day and he hoped it "will keep burning for some time."

However, several intantry officers, recalling vain efforts in the past to root out the Red guerrillas in that area, were skeptical about the operation's strategic value.

The fuel oil, napalm and phosphorous bombs were aimed at two primary points in the forest, which is filled with Viet Cong caves, tunnels and fortifications. Each of the target areas was about a half mile square. Much of the forest, laced with trees 100 feet tall, is tinder dry as a result of both the chemical defoliation and the current rainless hot season.

Participating in buckshot-type strikes north of the 17th Parallel were 45 land-based U.S. and Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers and 60 U.S. Navy planes from the carriers Hancock and Coral Sea.

Announced losses were an F100 reconnaissance jet, which crashed in friendly territory after being hit by flak over North Viet Nam, and one of the Hancock's raiders. The F100 pilot bailed out and landed safely. The Navy flier's fate was not immediately determined.

—In some cases of acute bursitis—severe shoulder pain and inflammation—the drug has relieved pain, and for most patients helps bring recovery in from one to seven days.

—It relieves pain in common arthritis—but does not cure it.

—In scleroderma, a progressive and deforming disease that begins with the skin, and leads to internal organs, the drug has dramatically helped nine of ten patients. It stopped pain and cleared up ulcers of the fingertips, relaxed the tight leathery skin and made hands mobile and strong again.

Affects Collagen

It seems to have a dissolving effect on collagen—the tough fibers of the body's connective tissue, and could be useful in diseases involving abnormal collagen.

It has been tried on one animal cancer without effect, but doctors are looking into its use in a number of areas from hardening of the arteries to diabetes, where it enhances the effect of insulin—at least in animals.

In some patients, the mild burning or tingling sensation when DMSO is applied to the skin is disagreeable. In some others, it yields an oyster-like odor and taste to the breath.

USA Water Planning Bill Passes House

Washington (AP)— The House passed Wednesday a bill for planning conservation and development of the nation's water resources.

The roll call vote was 383 to 0.

The bill would authorize the spending of $160 million in 10 years for planning water projects.

The measure is similar to one passed by the Senate Feb. 25. Differences between the two measures will require the appointment of a Senate-House conference committee to seek an agreement. The bill calls for:

—Federal grants of $5 million annually to states for planning water resource development.

—$6 million a year to be used by river basin commissions.

—Creation of a cabinet-level Water Resources Council.

The federal grants would be matched by the states so as to encourage the states to play a major role in planning the use of their water and related land resources.

The river basin commissions would serve as principal agencies for the coordination of federal, state, local and nongovernmental plans.

Searchers Still Unable To Find Body

The search continued Wednesday for a Lincoln man believed to have drowned Tuesday morning in the Wagon Train Lake three miles east of Hickman.

The victim is believed to be William Mulkey, 31, an engineer for KOLN-TV.

According to the Lancaster County Sheriff's office, attempts to locate the body by scuba divers and dragging the lake would continue during the daylight hours Thursday.

The drowning was witnessed by a Holland carpenter, Ivan Kats, who was working on a nearby farm. He said he went to get a rope for the man who was clinging to a capsized canoe but when he returned the man had disappeared.

Mrs. Mulkey told authorities that her husband had recently purchased a boat and had taken it to the lake to fish Tuesday.

15,000 Firemen Jobs Cut Out

Washington (AP) — The railroad industry reported Wednesday night it has eliminated the jobs of more than 15,000 locomotive firemen in less than a year.

Another 6,000 of the remaining 22,000 firemen are expected to be eliminated from diesel engines in the second year since the 1963 ruling under the nation's first peacetime compulsory arbitration law.

The removal of firemen on grounds that they are not needed on modern locomotives has cost the industry $30 million in severance pay so far, but it stands to save an estimated $75 million a year in wages.

Wolfe Speech

The figures, released by the Association of American Railroads, were prepared for a speech by chief industry negotiator J. E. Wolfe at a Yale University management conference.

They were the first detailed figures from the industry on the firemen.

Wolfe said the vast majority of the eliminated firemen landed on their feet with other jobs, businesses of their own, set up with their severance money, or going to college.

Only 11% of the 15,135 men eliminated so far have shown up on railroad unemployment rolls, he said.

'30% Unemployed'

However, H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said in Cleveland that more than 30% are unemployed. Gilbert said the railroad figures covered only men eligible for jobless benefits.

The arbitration award, handed down in November of 1963, went into effect last May after the firemen's union lost legal appeals up to the Supreme Court.

The special arbitration law and the terms of the award run for a total of two years, after which the union has said it will seek to force the railroads to rehire the eliminated firemen.

The award provided that the railroads could eliminate 90% of all firemen from diesel engines in yard and freight service, but with provisions that give lifetime job protection to most men. Firemen are being kept on passenger trains.

Bitter Battle

The arbitration ruling climaxed nearly five years of one of the bitterest labor disputes in railroad history.

Wolfe noted that for the first time in six years, there are no pending major labor disputes in the industry.

And he called on railroad unions to join management in creating a new era of peaceful relations.

Might Not Be Easy

But he conceded that because of the firemen's case, this may not be easy. "The dispute left many wounds that are slow to heal," Wolfe said, adding:

"With the possible exception of the firemen's union, I sincerely feel the union leaders now are beginning to accept the principle that when men are not needed as a result of technological progress, unions must face this fact and adjust to it. Even the firemen's union, I feel, knows this is true, but the union hierarchy will not accept it."

Wolfe said one of the most surprising results of the arbitration case was that the vast majority of firemen who could have taken other railroad jobs chose severance pay instead.

4,800 Cut Out

The railroads eliminated 4,800 firemen with two to 10 years' service who, under the award, were offered comparable jobs with their current earnings guaranteed for five years.

About 4,000—83% — chose instead to take severance, which averaged $5,600 a man, Wolfe said.

Wolfe denied charges by the union that the elimination of firemen has sharply increased the rate of railroad accidents.

"There has not been a serious accident—and we investigate every one of them — in which the absence of a fireman had any effect whatsoever," he said.

Ousted Banker Charges Skulduggery

Washington (AP)—Don C. Silverthorne said Wednesday "there has been some kind of a payoff somewhere along the line" in the events leading up to the collapse of the San Francisco National Bank.

"I make the charge of skulduggery," said Silverthorne, who was ousted as president of the bank three months before it failed on Jan. 22.

Silverthorne told Senate investigators they should check into telephone calls made between Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon and other persons including J. W. Ehrlich, a director of the bank, just before Saxon closed the institution.

'You'd Be Surprised'

"I think you would be surprised," Silverthorne said, adding that the phone calls would "bear investigation."

He said Ehrlich was one of four directors who broke into his desk, removed his records, and changed the lock so he couldn't get back into it. He said many of the bank's records have disappeared since he was ousted.

Silverthorne renewed his denial or any wrongdoing in connection with the bank's failure. He has contended that he was the innocent victim of a power play between Washington officials and other San Francisco bankers who wanted to run him out of business. He said the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. permitted the last-minute withdrawal of $1.5 million from the bank at "3 minutes to 3" o'clock on the day it was closed.

The witness said the $1.5 million was transferred to the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco, where it was credited to the Lytton Savings & Loan Association of Los Angeles, which had refused to renew a certificate of deposit with San Francisco National.

Silverthorne contended it is illegal to allow withdrawal of deposits from an insolvent bank.

He told the subcommittee he "can't answer why" the FDIC permitted the $1.5 million withdrawal if it knew San Francisco National was in an unsound condition. He said FDIC should sue to get it back.

'Pushed Around'

Silverthorne, who has been accused of gambling with bank funds, protested that "I've been pushed around" and told Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark:

"Don't yell at me. I'll yell back."

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., asked Silverthorne about Saxon's testimony that the bank was "murked down with corruption."

"It's not true," said Silverthorne. "I can say the same thing about the comptroller's office and double it in spades. He knew everything that was going on in that bank."

'Dishonesty'

Saxon, in testifying earlier about why he ordered the bank placed in receivership, accused Silverthorne of "gross dishonesty" with the bank's money.

The comptroller is due to testify again later in the subcommittee's investigation of the failure of federally insured banks.

Silverthorne testified that San Francisco National may lose $400,000 of a $625,000 loan he advanced to two speculators, Joseph B. Morris and Bernard S. Garrett.

'Fast-Buck' Operators

He said Morris and Garrett, termed "fast-buck" operators by McClellan, used the money to buy control of the Mainland Bank & Trust Co. in Texas City, Tex., and then borrowed heavily from the Texas bank.

McClellan emphasized that Mainland Bank & Trust has recovered, under new management, from its troubles and there is no reason for anyone to have any concern about the bank's solvency."

Silverthorne testified Morris and Garrett paid a $50,000 fee or commission on their loan from San Francisco National, but he said he had no recollection of depositing half of this fee in his personal account.

St. Louis GOP Mayor Candidate Stages Sit-In

St. Louis (AP)—Maurice R. Zumwalt, toting his suitcase, walked jauntily into the office of the Board of Election Commissioners Wednesday morning and announced he will remain until "I'm physically ejected."

Zumwalt, a 62-year-old storm door manufacturer and Republican candidate for mayor, said his demonstration will continue until his demands for police protection at Tuesday's polling places are met.

"I intend to stay here until I get a promise from the Board of Police Commissioners that it will have police protection at all polls to protect the little voter," he explained.

"These people are afraid to vote in some polling places and I feel it is my duty as the GOP mayoralty candidate to assure them of this protection."

In recent years, the police board—at the request of the election commissioners — has stationed officers at each polling place. This system was replaced in the March 9 primary election by roving policemen alerted for possible trouble spots, but no major incidents occurred.

Zumwalt also wanted a joint hearing by the police and election boards to air charges of alleged intimidation, fraud and violence in past elections.

The election board scheduled a hearing for Friday, but Zumwalt said he would not attend "because it is not a joint hearing."

"Wiley is an attorney for John Lawler, Democratic committeeman of the Second Ward . . . which would require police protection," the Republican candidate said. He added that Dowd's brother, former City Judge Robert Dowd, also is a Democratic committeeman.

Zumwalt faces former Aldermanic President A. J. Cervantes, 44, in Tuesday's election. Cervantes, an insurance executive, defeated Mayor Raymond R. Tucker in last month's Democratic primary election.

Bunker Arrives For Sukarno Talk

Jakarta (UPI) — President Johnson's special envoy Ellsworth Bunker arrived here Wednesday for crucial talks with President Sukarno in an effort to ease strained U.S.-Indonesian relations.

Immediately taking up his trouble-shooting role, Bunker, a veteran diplomat, held an hour-long session with Foreign Minister Subandrio and said later they had "a very good exchange of views."

Subandrio said the talks were "friendly."

Bunker, who hopes to meet with Sukarno Thursday, arrived amid ominous signs. On the eve of his arrival Subandrio warned that Bunker would find a strong anti-American current among the entire Indonesian population.

In another anti-U.S. move, the foreign ministry ordered the staff of the American-Indonesian Institute to vacate its premises, stating that the Indonesian government wanted to use the building as a foreign diplomatic mission.

The institute was built and equipped with American funds. It was used primarily as a language center. The staff was ordered to leave by Thursday.

Upon his arrival, Bunker was told that Indonesians regard his mission as a "last opportunity" to stem fast-deteriorating relation between the two countries.

U.S. Needs No Censors--Cerf

By MARY REIFSCHNEIDER
Star Staff Writer

Self-appointed censors usually accomplish the exact opposite of what they're trying to achieve, television panelist, author and publisher Bennett Cerf said in Lincoln Wednesday night.

Cerf told the audience of several thousand that these censors are usually "well-meaning, old rich ladies, who make lists of books and movies their neighbors shouldn't read."

The result is, books "with four-letter words" become best sellers, he said.

'Don't Need Censors'

"The American people can take care of themselves; they don't need censors," Cerf said.

Criticizing presidential campaigns, Cerf said nominating conventions are "silly." He said by the end of the 1964 campaign, President Johnson told newsmen he no longer knew what cities he was campaigning in.

Cerf said he loves traveling around the country because it reconfirms his belief that the American people are wonderful.

"Who cares what Cubans or Poles think of us—that's their problem."

Talking about his profession of publishing, he noted that the top four sellers of last year were books about John F. Kennedy, something unprecedented in the trade.

He said the myths about the late president are as great as those of Washington and Lincoln.

Cerf said there has been a revolution in textbooks in the past few years. Great progress has been made in the teaching of math, English and sciences, he said.

Precarious

"Rapid change has made the publishing business more precarious. Textbooks may be outdated before they're off the presses," Cerf said.

He also said that television is not hurting reading. "The people who watch TV all day wouldn't be reading if TV weren't there. They'd have a different way of wasting their time," he said.

Cerf, who is a panelist on "What's My Line?", said he enjoys being in the public limelight.

"Everybody knows you. Walking around in a strange city, people will stop you, call you by your first name — you're like an old friend to viewers," he said.

His lecture was sponsored by the Lincoln Education Association

Vet Mail Carrier Used Model T, Buggy, Jeep

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Pleasant Dale—Clayton Rivers was a little late checking into the post office Wednesday.

It was the first tardiness anyone there could remember in his 51 years of mail carrying.

And it didn't really make any difference this time.

Rivers wasn't coming to pick up the mail.

He came to mark his retirement from the service with a handful of longtime friends and co-workers.

"It's kind of a funny feeling," said the tall, slim 70-year-old. "The less I think about it, the better off I'll be."

"He can't understand why they have to put him on the shelf so young," injected Mrs Rivers.

A Seward resident, the grey-haired letter carrier started work for the government as a substitute in 1913 and as a regular three years later.

In those days his open-topped Model T Ford was the familiar sight around the country roads as the youngsters waited at the mailboxes to meet him.

More recently the trade mark has been a little, red Jeep—his third.

"I used a horse and buggy one winter," recalled the jovial old timer, "but it ran away with me once and I gave it up."

Rivers can't remember how many cars he's been through in the 31 years at Pleasant Dale and 19 at Seward.

And his total mileage would approach the astronomical on the 85-mile per day route and commuting from Seward. Some he traveled on his long legs when the snow got too deep for wheeled conveyance.

At the simple gathering in the small post office, Rivers received commendations from the U.S postmaster general and regional director through acting postmaster Mrs. Ella Hejny.

But more meaningful were the gifts and kind words tendered by appreciative patrons and by Mrs. Myrtle Haist, retired postmaster with whom the rural carrier served 15 years.

His four children grown and scattered to several parts of the world, Rivers plans to "loaf around home with my wife."

"I don't know what I'll do with him," piped up Mrs. Rivers. "He hated to have to quit work."

Youth Bound Over; Charged In Dad's Death

Sioux City, Iowa (UPI)—Seventeen-year-old Mylar Wilson Jr. waived a preliminary hearing on an open charge of murder in the death of his father.

Wilson was bound over to the May term of the Woodbury County grand jury.

He has been accused of the fatal shooting of his father Feb. 18. Officials said the shooting followed a family argument.

Wilson, a high school junior, is free on $15,000 bond.

$2 Rate Okayed For Haircuts In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Omaha barbers approved a $2 rate for haircuts and prices increased Wednesday. The step was taken by Omaha Journeyman Barbers Local 765 and the Omaha Masters Barbers Association.

Two Douglas County Chiefs Oppose Raise

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County Commissioners John R. McCollister and William R. Miller said Wednesday night they are opposed to a salary increase for the county board.

A legislative bill proposes a raise from $6,000 to $8,000 for the commissioners.

McCollister and Miller asked Omaha senators to oppose the measure, introduced chiefly by Sen Marvin Stromer of Lincoln.

They said "economy in government must begin at the lowest level, and this bill violates all reasonable concept of economy. The Douglas County commissioners salaries were raised two years ago and we feel no further increase can be justified on any basis."

The increase two years ago was $1,500 a year

Commissioner John J. Cavanaugh said he felt the present pay is adequate and Commissioner Daniel C Lynch said he was satisfied. Commissioner Ralph O. Hefflinger said, "I've never turned down a raise."

Man Severely Hurt In 10th, P Crash

A 41-year-old man was in fairly good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital Thursday after a three-vehicle crash at 10th and P late Wednesday.

Police said the injured man, Leonard D. Bernt of Primrose, was thrown through the windshield of a truck after the truck crashed broadside into two cars.

Bernt suffered a broken nose, severe head and face lacerations and possible internal injuries, hospital authorities said.

Police said Bernt was a passenger in a truck northbound on 10th driven by Kenneth L. McDonnell, 43, of Greenwood McDonell's truck collided with a car westbound on P driven by Theodore Howard Jr., 31, of 3568 Craw, Lincoln Air Force Base, police said. The truck then collided with an eastbound car driven by James V. Jacobson, 22, of 318 Witherbee Blvd.

Young People Can Help To Keep Youths

. . . Says Peterson

Wauneta — Loss of young people from Nebraska right at the time when they enter their productive years is a serious problem that young people themselves must begin to help solve. This was the opinion expressed here Wednesday night by Robert Peterson, Lincoln, a candidate for state president of the Nebraska Jaycees. Peterson spoke at a district meeting of Jaycees here.

He said that between 1951 and 1960 one eight-county area in western Nebraska, for example, lost 37% of its people between ages 20 and 29. The area includes Chase, Deuel, Dundy, Garden, Hayes, Hitchcock, Keith and Perkins Counties.

"The lack of reasonable growth in our over-all state population, and the steady decline of family incomes in many rural areas contributes to the problem," Peterson said. He pledged that as state president of the Nebraska Jaycees he will lead that organization in a state-wide community development program. He said he would also launch a stepped-up leadership training program for young men in their home communities.

Colorado Solons OK Birth Control Information Bill

Denver (AP)—The Colorado legislature adopted a bill authorizing distribution of birth control information and devices to welfare recipients and others seeking to participate in the program.

The action sent the measure to Gov. John A Love. Love has made no comment on the bill this year but two years ago said he would have signed a somewhat similar bill which died in a committee.

The bill authorizes the distribution to any "parent or married person."

The measure says specifically that anyone who does not want to participate because of religious beliefs is exempted and that no benefits may be taken away because of non-participation The bill also provides that any welfare worker can decline to participate because of religious beliefs.

Scottsbluff—The Rev. Ward Conklin, who has served as pastor of First United Presbyterian Church here for more than 11 years, has announced plans to accept the pastorate of the First United Presbyterian Church of Joplin, Mo.

He came to the Scottsbluff church from Second Presbyterian Church at Lincoln. He and his wife have three children.

Father Rescues Twin Sons From Burning Home

Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI)—Lester Wineinger, 42, rescued his twin sons Wednesday from a fire in their home.

The father, who was sleeping when the fire started, led the boys, Rex and Roger, 4, to safety. None of the three was believed seriously hurt, but all were hospitalized.

Mrs. Wineinger was grocery shopping.

Woman, 66, Found Helpless Is Dead

Police found her husband, Avery, 70, in bed at the family home, apparently the victim of a heart attack Mrs Jones, who had suffered a broken hip several weeks earlier, was semi-conscious in a room nearby.

Woman Dies; 2 Critically Hurt In Crash

York (UPI) — Mrs. John Konzack, 59, of Hastings was killed Wednesday in a two-car crash 3½ miles west of Bradshaw on Highway 2-34. Three other persons were injured, two very critically, in the collision.

In very critical condition at a York hospital were Mrs. Konzack's husband, 65 and Mrs Charles Phillips, 63 of McCool Junction Her husband, 72, driver of the Phillips car was listed in good condition

Mr. Konzack is a mathematics professor at Hastings College. He taught at a number of Nebraska high schools before coming to Hastings in 1942. He once was superintendent at Ayr.

The Konzacks have no children.

Wakefield Gets First Loan For Senior Citizens

The state director of the Farmers Home Administration announced Wednesday that the first federal loan for senior citizens rental housing in Nebraska will go to a Wakefield housing development.

Heasty Reesman said recipients of the $90,920 loan are Virgil and Doris Ekberg of Wakefield, incorp s of Wakefield Pleasant Manor, Inc.

Reesman said the loan, made on a long-term, low-interest basis, will be used to purchase and remodel a house, purchase three lots and pay for construction of apartment units for senior citizens

He said the project will provide needed housing for the elderly in the area and should boost the economy of the community.

—'THEY FAIL ANYWAY'—

By MARY REIFSCHNEIDER
Star Staff Writer

Self-appointed censors usually accomplish the exact opposite of what they're trying to achieve, television panelist, author and publisher Bennett Cerf said in Lincoln Wednesday night.

Cerf told the audience of several thousand that these censors are usually "well-meaning, old rich ladies, who make lists of books and movies their neighbors shouldn't read."

The result is, books "with four-letter words" become best sellers, he said.

'Don't Need Censors'

"The American people can take care of themselves; they don't need censors," Cerf said.

Criticizing presidential campaigns, Cerf said nominating conventions are "silly." He said by the end of the 1964 campaign, President Johnson told newsmen he no longer knew what cities he was campaigning in.

Cerf said he loves traveling around the country because it reconfirms his belief that the American people are wonderful.

"Who cares what Cubans or Poles think of us—that's their problem."

Talking about his profession of publishing, he noted that the top four sellers of last year were books about John F. Kennedy, something unprecedented in the trade.

He said the myths about the late president are as great as those of Washington and Lincoln.

Cerf said there has been a revolution in textbooks in the past few years. Great progress has been made in the teaching of math, English and sciences, he said.

Precarious

"Rapid change has made the publishing business more precarious. Textbooks may be outdated before they're off the presses," Cerf said.

He also said that television is not hurting reading. "The people who watch TV all day wouldn't be reading if TV weren't there. They'd have a different way of wasting their time," he said.

Cerf, who is a panelist on "What's My Line?", said he enjoys being in the public limelight.

"Everybody knows you. Walking around in a strange city, people will stop you, call you by your first name — you're like an old friend to viewers," he said.

His lecture was sponsored by the Lincoln Education Association.

Two Douglas County Chiefs Oppose Raise

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County Commissioners John R. McCollister and William R. Miller said Wednesday night they are opposed to a salary increase for the county board.

A legislative bill proposes a raise from $6,000 to $8,000 for the commissioners.

McCollister and Miller asked Omaha senators to oppose the measure, introduced chiefly by Sen. Marvin Stromer of Lincoln.

They said "economy in government must begin at the lowest level, and this bill violates all reasonable concept of economy. The Douglas County commissioners salaries were raised two years ago and we feel no further increase can be justified on any basis."

The increase two years ago was $1,500 a year.

Commissioner John J. Cavanaugh said he felt the present pay is adequate and Commissioner Daniel C. Lynch said he was satisfied. Commissioner Ralph O. Hefflinger said, "I've never turned down a raise."

Vet Mail Carrier Used Model T, Buggy, Jeep

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Pleasant Dale—Clayton Rivers was a little late checking into the post office Wednesday.

It was the first tardiness anyone there could remember in his 51 years of mail carrying.

And it didn't really make any difference this time.

Rivers wasn't coming to pick up the mail.

He came to mark his retirement from the service with a handful of longtime friends and co-workers.

"It's kind of a funny feeling," said the tall, slim 70-year-old. "The less I think about it, the better off I'll be."

"He can't understand why they have to put him on the shelf so young," injected Mrs Rivers.

A Seward resident, the grey-haired letter carrier started work for the government as a substitute in 1913 and as a regular three years later.

In those days his open-topped Model T Ford was the familiar sight around the country roads as the youngsters waited at the mailboxes to meet him.

More recently the trade mark has been a little, red Jeep—his third.

"I used a horse and buggy one winter," recalled the jovial old timer, "but it ran away with me once and I gave it up."

Rivers can't remember how many cars he's been through in the 31 years at Pleasant Dale and 19 at Seward.

And his total mileage would approach the astronomical on the 85-mile per day route and commuting from Seward.

At the simple gathering in the small post office, Rivers received commendations from the U.S. postmaster general and regional director through acting postmaster Mrs. Ella Hejny.

But more meaningful were the gifts and kind words tendered by appreciative patrons and by Mrs. Myrtle Haist, retired postmaster with whom the rural carrier served 15 years.

His four children grown and scattered to several parts of the world, Rivers plans to "loaf around home with my wife."

"I don't know what I'll do with him," piped up Mrs. Rivers. "He hated to have to quit work."

Youth Bound Over; Charged In Dad's Death

Sioux City, Iowa (UPI)--Seventeen-year-old Mylar Wilson Jr. waived a preliminary hearing on an open charge of murder in the death of his father.

Wilson was bound over to the May term of the Woodbury County grand jury.

He has been accused of the fatal shooting of his father Feb. 18. Officials said the shooting followed a family argument.

Wilson, a high school junior, is free on $15,000 bond.

Consistency A Virtue

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When it comes to policy governing the location of package liquor licenses in Lincoln, the City Council seems to lack some consistency. The location problem was the product of a change in council policy that had, in the past, kept liquor operations confined to the foot-patrolled areas of the city, mainly downtown Lincoln.

This policy has now been junked and licenses are permitted in various business districts throughout the city. The big problem now concerns two downtown licensees who have asked permission to locate along South Street. To begin with, the question involved here is not a moral one. It really has nothing to do with one's personal feelings one way or another in regard to liquor. The moral issue of wet or dry has long been settled and Lincoln would have to be classed as wet. The question, then, is how best to manage affairs as they are now in practice.

No Moral Issue

Like it or not, liquor is a business and a legitimate one, just as is any other business. This is the law of the land, whether it is the personal likes of all or not. The council, however, has not seemed to look at the issue in this way. It was improperly inferred at one time recently that some kind of hanky-panky was going on in the granting of license locations.

This just isn't the case. The fact is that the council simply has not acted very intelligently. It has granted a license along the main business area of South Street and now denied two others. It really is impossible to see how this can be described in any way other than capricious.

The council has certain established rules in connection with the location of a liquor license. These rules have to do with proximity to schools, churches, hospitals, etc. and to the zoning classification of an area. But when a license is proposed that meets all the criteria established by the council, it would seem that the council has little choice left. It simply is an inequity to say one licensee who meets the qualifications set up can have what he requests but the next individual cannot.

There is one area of final concern, the total number of licenses that might be located in a single area. The council could easily deal with this in one of two ways, both of which would stand any legal test. It could by law limit the number of licenses to be located within a certain geographic area. It could state, for instance, that no more than three licenses shall be located within any single local business district. The main consideration here would be that the number of licenses permitted in an area be sufficient so as to permit fair competition. The number, for instance, could not be fixed at one and thereby establish a virtual monopoly. It is this latter course of action that the council, in effect, is taking at this time. It is establishing a monopoly for one licensee now located on South Street.

The other choice for the city would be to set no limitations and let competition take care of the matter. When licenses became too heavy in an area, economics would dictate their thinning out because liquor stores, like any other business, answer to the tune of money and profits.

What the city cannot do is what it has done to date in connection with the two requested new moves to South Street. It cannot arbitrarily say that one license which meets all requirements can locate there but another cannot. This is the kind of inconsistency for which the council has already been criticized by the courts and on which it would be defeated in any new court actions at this time.

The council may have some hesitancy in granting a license when it is objected to by certain groups and individuals. But if the license request is legal and proper, it is better for the council to take the scorn of those few who chronically object to anything connected with liquor than to suffer the chastisement of the courts. Court reversals of whimsical council actions certainly gain the city no respect in the eyes of voters. The council need not surrender any of its authority or responsibility over liquor operations but it does need to be consistent.

Scorn Of The Few

It has the right and obligation to take into consideration the qualifications of an operator and such other requirements as it might establish. But the basis for granting a license and its location must be the same in all cases. This is a fundamental requirement for all council business.

Subject For Study

Wagon Train Lake near Hickman has claimed its first life and the Nebraska community is saddened by it.

The accident occurred the day following a meeting of the Farm Safety Council at which the lack of safety gear at the Salt Wahoo impoundments and elsewhere was deplored. The drowning was a tragic piece of emphasis.

We do not know what is right or reasonable in the matter of tight life saving facilities at all of Nebraska's increasing number of bodies of water. But we do know that Nebraskans, who started out as dry land people, are still too unfamiliar with the hazards of water, and they owe the subject much more study. Until the state question is satisfactorily settled it would behoove all to regard personal safety much more seriously.

It is always safer to remain ashore when there are high winds. And it is chancy to go boating on a large body of water when the temperatures are near freezing. And there is everything right and nothing wrong with having a practical life preserver at all times. It is no reflection on one's swimming ability. It is always unsafe to attempt to swim maximum distances in strange water. And it is always bad judgment to attempt to right a capsized boat. That is the quick road to exhaustion. And it is always well to remember that fingers and hands are a poor way to cling to things when there is a possibility of having to remain in the water any length of time.

No one steps into a boat looking for tragedy, but tragedies can always happen and most of them can be averted by a thoroughgoing knowledge of boatsmanship. And it doesn't take long to turn the unwary person into a statistic.

New Kind Of Money

After all these generations of exalting the gold standard and fending off all of its critics, we lost it. It went out of business for a very simple and rudimentary reason that its critics never thought of. There just wasn't enough of it, no matter how one sliced it, to support the heavy demands for money in this fast businesslike age.

Now silver is going out of coinage and the reasons are the same.

The Treasury department is about out of silver and while it has been minting new silver money like mad the past few years the demand continues to exceed the supply. One thing that has contributed to it is the vending machine business. Another is a tribal characteristic of Americans to hoard silver. In two years the Treasury's supply of 100 million silver dollars has shrunk to $3 million. In less than a year collectors and hoarders removed more than 200 million new Kennedy half dollars from circulation. A session or so ago the Congress authorized the coinage of several hundred million new silver dollars, but they have not been stamped out. The reason: Not enough silver to stamp.

Now the Treasury is soon expected to ask Congress to make coins from other materials, probably a laminated sheet of cupro-nickel around a copper core. The new coins will be shiny and will look like today's silver dimes quarters and half dollars. They will be non-magnetic and therefore will not be rejected by vending machines which are expert at refusing to accept iron washers and such things.

Many of the French and Italian coins are being minted of the same material and have found the lack of silver content to be no handicap to fast spending. Some of the new sort of money will probably be in circulation before the end of the present year.

Be On Your Guard

Before you really have your eyes open this morning, chances are your wife shakes you up by announcing in frantic words that the clock has stopped during the night and the family is already an hour late in starting the day. The news causes you to jump spasmodically from the bed and race to the bathroom. Then suddenly something dawns on you and you slow down to your usual pace.

Having leisurely completed your prebreakfast rituals, you saunter into the kitchen. The coffee is brewing away but you are greeted with the disturbing news that there is no bread for toast. Further, you are advised that even if there were any bread, it wouldn't make any difference since there is no butter, either. But just as you reach the panic point, something again dawns on you and you sit back comfortably to await further developments.

Following breakfast, you return to the bedroom. After putting on your shoes and necktie, you reach for your tie clasp in its usual spot. But it isn't there and your inquiry produces an explanation that one of the children dropped it down a cold air chute last evening. Now, that really gets you excited but just as you are about to light into the kids, but good, that same old thought as before dawns on you and you ignore the whole situation in calm silence.

Then, just before she leaves for school, your first-grader tells you very seriously (except for a smile she can't hide) that your shoe is untied. Of course, you look down excited report with authority that your shoe is definitely tied and hereby make complete the good joke that was anticipated. But you realized long ago that today is April Fool's Day.

Klans, Muslims And Reds Share Guilt

Editor's note—Drew Pearson is traveling in Europe. The column today is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—With an injured air, the communists have complained that this column has tarnished their reputation by associating them with the Ku Klux Klan and Black Muslims.

George A. Meyers, speaking for the party, has addressed their grievance to the Washington Post: "Mr. Anderson claims to have uncovered 'some strange communist-Klan-Muslim links that suggest at least a unity of purpose.' That purpose, according to Mr. Anderson, is to stir up racial conflict in America, 'apparently for the sheer sake of chaos.'

"Nowhere does the writer back up his charges, nor can he," Meyers add petulantly. "The communist party completely abhors the Klan, and while we are aware of the frustrations that bring such organizations as the Black Muslims into being, we do not identify ourselves with their philosophy."

The FBI has amassed convincing evidence that communists, Klansmen, and Muslims, working at opposite extremes of the civil rights struggle, fanned the flames of violence during last year's long hot summer.

While Klansmen were dynamiting churches and murdering civil rights workers in the South, communists went into the streets of Harlem to whip up the mobs during the race riots.

One inflammatory tract, handed out to the rioters by Red agents, declared: "Once again the cops have murdred one of our children. They have been killing about one black person a day in New York City."

At last summer's Democratic convention, the four chief troublemakers in the Mississippi Freedom Delegation were known to the FBI as communists. They fought against every suggested solution and did their utmost to incite violence. This led to the suspicion that they were less interested in promoting Negro rights than in providing an incident to embarrass President Johnson.

A few known communists also infiltrated the recent civil rights march on Montgomery and tried to goad both marchers and police into violence. They seemed bent on producing more bashed heads and bloodied faces for the photographers, thus providing grist for the communist propaganda mill.

This column suggests that the proposed congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan should be expanded to include both the communists and Muslims. The story should be spread on the record of how the extremists have been using the civil rights conflict to inflame the passions and stir up both races.

Veteran U.S. Pilot Averts Incident

NEW YORK—In the troubled skies of the Far East last week the professional skill and rare courage of a U.S. Air Force fighter pilot averted what could have been an extremely dangerous international incident.

The drama took place at an altitude of five miles when two F-105 Thunderchiefs were making a routine flight from Kadena air base, Okinawa, to Taiwan for a maintenance check.

Lead pilot was Capt. Marvin L. Montgomery of Winter Park, Fla., a veteran jet man fresh from combat in Viet Nam. Wingman was Capt. William B. Burkitt, of Madison, Md.

After passing their second reporting point en route to Taiwan, Capt. Montgomery failed to make his required position report. Burkitt radioed across the 150-feet that separated the two fighters and asked why. There was no reply. Burkitt edged his Thunderchief in for a closer look.

Montgomery was unconscious. His head drooped over his controls. His fighter which was traveling at nearly 650 miles per hour, was on automatic pilot. His position had changed. He was headed for Red China. No amount of urgent shouts into his earphones roused the stricken pilot.

Burkitt radioed Okinawa. A flight of F-4 C's scrambled and two airborne KC-135 jet tankers changed course and headed for the strange and frightening scene in the sky. Then Burkitt nuzzled his wing against that of his stricken buddy and tried to change his dangerous course. But every time he managed to pull off this incrediably delicate fete, the automatic pilot put Montgomery's plane back on its original course.

Desperate now, Burkitt tried another maneuver, one based on the aerodynamic principal of disturbed airflow. He moved his Thunderchief to the opposite side, the China side, of his flight leader. Then very delicately, he overlapped wings with the derelict, moved several feet ahead and began a series of very slow turns.

The disturbed airflow over the unconscious Montgomery's wings sucked the wing down a degree or two for short periods, but the automatic pilot would then "correct" the change. Yet bit by bit Burkitt was able to overcome the corrections and the unconscious pilot's plane's course was altered enough to head him out for the open sea.

In the course of this excruciating maneuvering the two F-105's plunged into a thick overcast. The last ten minutes of the turning operation was flown in weather so bad that Burkitt had to perform his dangerous wing locks while flying on instruments. He led his unconscious buddy until his own tanks showed empty on their gates and barely made a rendezvous with the tankers. When Burkitt landed back at Kadena his eyes were red and moist and his face drawn with fatigue.

An immediate air search of the estimated impact area turned up no evidence of the 26-ton supersonic tactical fighter and its unconscious pilot.

Without Burkitt's remarkable intervention, Montgomery's plane would have plunged into Red China, with imponderable consequences.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: The blood vessels on the top of my nose are clearly visible and thus to a degree disfiguring. I have heard that in time more of them will show, and the size and shape of the nose will be affected. Is this true? I am a man of 42. The rest of my face is pink but without visible blood vessels. —J. O. N.

Excessive exposure to sun and wind can cause this. (Far more rarely, so can X-rays or other souces of radiation.)

A condition called rosacea (a tendency of the skin to flush easily) is another cause. Or these prominent blood vessels can occur in individuals with an unstable vasomotor nervous system — that is, the involuntary portion of the nervous system which controls the tone of the capillaries, or very small blood vessels close to the skin surface.

Molner

The appearance of these vessels is often associated with excessive use of alcohol. What is not so well known is that excessive tea or coffee can have the same consequence at times.

I strongly doubt that you need fear any deformity of the nose, but I suggest that you see a skin specialist for specific treatment.

Without treatment, it is entirely probable that the condition will become more prominent.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I was younger it was stylish to wear shoes without socks or stockings. As a result the shoes rubbed my heels and I now have large, protruding calluses. They are not painful, but unsightly. Can I get rid of them? Is possible that the bone has become enlarged with calcium deposits?—MISS M. L.

A callus is a thickening of the skin. If you take a good look, you can quickly decide whether you have calluses or instead a thickening of the bones.

If your shoes still rub or exert any pressure at the same spots, you can't expect the calluses to disappear. They won't.

Lotions to soften the skin may help. You can try gentle, repeated rubbing with pumice to wear away the thickened skin. Otherwise, if this is really important, see a podiatrist (foot specialist). Whether corns, calluses of feet, or calluses of the hands, pressure and irritation cause them; they won't go away unless the pressure is eliminated.

Dear Dr. Molner: Six months ago my husband, at age 49, was a victim of myocardial infarction "due to arteriosclerotic heart disease." He seemed to be well and healthy hours before his death. He had been examined thoroughly several months before. What are the symptoms of this hardening of the arteries? Shouldn't the internist who examined him have diagnosed this? —MRS. P. C.

Arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) can be extremely difficult, not to say impossible, to detect in some cases—and about the most important cases are those involving arteries of the heart and brain.

Tiny plaques, or patches, of fatty material form on the inner lining of the arteries. This can cause no symptoms, give no clue at all. As long as sufficient blood passes through, the patient is totally unaware of the presence of these patches.

Then the artery becomes very much more narrowed at some point where the plaques have been building up. Perhaps a thrombosis (clot) forms. Possibly heavy and unaccustomed exertion plays its part. That is why snow-shoveling, hunting, and strenuous sports are regarded as dangerous for people not used to exercise.

There may be no advance warning when these fatty patches are building up in the arteries, and no way of knowing, in certain cases, that an artery may have been reduced in size at some critical point.

There is no practical way, as yet, to see what the inside of such arteries look like. That is why we have the shocking experience of an apparently healthy man stricken without warning with a heart attack.

That is why the most skilled and careful internist at times has no chance of foreseeing the peril.

Besides this, there are some stoical individuals who experience what they think are "minor" episodes of discomfort. Lesser heart attacks are passed off as "indigestion or gas."

In other cases, however, the approaching danger can be recognized. There may be suspicious heart symptoms. A cardiogram may be slightly off normal. The blood pressure may be elevated. If the patient is overweight, that also raises suspicion—although, of course, thin people can have heart attacks, too.

In short, sometimes you can see direct indications of approaching heart trouble. Other times you can't be that certain, but you can detect patterns which put you on guard.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss small children who are allergic to cow's milk, and what is the treatment? —L. Q.

Some children are allergic to cow's milk and the treatment is to remove it from the diet. Pasteurized goat's milk sometimes is substituted with success; a messy-looking but nutritious substitute called soy bean "milk" has sufficed for others until they were older and (usually) became able to tolerate cow's milk. Later, giving very small and increasing amounts of whole milk helps desensitize the child. Boiling the milk may also be helpful.

Dr Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Cost

Lincoln, Neb.

You are eloquent in your approach to the city-county building and why it should be at 15th and O Streets. This new building will cost each taxpayer from $6 to $9 per year (only, you say) for most citizens.

Now, let's add that $6 to $9 to the inevitable other annual tax increases of $10 to $20. Then how do you suppose we make up for the loss of tax money that comes from the business in those downtown blocks?

Please, Mr. Editor and other community officials, give us the whole picture, not just one side!

The Authority

Hastings, Neb.

Contrary to the attitude of "Protestant Clergyman," the zeal and passion of churchmen, clergy and laity, should strengthen the faith and belief that there is a God Who cares. I certainly hold in highest esteem all religious leaders of all faiths for their courageous work in social work for the freedom of all men.

"Protestant Clergyman" asked where a minister of Christ gets authority to join the rabble-rousing groups. Well, my "five cents worth" is not from his or Governor Wallace's God. Hiding behind a cloak won't gain any new followers who would like to join him in worshipping a God he seems to visualize. Also, he might not be classed with the KKK's or Birchers who seem to keep their membership secret.

No Unity

Crete, Neb.

In regard to the "dumb farmer" phrase that has been so badly kicked around and has caused more hard feelings, I happen to know the original story in which a businessman and a school board member had a difference of opinion on how to approach the public in presenting the redistricting problem to the public. The businessman merely wanted the wording simplified so that everyone would understand what was taking place, but this gallant board member prefers to print the "junk" instead of printing the business proceedings in which the public is interested.

It is really a shame people let self-centeredness and prejudice blind them instead of working toward the fulfillment of a better education.

There is one thing we can bet on—the lawyers will get rich and the doctors will sell more tranquilizers.

I have a question to ask the Wilber junior high student, who had a letter in the March 29 issue. How long have you been working on your research in evaluating the Crete and Wilber schools and who is your professor, working with you?

'Thy Neighbor'

Kramer, Neb.

Concerning the lawsuits in the two disputed Lancaster County school distrtiets, I feel it is no longer necessary for such court action, as Crete is supposed to have an open-door policy which should mean that any and all students can now attend high school without forcing anyone in against his will.

I am sure these people who have brought this lawsuit on their neighbors have not read Luther's small catechism since their school days. I am referring to the Eighth Commandment, which reads: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

What does this mean?" We should fear and love God that we may not deceitfully belie, betray, slander nor defame our neighbor, but defend him, speak well of him, and put the best construction on everything.

To me, this applies to the people of the church and outsiders, as well.

Also, one could read Corinthians, Chapter 6:1-20.

Consistency A Virtue

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When it comes to policy governing the location of package liquor licenses in Lincoln, the City Council seems to lack some consistency. The location problem was the product of a change in council policy that had, in the past, kept liquor operations confined to the foot-patrolled areas of the city, mainly downtown Lincoln.

This policy has now been junked and licenses are permitted in various business districts throughout the city. The big problem now concerns two downtown licensees who have asked permission to locate along South Street. To begin with, the question involved here is not a moral one. It really has nothing to do with one's personal feelings one way or another in regard to liquor. The moral issue of wet or dry has long been settled and Lincoln would have to be classed as wet. The question, then, is how best to manage affairs as they are now in practice.

No Moral Issue

Like it or not, liquor is a business and a legitimate one, just as is any other business. This is the law of the land, whether it is the personal likes of all or not. The council, however, has not seemed to look at the issue in this way. It was improperly inferred at one time recently that some kind of hanky-panky was going on in the granting of license locations.

This just isn't the case. The fact is that the council simply has not acted very intelligently. It has granted a license along the main business area of South Street and now denied two others. It really is impossible to see how this can be described in any way other than capricious.

The council has certain established rules in connection with the location of a liquor license. These rules have to do with proximity to schools, churches, hospitals, etc. and to the zoning classification of an area. But when a license is proposed that meets all the criteria established by the council, it would seem that the council has little choice left. It simply is an inequity to say one licensee who meets the qualifications set up can have what he requests but the next individual cannot.

There is one area of final concern, the total number of licenses that might be located in a single area. The council could easily deal with this in one of two ways, both of which would stand any legal test. It could by law limit the number of licenses to be located within a certain geographic area. It could state, for instance, that no more than three licenses shall be located within any single local business district. The main consideration here would be that the number of licenses permitted in an area be sufficient so as to permit fair competition. The number, for instance, could not be fixed at one and thereby establish a virtual monopoly. It is this latter course of action that the council, in effect, is taking at this time. It is establishing a monopoly for one licensee now located on South Street.

The other choice for the city would be to set no limitations and let competition take care of the matter. When licenses became too heavy in an area, economics would dictate their thinning out because liquor stores, like any other business, answer to the tune of money and profits.

What the city cannot do is what it has done to date in connection with the two requested new moves to South Street. It cannot arbitrarily say that one license which meets all requirements can locate there but another cannot. This is the kind of inconsistency for which the council has already been criticized by the courts and on which it would be defeated in any new court actions at this time.

The council may have some hesitancy in granting a license when it is objected to by certain groups and individuals. But if the license request is legal and proper, it is better for the council to take the scorn of those few who chronically object to anything connected with liquor than to suffer the chastisement of the courts. Court reversals of whimsical council actions certainly gain the city no respect in the eyes of voters. The council need not surrender any of its authority or responsibility over liquor operations but it does need to be consistent.

Scorn Of The Few

It has the right and obligation to take into consideration the qualifications of an operator and such other requirements as it might establish. But the basis for granting a license and its location must be the same in all cases. This is a fundamental requirement for all council business.

Subject For Study

Wagon Train Lake near Hickman has claimed its first life and the Nebraska community is saddened by it.

The accident occurred the day following a meeting of the Farm Safety Council at which the lack of safety gear at the Salt Wahoo impoundments and elsewhere was deplored. The drowning was a tragic piece of emphasis.

We do not know what is right or reasonable in the matter of tight life saving facilities at all of Nebraska's increasing number of bodies of water. But we do know that Nebraskans, who started out as dry land people, are still too unfamiliar with the hazards of water, and they owe the subject much more study. Until the state question is satisfactorily settled it would behoove all to regard personal safety much more seriously.

It is always safer to remain ashore when there are high winds. And it is chancy to go boating on a large body of water when the temperatures are near freezing. And there is everything right and nothing wrong with having a practical life preserver at all times. It is no reflection on one's swimming ability. It is always unsafe to attempt to swim maximum distances in strange water. And it is always bad judgment to attempt to right a capsized boat. That is the quick road to exhaustion. And it is always well to remember that fingers and hands are a poor way to cling to things when there is a possibility of having to remain in the water any length of time.

No one steps into a boat looking for tragedy, but tragedies can always happen and most of them can be averted by a thoroughgoing knowledge of boatsmanship. And it doesn't take long to turn the unwary person into a statistic.

New Kind Of Money

After all these generations of exalting the gold standard and fending off all of its critics, we lost it. It went out of business for a very simple and rudimentary reason that its critics never thought of. There just wasn't enough of it, no matter how one sliced it, to support the heavy demands for money in this fast businesslike age.

Now silver is going out of coinage and the reasons are the same.

The Treasury department is about out of silver and while it has been minting new silver money like mad the past few years the demand continues to exceed the supply. One thing that has contributed to it is the vending machine business. Another is a tribal characteristic of Americans to hoard silver. In two years the Treasury's supply of 100 million silver dollars has shrunk to $3 million. In less than a year collectors and hoarders removed more than 200 million new Kennedy half dollars from circulation. A session or so ago the Congress authorized the coinage of several hundred million new silver dollars, but they have not been stamped out. The reason: Not enough silver to stamp.

Now the Treasury is soon expected to ask Congress to make coins from other materials, probably a laminated sheet of cupro-nickel around a copper core. The new coins will be shiny and will look like today's silver dimes quarters and half dollars. They will be non-magnetic and therefore will not be rejected by vending machines which are expert at refusing to accept iron washers and such things.

Many of the French and Italian coins are being minted of the same material and have found the lack of silver content to be no handicap to fast spending. Some of the new sort of money will probably be in circulation before the end of the present year.

The last ten minutes of the turning operation was flown in weather so bad that Burkitt had to perform his dangerous wing locks while flying on instruments. He led his unconscious buddy until his own tanks showed empty on their gates and barely made a rendezvous with the tankers. When Burkitt landed back at Kadena his eyes were red and moist and his face drawn with fatigue.

An immediate air search of the estimated impact area turned up no evidence of the 20-ton supersonic tactical fighter and its unconscious pilot.

Without Burkitt's remarkable intervention, Montgomery's plane would have plunged into Red China, with imponderable consequences.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: The blood vessels on the top of my nose are clearly visible and thus to a degree disfiguring. I have heard that in time more of them will show, and the size and shape of the nose will be affected. Is this true? I am a man of 42. The rest of my face is pink but without visible blood vessels. —J. O. N.

Excessive exposure to sun and wind can cause this. (Far more rarely, so can X-rays or other souces of radiation.)

A condition called rosacea (a tendency of the skin to flush easily) is another cause. Or these prominent blood vessels can occur in individuals with an unstable vasomotor nervous system — that is, the involuntary portion of the nervous system which controls the tone of the capillaries, or very small blood vessels close to the skin surface.

Molner

The appearance of these vessels is often associated with excessive use of alcohol. What is not so well known is that excessive tea or coffee can have the same consequence at times.

I strongly doubt that you need fear any deformity of the nose, but I suggest that you see a skin specialist for specific treatment.

Without treatment, it is entirely probable that the condition will become more prominent.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I was younger it was stylish to wear shoes without socks or stockings. As a result the shoes rubbed my heels and I now have large, protruding calluses. They are not painful, but unsightly. Can I get rid of them? Is is possible that the bone has become enlarged with calcium deposits?—MISS M. L.

A callus is a thickening of the skin. If you take a good look, you can quickly decide whether you have calluses or instead a thickening of the bones.

If your shoes still rub or exert any pressure at the same spots, you can't expect the calluses to disappear. They won't.

Lotions to soften the skin may help. You can try gentle, repeated rubbing with pumice to wear away the thickened skin. Otherwise, if this is really important, see a podiatrist (foot specialist). Whether corns, calluses of feet, or calluses of the hands, pressure and irritation cause them; they won't go away unless the pressure is eliminated.

Dear Dr. Molner: Six months ago my husband, at age 49, was a victim of myocardial infarction "due to arteriosclerotic heart disease." He seemed to be well and healthy hours before his death. He had been examined thoroughly several months before. What are the symptoms of this hardening of the arteries? Shouldn't the internist who examined him have diagnosed this? —MRS. P. C.

Arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) can be extremely difficult, not to say impossible, to detect in some cases—and about the most important cases are those involving arteries of the heart and brain.

Tiny plaques, or patches, of fatty material form on the inner lining of the arteries. This can cause no symptoms, give no clue at all. As long as sufficient blood passes through, the patient is totally unaware of the presence of these patches.

Then the artery becomes very much more narrowed at some point where the plaques have been building up. Perhaps a thrombosis (clot) forms. Possibly heavy and unaccustomed exertion plays its part. That is why snow-shoveling, hunting, and strenuous sports are regarded as dangerous for people not used to exercise.

There may be no advance warning when these fatty patches are building up in the arteries, and no way of knowing, in certain cases, that an artery may have been reduced in size at some critical point.

There is no practical way, as yet, to see what the inside of such arteries look like. That is why we have the shocking experience of an apparently healthy man stricken without warning with a heart attack.

That is why the most skilled and careful internist at times has no chance of foreseeing the peril.

Besides this, there are some stoical individuals who experience what they think are "minor" episodes of discomfort. Lesser heart attacks are passed off as "indigestion or gas."

In other cases, however, the approaching danger can be recognized. There may be suspicious heart symptoms. A cardiogram may be slightly off normal. The blood pressure may be elevated. If the patient is overweight, that also raises suspicion—although, of course, thin people can have heart attacks, too.

In short, sometimes you can see direct indications of approaching heart trouble. Other times you can't be that certain, but you can detect patterns which put you on guard.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss small children who are allergic to cow's milk, and what is the treatment? —L. Q.

Some children are allergic to cow's milk and the treatment is to remove it from the diet. Pasteurized goat's milk sometimes is substituted with success; a messy-looking but nutritious substitute called soy bean "milk" has sufficed for others until they were older and (usually) became able to tolerate cow's milk. Later, giving very small and increasing amounts of whole milk helps desensitize the child. Boiling the milk may also be helpful.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editors discretion.

The Cost

Lincoln, Neb.

You are eloquent in your approach to the city-county building and why it should be at 15th and O Streets. This new building will cost each taxpayer from $6 to $9 per year (only, you say) for most citizens.

Now, let's add that $6 to $9 to the inevitable other annual tax increases of $10 to $20. Then how do you suppose we make up for the loss of tax money that comes from the business in those downtown blocks?

Please, Mr. Editor and other community officials, give us the whole picture, not just one side!

JUST A CITIZEN

The Authority

Hastings, Neb.

Contrary to the attitude of "Protestant Clergyman," the zeal and passion of churchmen, clergy and laity, should strengthen the faith and belief that there is a God Who cares. I certainly hold in highest esteem all religious leaders of all faiths for their courageous work in social work for the freedom of all men.

"Protestant Clergyman" asked where a minister of Christ gets authority to join the rabble-rousing groups. Well, my "five cents worth" is not from his or Governor Wallace's God. Hiding behind a cloak won't gain any new followers who would like to join him in worshipping a God he seems to visualize. Also, he might not be classed with the KKK's or Birchers who seem to keep their membership secret.

No Unity

Crete, Neb.

In regard to the "dumb farmer" phrase that has been so badly kicked around and has caused more hard feelings, I happen to know the original story in which a businessman and a school board member had a difference of opinion on how to approach the public in presenting the redistricting problem to the public. The businessman merely wanted the wording simplified so that everyone would understand what was taking place, but this gallant board member prefers to print the "junk" instead of printing the business proceedings in which the public is interested.

It is really a shame people let self-centeredness and prejudice blind them instead of working toward the fulfillment of a better education.

There is one thing we can bet on—the lawyers will get rich and the doctors will sell more tranquilizers.

I have a question to ask the Wilber junior high student, who had a letter in the March 29 issue. How long have you been working on your research in evaluating the Crete and Wilber schools and who is your professor, working with you?

MRS. R.

'Thy Neighbor'

Kramer, Neb.

Concerning the lawsuits in the two disputed Lancaster County school distrticts, I feel it is no longer necessary for such court action, as Crete is supposed to have an open-door policy which should mean that any and all students can now attend high school without forcing anyone in against his will.

I am sure these people who have brought this lawsuit on their neighbors have not read Luther's small catechism since their school days. I am referring to the Eighth Commandment, which reads: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

What does this mean?" We should fear and love God that we may not deceitfully belie, betray, slander nor defame our neighbor, but defend him, speak well of him, and put the best construction on everything.

To me, this applies to the people of the church and outsiders, as well.

Also, one could read Corinthians, Chapter 6:1-20.

Word Of Thanks

Lincoln, Neb.

The members of the Veterans Administration Hospital Employees Association wish to extend their appreciation to the public officials, organizations and private citizens for their dedicated support of the Lincoln Veterans Administration Hospital. The concern shown for the curtailing of services to veterans in this area is gratifying. We appreciate the continued support that has been given as the final decision regarding the proposed closing the hospital draws near.

Opera Broadcasts Are Enjoyed By Many

By ROBERT PETERSON

Over the years many mature men and women have written saying that one of their keenest joys is the Saturday afternoon broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

Writes Charles J. Hurlock, a Tennessee minister who has never attended the Metropolitan in person, "I guess I've heard most of these wonderful broadcasts since they started 25 years ago, and opera via the airwaves has now become an enriching and natural part of our home life.

"One of the delights as one grows older is to compare current performances with those of the past. I feel that singers today take a back seat to no one, and that productions reach new levels of excellence — perhaps because of the high standards set in bygone years.

What sort of things come to mind? "Well, when I tune in Joan Sutherland as the hapless Lucia di Lammermoor, I cannot help but remember the many broadcasts of Lily Pons in the same role . . . a new Carmen always reminds me of Rosa Ponselle . . . the mere suggestion of Don Giovanni brings an immediate echo of the smooth and exciting voice of Ezio Pinza . . . and Aida conjures of Elisabeth Rethberg as the heroine and Giovanni Martinelli as Radames . . ."

Grand opera isn't everyone's cup of tea, but surveys show that these Saturday afternoon broadcasts sponsored by Texaco reach an audience of two million. Probably an equal number of others harbor a dormant appreciation of opera and could enrich their lives if they became regular listeners of what is generally regarded as the richest single cultural offering on radio today.

It's difficult for a geriatric columnist to know whom to write about. When I write about sad and unfortunate elders who face grave difficulties, there are always letters a few days later from readers reminding me that most elders have reasonable health and adequate incomes and that there's no reason for dwelling on the dreary, depressing aspects of age.

But when I write about those elders vigorous enough to ski and skate, and who can afford to travel, own a second home and buy an occasional new car. I'm always sure to hear from folks who insist such elders are far from typical. If I'm really interested in helping old folks, they say, I should concentrate on those struggling to get along on meager funds or trying to cope with poor health and loneliness..

There's a paternal tendency to look scornfully on what seems to be the soft life led by male offspring. Fathers delight in regaling sons with tales of how they walked to school, kept the woodbox filled and toiled evenings and weekends to earn enough cash for a bicycle.

Said one pampered lad recently, following his middle-aged father's enumeration of illustrious deeds as a youth:

"I certainly admire the pluck and perseverance you demonstrated, Dad. If it hadn't been for you I might have had to do something of the sort myself."

☆ ☆ ☆

A geriatric maxim: "The older a man gets, the farther he had to walk to school as a boy."

Apportionment Resolution Approved

A "hands off" resolution proposing that the United States Constitution divorce itself from any involvement in legislative reapportionment matters was approved 35-12 on a final showdown in the Nebraska Legislature Wednesday.

Gov. Frank Morrison had promised in advance that he would sign the resolution.

Introduced by Sens. Cecil Craft of Norht Platte, Elvin Adamson of Valentine, Herb Nore of Genoa and Peter H. Claussen of Leigh, Resolution No. 14 memorializes Congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing a U.S. constitutional amendment which would say that "no provision of this constitution, or any amendment thereto, shall restrict or limit any state in the apportionment of representation in its Legislature."

A resolution with the same provision was passed by the Legislature two years ago but was vetoed by Gov. Morrison because it contained another section, not included in this year's version, which stated: "The judicial power of the United States shall not extend to any suit in law or equity, or to any controversy relating to apportionment of representation in a State Legislature."

The governor had termed this an "absolutely intolerable" provision which deprives the federal courts of jurisdiction "essential to the protection of basic rights of American citizens."

Widespread sentiment for a federal "hands-off" policy on legislative reapportionment has grown out of the U.S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" edict which says that both houses of bicameral legislatures must be apportioned solely on the basis of population.

It was this edict which led to Nebraska's 1963 reapportionment plan being declared invalid. It used area as a factor.

Voting against Resolution 14—which had been handled as a conventional bill—on final passage were Omaha Sens. Sam Klaver, Pat Moulton, Harold Moylan, Edward Danner, Henry F. Pedersen Jr. and George Syas; Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly; Sen. Hal W. Bauer of Lincoln, Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Sen. John Knight of Lincoln and Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion.

Absent and not voting were Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William Skarda, both of Omaha.

Pan Am Pilots' Strike In Effect

New York (AP)—Pan American Airways pilots struck Wednesday night in a work dispute, crippling all but government-leased operations of America's largest overseas air carrier.

Shortly after the line's 1,558 members of the Air Line Pilots Association called the strike at 6 p.m. (CST), a union spokesman said Pan Am planes chartered for government flights to Viet Nam, the Far East and Germany and for other vital military movements would take off as scheduled.

In other parts of the nation and the world serviced by Pan Am, the paralysis began to take its toll of operations, with flights delayed or canceled outright within minutes after the strike order came.

No Immediate Effect

Some Pan Am operational points, such as Miami, saw no immediate effects of the strike since no flights were scheduled until Thursday morning.

In San Francisco, pilots refused to take off a Pan Am plane bound for Panama while they awaited last minute word on the negotiations under way right up to the 7 p.m. deadline in New sork.

Leverett Edwards, a member of the National Mediation Board which had figured in the months of negotiations, said no further talks were scheduled between company and union negotiators.

The airline employs some 26,500 persons throughout its world-wide system.

Pam Am issued a statement saying it "regrets the inconvenience caused the public by the failure to reach an agreement with the pilots' negotiating committee."

Answer Accepted

The line said it had agreed to accept a formula suggested by a federal mediator, and the pilots association turned it down.

The mediator's plan, Pan Am said, called for a 5% boost in salaries and other benefits which the carrier estimated would have cost Pan Am $14,400,000 over the next two years.

Meanwhile, in New York's busy Kennedy International Airport, passengers booked for canceled fights sought accommodations on other lines.

The same last minute switches in lines were made at other major airports serviced by Pan Am.

According to the airline, jet captains (first officers) earn $31,800 a year for 80 hours of flying each month. Co-pilots receive $21,600 for the same number of hours.

Demand Cut

Pilots also demanded a cut in the number of hours they have to spend on the ground waiting for delayed takeoffs, and standing by during stopovers.

Although the current three-year contract will not expire until July 1, it was reopened for negotiation in December 1963 by the pilots group to voice their demands for hour cuts and wage increases.

The reopening of negotiations was allowed under a special clause in the current contract.

Service Time Cut

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union cut compulsory military service by 50% or more for men with the equivalent of a university education. It decreed they need serve only one year.

King Intends To Press Boycott Of Alabama

Baltimore (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. gave further indications Wednesday night that he intends to press for an economic boycott of Alabama.

"Something must be done to prod the business community and the good people of Alabama," the civil rights leader told an audience of about 1,000 attending a testimonial dinner in his honor at a downtown Baltimore hotel.

King rested in his hotel room for more than an hour before joining the dinner. Aides said he was not feeling up to par.

'Moral Obligation'

"If it takes economic pressure to do this, we have a moral obligation to do it in Alabama," King said.

King said earlier, when he arrived at Friendship International Airport from New York, that a decision on the proposed boycott of Alabama products would be made during a two-day board meeting of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) opening Thursday.

Referring to the SCLC meeting, King described it as a brief respite to assess past developments and "to see where we go from here."

King was made an honorary citizen of Baltimore and of Maryland in presentations before the predominantly Negro audience which included his father, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., and a brother, Dr. A. D. King.

Not In Alabama

The 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner noted that "Gov. (George C.) Wallace has not seen fit to make me an honorary citizen (of Alabama)."

He said the honorary citizenship awards indicate "that despite darkness in some states and areas, there are radiant lights of hope in other states and areas."

King contended the voting rights bill now before Congress needs to be strengthened in some areas and said this would be discussed by the executive board of the SCLC. He urged the bill be passed soon, "and not be bogged down in the paralysis of analysis."

'Good First Step'

When he arrived at the airport, King said a meeting of 15 civil rights leaders with Gov. Wallace in Montgomery Tuesday was a "good first step."

"I would not call it a fruitful meeting, but at least it indicated he conceded to talking with us," said King, leader of the voter registration drive in Alabama.

"We made specific proposals to the governor," said King, but "Gov. Wallace made no promises."

Menu For Cattle May List Corn Flakes

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

York — Corn flakes, long a familiar human breakfast dish, have entered the vocabulary of beef cattle feeders who have an eye on new feed processes that promise to produce more efficient gains.

Dr. John Matsushima, a former member of the University of Nebraska animal science staff, discussed feeding tests here Wednesday under his direction at Colorado State University where corn flaking tests have shown that a corn flaking process utilizes less feed to make gains equal to conventional feeding methods.

'65 Feeders Day

Dr. Matsushima's review of the new practice now under test in Colorado, Florida and Kentucky, was delivered to some 350 farmers from 53 counties who were attending a new version of the more than 50-year-old Feeders Day, moved for the first time from the Ag College Campus to outstate sites first at York and Thursday at North Platte.

The Colorado researcher explained that cattle receiving flaked corn also required less roughage.

He said, "The findings of our research have not been published so Nebraskans are receiving one of the first reports of our tests."

Dr. Matsushima considered the added investment for cooking facilities associated with the process as a factor in limiting its present use, but a problem that will surely be worked out by cattle feeders interested in the process.

Walter Tolman, beef cattle nutritionist at the Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station, said results of recent beef cattle feeding trials at the university have suggested that the protein needs of fattening cattle between 650 and 1,100 pounds are not as clearly defined as authorities once believed.

A goal of NU research is to determine if corn with a high protein content will produce as good gains when fed to cattle as feed that requires supplementary protein.

Discusses Urea

Urea, an effective source of protein that has attracted much attention from feeders, was discussed by Dr. Walter Woods, NU beef cattle nutritionist, who noted that levels of urea in finishing rations for beef cattle can vary widely, and still efficiently supply the needed protein.

Thursday feeders will attend a Feeders Day program at the North Platte Experimental Station.

"We were very pleased with the response from feeders who attended the York event," said Dr. Robert Koch, chairman of NU animal science.

Cold Weather Cuts Oil Drilling Activity In West

Denver (AP)—Snow and arctic weather cut oil drilling activity in the Rocky Mountain-plains states last week to the lowest levels of the year.

Rotary rigs working in the area totaled 108, a drop of 13 from the preceding week and but one more than during the same period a year ago, according to Petroleum Information.

The industry publication said Wyoming gained three rigs last week and Arizona one but these were offset by losses in Colorado, Montana, North Dakota and Utah.

Highlights of the publication's weekly summary:

Nebraska — Cities Service Oil Co. was running a drillstem test, 604-90 feet at 1 State-B, SE SW 36-9N-34W, a Blackwood Creek outpost in Lincoln County. Total depth is 4,690 feet at the well, three quarters of a mile north of production from basal Pennsylvanian and in Blackwood Creek Field.

Pan Am Pilots' Strike In Effect

New York (AP)—Pan American Airways pilots struck Wednesday night in a work dispute, crippling all but government-leased operations of America's largest overseas air carrier.

Shortly after the line's 1,558 members of the Air Line Pilots Association called the strike at 6 p.m. (CST), a union spokesman said Pan Am planes chartered for government flights to Viet Nam, the Far East and Germany and for other vital military movements would take off as scheduled.

In other parts of the nation and the world serviced by Pan Am, the paralysis began to take its toll of operations, with flights delayed or canceled outright within minutes after the strike order came.

No Immediate Effect

Some Pan Am operational points, such as Miami, saw no immediate effects of the strike since no flights were scheduled until Thursday morning.

In San Francisco, pilots refused to take off a Pan Am plane bound for Panama while they awaited last minute word on the negotiations under way right up to the 7 p.m. deadline in New sork.

Leverett Edwards, a member of the National Mediation Board which had figured in the months of negotiations, said no further talks were scheduled between company and union negotiators.

The airline employs some 26,500 persons throughout its world-wide system.

Pam Am issued a statement saying it "regrets the inconvenience caused the public by the failure to reach an agreement with the pilots' negotiating committee."

Answer Accepted

The line said it had agreed to accept a formula suggested by a federal mediator, and the pilots association turned it down.

The mediator's plan, Pan Am said, called for a 5% boost in salaries and other benefits which the carrier estimated would have cost Pan Am $14,400,000 over the next two years.

Meanwhile, in New York's busy Kennedy International Airport, passengers booked for canceled fights sought accommodations on other lines.

The same last minute switches in lines were made at other major airports serviced by Pan Am.

According to the airline, jet captains (first officers) earn $31,800 a year for 80 hours of flying each month. Co-pilots receive $21,600 for the same number of hours.

Demand Cut

Pilots also demanded a cut in the number of hours they have to spend on the ground waiting for delayed takeoffs, and standing by during stopovers.

Although the current three-year contract will not expire until July 1, it was reopened for negotiation in December 1963 by the pilots group to voice their demands for hour cuts and wage increases.

The reopening of negotiations was allowed under a special clause in the current contract.

Service Time Cut

Moscow (AP) —The Soviet Union cut compulsory military service by 50% or more for men with the equivalent of a university education. It decreed they need serve only one year.

King Intends To Press Boycott Of Alabama

Baltimore (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. gave further indications Wednesday night that he intends to press for an economic boycott of Alabama.

"Something must be done to prod the business community and the good people of Alabama," the civil rights leader told an audience of about 1,000 attending a testimonial dinner in his honor at a downtown Baltimore hotel.

King rested in his hotel room for more than an hour before joining the dinner. Aides said he was not feeling up to par.

'Moral Obligation'

"If it takes economic pressure to do this we have a moral obligation to do it in Alabama," King said.

King said earlier, when he arrived at Friendship International Airport from New York, that a decision on the proposed boycott of Alabama products would be made during a two-day board meeting of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) opening Thursday.

Referring to the SCLC meeting, King described it as a brief respite to assess past developments and "to see where we go from here."

King was made an honorary citizen of Baltimore and of Maryland in presentations before the predominantly Negro audience which included his father, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., and a brother, Dr. A. D. King.

Not In Alabama

The 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner noted that "Gov. (George C.) Wallace has not seen fit to make me an honorary citizen (of Alabama)."

He said the honorary citizenship awards indicate "that despite darkness in some states and areas, there are radiant lights of hope in other states and areas."

King contended the voting rights bill now before Congress needs to be strengthened in some areas and said this would be discussed by the executive board of the SCLC. He urged the bill be passed soon, "and not be bogged down in the paralysis of analysis."

'Good First Step'

When he arrived at the airport, King said a meeting of 15 civil rights leaders with Gov. Wallace in Montgomery Tuesday was a "good first step."

"I would not call it a fruitful meeting, but at least it indicated he conceded to talking with us," said King, leader of the voter registration drive in Alabama.

"We made specific proposals to the governor," said King, but "Gov. Wallace made no promises."

Menu For Cattle May List Corn Flakes

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

York — Corn flakes, long a familiar human breakfast dish, have entered the vocabulary of beef cattle feeders who have an eye on new feed processes that promise to produce more efficient gains.

Dr. John Matsushima, a former member of the University of Nebraska animal science staff, discussed feeding tests here Wednesday under his direction at Colorado State University where corn flaking tests have shown that a corn flaking process utilizes less feed to make gains equal to conventional feeding methods.

'65 Feeders Day

Dr. Matsushima's review of the new practice now under test in Colorado, Florida and Kentucky, was delivered to some 350 farmers from 53 counties who were attending a new version of the more than 50-year-old Feeders Day, moved for the first time from the Ag College Campus to out-state sites first at York and Thursday at North Platte.

The Colorado researcher explained that cattle receiving flaked corn also required less roughage.

He said, "The findings of our research have not been published so Nebraskans are receiving one of the first reports of our tests."

Dr. Matsushima considered the added investment for cooking facilities associated with the process as a factor in limiting its present use, but a problem that will surely be worked out by cattle feeders interested in the process.

Walter Tolman, beef cattle nutritionist at the Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station, said results of recent beef cattle feeding trials at the university have suggested that the protein needs of fattening cattle between 650 and 1,100 pounds are not as clearly defined as authorities once believed.

A goal of NU research is to determine if corn with a high protein content will produce as good gains when fed to cattle as feed that requires supplementary protein.

Discusses Urea

Urea, an effective source of protein that has attracted much attention from feeders, was discussed by Dr. Walter Woods, NU beef cattle nutritionist, who noted that levels of urea in finishing rations for beef cattle can vary widely, and still efficiently supply the needed protein.

Thursday feeders will attend a Feeders Day program at the North Platte Experimental Station.

"We were very pleased with the response from feeders who attended the York event," said Dr. Robert Koch, chairman of NU animal science.

Cold Weather Cuts Oil Drilling Activity In West

Denver (AP)—Snow and arctic weather cut oil drilling activity in the Rocky Mountain-plains states last week to the lowest levels of the year.

Rotary rigs working in the area totaled 108, a drop of 13 from the preceding week and but one more than during the same period a year ago, according to Petroleum Information.

The industry publication said Wyoming gained three rigs last week and Arizona one but these were offset by losses in Colorado, Montana, North Dakota and Utah.

Highlights of the publication's weekly summary:

Nebraska — Cities Service Oil Co. was running a drillstem test, 604-90 feet at 1 State-B, SE SW 36-9N-34W, a Blackwood Creek outpost in Lincoln County. Total depth is 4,690 feet at the well, three quarters of a mile north of production from basal Pennsylvanian and in Blackwood Creek Field.

Church-Working Mom Convicted Of Shooting

. . . DAUGHTER'S BED MATE GRID STAR

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Hubert Marlin, 44, an active church worker, was convicted Wednesday of involuntary manslaughter in the shotgun killing of a college football star she found in bed with one of her three daughters.

Criminal Court Judge John Draper sentenced her to 11 months and 20 days in the Davidson County Workhouse, giving defense lawyers 30 days in which to seek a new trial.

She had been charged with murder in the shotgun slaying Jan. 16 of Charles Ray Neal, 30, a Middle Tennessee State College football end from Lenoir City, Tenn. The state did not seek the death penalty.

The jury of 11 men and a woman deliberated four hours and 31 minutes.

It was faced with opposite portrayals of the woman as "a Christian mother" and judge and executioner of Neal, who was slain as he and Mrs. Marlin's daugher, Carolyn, 22, lay asleep together in bed.

Testimony from Carolyn and others showed Neal was snowbound with a college roommate with whom Carolyn, a school teacher, and a girl friend had double-dated the night before the slaying. The slaying occurred in a guest house behind the Marlin home.

When Mrs. Marlin fired the fatal shot, Neal was clad in a T-shirt and jockey shorts, while Carolyn was fully clothed.

Mrs. Marlin herself testified she did not mean to kill Neal, only to scare him.

Among those testifying against her was Carolyn, who said she was beneath the covers of her bed with Neal at the time he was shot.

Asked if she had ever been intimate with Neal or any other boy, Carolyn testified she had not. She answered in the affirmative when asked if she had recently undergone a medical examination to confirm this.

Bill Ending Household Goods Exemption Moves

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Wednesday, on a 5-2 vote, advanced to the floor for debate a bill abolishing the $200 tax exemption on household goods.

The action was taken after opponents to the measure argued abolishment of the exemption would only hurt the low-income property owner and would not result in any significant gain in tax revenue.

The bill, LB850, was introduced for the Revenue Committee by Sens. Jules Burbach, Dale Payne, Ramey Whitney, Terry Carpenter and Eric Rasmussen.

37 of 39 in Favor

Washington County Assessor Earl Long of Blair said 37 out of 39 county assessors who were polled favored the bill.

Sen. Burbach said there is about $24.8 million worth of household goods that now escape taxation because of the exemption provision. Elimination of the exemption would bring in an additional $226,895 a year for the state general fund, he said.

The committee earlier killed a bill calling for repeal of the household tax and reported to the floor a measure abolishing the tax but raising the state head tax from $3.50 to $10. That bill failed on final reading in the Legislature.

"If we don't want to abolish the tax, let's do a better job of assessment," Burbach said. "This would put taxing of personal property on a more equitable basis."

He said one fifth of the household goods owners in the state pay no taxes on their possessions. Household goods include air conditioners, dishwashers, musical instruments, refrigerators, radios, television sets, furniture and other items.

Three individual taxpayers opposed the measure, arguing that the Legislature should attempt to place greater taxes on those who can best afford them—the property owners in the higher income brackets.

"You're really scraping the bottom of the barrel," said Omaha attorney Roy Harrop. "You're going down to get the little fellow and leaving the big man alone."

The committee held for further study a measure, LB847, which would require brokers to file with the tax commissioner the names of Nebraskans owning certificates of corporate stock.

Representatives of the Nebraska Investment Bankers Association (NIBA) opposed the measure, introduced by the Revenue Committee, calling it ineffective, discriminatory and unenforceable.

"There's cheating going on in the area of intangible property reporting for tax purposes, but this bill won't answer the problem," said Dale Tinstman of Lincoln, executive vice president of First Nebraska Securities.

Small Portion

Warren Johnson of NIBA said corporate stocks only represent a small portion of intangible property and that requiring the reporting of corporate stock alone is unfair.

The committee advanced a bill, LB93, introduced chiefly by Sen. Rasmussen, which reduces from three to two years the time for county boards to order sale or real estate for delinquent taxes. There was no opposition.

Bill Axing Full-Crew Law Held After Kill Move Fails

The bill to repeal Nebraska's full-crew train law remained in the Legislature's Labor Committee Wednesday after an attempt to kill the measure received a 2-3 vote.

Five votes are needed to kill or send a bill to the floor.

The bill was discussed at a committee executive session at the request of Omaha Sen. William Skarda.

In a letter to committee Chairman Edward Danner of Omaha, Skarda said the measure should be killed because the railroads are in good financial shape and railroad accidents increased in 1964 and railroad crosing accidents about doubled in 1964 over 1963.

The bill, LB336, provides that the state full-crew law for freight trains be repealed, thus allowing the elimination of firemen on such trains.

Inmate Claims Rights Violated

A State Penal Complex inmate contended Wednesday he was denied legal counsel and that other of his constitutional rights were violated during proceedings in 1963.

The allegations were contained in a transcript from Lancaster County District Court filed with the State Supreme Court.

Thomas Arthur Davis was sentenced to four years on April 11, 1963, on a charge of assault with intent to kill, wound or maim.

He is appealing to the state high court.

Wage Dispute Bill Held After 3-3 Vote

The Legislature's Labor Committee Wednesday held a public hearing on a bill providing a procedure for the state labor commissioner to determine wage disputes of less than $200, but deferred disposition after a kill motion resulted in a 3-3 tie.

State Labor Commissioner Lambert Eitel told the committee the bill, LB550, was not designed to replace any of the present court procedures for handling such claims.

The committee also heard and held two related bills, LB704 and LB705.

LB704 would add an additional step to the individual weekly unemployment benefit table.

It provides a new top of a $40 weekly benefit for those whose wages in the highest quarter of the base period are over $900.01. The present top benefit is $38 weekly.

LB705 would change the provisions respecting disqualification for employment security benefits.

Bill Providing Counsel Before Arraignment OKd

A bill providing for the appointment of counsel to represent a person accused of a felony before arraignment was advanced 7-0 Wednesday by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee.

LB839, one of six bills supported by the Supreme Court's Judiciary Council, would require the court to inform the accused he is entitled to counsel at county expense if he is unable to procure his own.

In advancing the bill, the committee included amendment designating the appointed counsel shall be the public defender in those counties having this office.

Also advanced were three bills requiring an appealing party to notify the adverse party or his attorney by mail of an appeal and filing of an affidavit within five days with the court that the notice was mailed.

The bills are LB828, relating to appeals from justice of peace or county courts; LB835, relating to municipal court appeals; and LB840, relating to condemnation appeals from the county judge.

A State Highway Department spokesman urged 10 days for filing of the mailing affidavit, but Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum said five days would be uniform with all other notice procedures.

Assistant City Atty. Vince Brown of Lincoln said courtesy notices are now sent by the city, but opposed the bill as "raising potential procedural technicality in condemnation matters."

The committee also advanced:

—LB842, relating to proceedings for the determination of inheritance tax in estate matters.

—LB838, fixing the inheritance rate against an estate in terms of per cent of the estate value.

Burglars Take Stereo Recorder From Firm Here

Burglars entered Electronics Unlimited, 414 So. 11th, Tuesday night.

The intruders removed a pane of glass from a door, and reached inside to unlock the door, police said. A stereo recorder valued at $143 was reported missing. It was the second burglary at the location in recent weeks.

Chadron College Bids Total $1,987,785

Low bids totalling $1,987,785 for construction of the three-story, 304-student dormitory and addition to the student dining facility at Chadron State College were opened Wednesday.

The bids, approximately five per cent over the architect's estimate, will be reviewed Monday by the State Normal Board.

Ely Construction Co., North Platte, was low at $909,867 for general construction on the dormitory while Fullen Construction Co., Scottsbluff, was low at $449,818 for the dining facility addition.

Platte Valley Plumbing and Heating, Scottsbluff, was low at $397,831 for mechanical work on both projects, and ABC Electric Co., Chadron, bid $141,610 on the electrical work.

The dormitory is scheduled for occupancy in the fall semester of 1966.

Clearings Up At Downtown Banks

This compares with $48,092,098 for the same month in 1964.

Burglars Take Stereo Recorder From Firm Here

Burglars entered Electronics Unlimited, 414 So. 11th, Tuesday night.

The intruders removed a pane of glass from a door, and reached inside to unlock the door, police said. A stereo recorder valued at $143 was reported missing. It was the second burglary at the location in recent weeks.

Chadron College Bids Total $1,987,785

Low bids totalling $1,987,785 for construction of the three-story, 304-student dormitory and addition to the student dining facility at Chadron State College were opened Wednesday.

The bids, approximately five per cent over the architect's estimate, will be reviewed Monday by the State Normal Board.

Ely Construction Co., North Platte, was low at $909,867 for general construction on the dormitory while Fullen Construction Co., Scottsbluff, was low at $449,818 for the dining facility addition.

Platte Valley Plumbing and Heating, Scottsbluff, was low at $397,831 for mechanical work on both projects, and ABC Electric Co., Chadron, bid $141,610 on the electrical work.

The dormitory is scheduled for occupancy in the fall semester of 1966.

Clearings Up At Downtown Banks

Lincoln's three downtown banks Wednesday reported that March 1965 bank clearings totaled $51,335,590.

This compares with $48,092,098 for the same month in 1964.

LBJ, Taylor Mum On War Escalation

Washington (AP) — President Johnson put in Wednesday what he termed "a very profitable hour" conferring with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor on troubled Viet Nam. Taylor declined to get into the question of whether there would be continued escalation of the conflict in Viet Nam.

And, to an inquiry whether there would be a reprisal for the bombing of his embassy building in Saigon, the ambassador replied:

"I would not talk in terms of reprisal. We will simply carry out the program and the policy as laid out by the President."

Taylor Comments

Taylor said, too that:

—He is not resigning his ambassadorial post.

—"I have no yardstick to measure the distance to the conference table." That was in answer to a question whether bombings by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces of North Vietnamese targets had brought the Viet Cong closer to the conference table.

—"The passage from the defense to the offense has been most encouraging to the people there." He was referring to South Viet Nam.

—He plans to confer with members of the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees and with newsmen and leave for Saigon at the end of the week.

Meeting

The President and Taylor met together in the President's oval office and then saw photographers and reporters.

Johnson and Taylor dined at the White House Wednesday night, along with other officials connected with the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

Taylor later told newsmen he and Johnson discussed the Vietnamese situation "more or less across the board."

He said that after he meets Thursday for lunch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara he would return to the President "with more definitive proposals."

No Resignation

Asked about reports he planned to resign, Taylor said, "I'm very happy to say there is no truth in it. I have no plans for resigning or anything."

The ambassador said he expects to be returning periodically to Washington and noted that in the past he has been here about every two months.

Asked if he thought reprisals were called for in the wake of the terrorist bombing of the American Embassy in Saigon, Taylor replied:

"Not in the sense which you use reprisals." He said the United States would just go forward with the policies laid down by Johnson.

HEAT WORST ENEMY

VIET-DOWNED NAVY FLIER'S FAMILY 'HAS GOOD CRY' AFTER RAFT RESCUE

La Jolla, Calif. (UPI) — "We all sat down and had a good cry we were so happy and relieved. Then we went to bed and slept for the first time in 24 hours."

This was the reaction of Cmdr. William N. Donnelly's wife and two children to news that he had been rescued from a life raft in the South China Sea, Mrs. Donelly told United Press International Wednesday. The Navy flier was reported missing Monday night after he was shot down during an attack on an installation close to Red China.

"I was extremely happy and tremendously relieved," Mrs. Donnelly said. "It was quite a long, hard wait."

The children, Steve, 17, and Linda, 12, were "just terribly, terribly happy," she added.

A period of anxious waiting began for the family at 10 p.m. Monday when they were informed by the Navy that Donnelly was missing.

"Our life certainly couldn't be called normal," Mrs. Donnelly said. "The children stayed home from school. Many good friends were with me. We waited and prayed.

"I can't remember the details too well. But I know we sat by the telephone. The Navy assured us they would let us know as soon as they had any word."

The good news arrived at 10 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Donnelly said. First Navy officials in San Diego phoned. Then a confirmatory telegram arrived from Washington, D.C.

A letter written by Donnelly March 27 was received this morning, Mrs. Donnelly said. "He didn't discuss conditions over there. He never does.

"His morale is very good as far as I can tell," she said.

Mrs. Donnelly has not seen her husband since he left San Diego last December on the aircraft carrier Coral Sea.

"I would like to talk to him by telephone, but I wouldn't know where to call. He may call us," she said hopefully.

China Blocks Soviet Aid To North Viets

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union is being forced to ship weapons to North Viet Nam by sea because Red China is blocking air and land movement, Communist sources said Wednesday.

The sources said the word is being spread through Communist Party representatives in Prague to explain the delay in getting military aid to the northern Communist regime. Prague is headquarters for the Communist movement's journal, Problems of Peace and Socialism.

The Russians are reported telling foreign Communists that it is Red China's fault that such weapons as anti-aircraft missiles are failing to reach Hanoi.

This amounts to a Soviet accusation that, for all Peking's lip service to Communist unity in opposing the United States, Red China is putting its hatred of Soviet policies ahead of helping North Viet Nam.

Communist sources have been saying for several days that Peking refused to let Soviet planes fly across China to deliver arms to Hanoi and that rail shipments have been delayed.

Asked about these reports official spokesmen here have declined to confirm or deny them.

The spokesmen have referred questioners to a statement last week by Communist Party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev. He said March 23 that "the Soviet Union is already taking necessary measures to help strengthen the defense potential" of North Viet Nam.

Diplomatic observers have commented that the Soviet Union hardly would have been likely to allow the charges to circulate so long if it were not ready to back them up.

Painter Dead

Here's an exciting new LENTEN RECIPE

BAKED CHIPPED SNAPPER featuring delicious Weaver's Potato Chips

2 cups crushed potato chips	½ cup white raisins
1 3 pound red snapper	½ cup chopped parsley
1 cup chopped onions	1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced	¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup vegetable oil.	1 cup dry white wine
1 No. 2 can tomatoes (2½ cups)	½ cup lemon juice
1 cup diced celery	1 teaspoon oregano
	1 thinly sliced lemon

Sprinkle one cup potato chips in a 3 quart baking dish. Place fish in center. Brown onions and garlic in the vegetable oil. Add tomatoes, celery, raisins, parsley, salt and pepper and arrange around the fish.

Sprinkle remaining potato chips over the vegetables. Mix wine and lemon juice; pour over fish. Sprinkle with oregano. Arrange lemon slices around sides of fish. Bake in moderate oven 350°F. about 45 minutes. Serves 6.

Add imagination to your Lenten menus with recipes that star fresh, crisp Weaver's Potato Chips. What a delicious change!

LBJ, Taylor Mum On War Escalation

Washington (AP) — President Johnson put in Wednesday what he termed "a very profitable hour" conferring with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor on troubled Viet Nam. Taylor declined to get into the question of whether there would be continued escalation of the conflict in Viet Nam.

And, to an inquiry whether there would be a reprisal for the bombing of his embassy building in Saigon, the ambassador replied:

"I would not talk in terms of reprisal. We will simply carry out the program and the policy as laid out by the President."

Taylor Comments

Taylor said, too that:

—He is not resigning his ambassadorial post.

—"I have no yardstick to measure the distance to the conference table." That was in answer to a question whether bombings by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces of North Vietnamese targets had brought the Viet Cong closer to the conference table.

—"The passage from the defense to the offense has been most encouraging to the people there." He was referring to South Viet Nam.

—He plans to confer with members of the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees and with newsmen and leave for Saigon at the end of the week.

Meeting

The President and Taylor met together in the President's oval office and then saw photographers and reporters.

Johnson and Taylor dined at the White House Wednesday night, along with other officials connected with the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

Taylor later told newsmen he and Johnson discussed the Vietnamese situation "more or less across the board."

He said that after he meets Thursday for lunch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara he would return to the President "with more definitive proposals."

No Resignation

Asked about reports he planned to resign, Taylor said, "I'm very happy to say there is no truth in it. I have no plans for resigning or anything."

The ambassador said he expects to be returning periodically to Washington and noted that in the past he has been here about every two months.

Asked if he thought reprisals were called for in the wake of the terrorist bombing of the American Embassy in Saigon, Taylor replied:

"Not in the sense which you use reprisals." He said the United States would just go forward with the policies laid down by Johnson.

HEAT WORST ENEMY

VIET-DOWNED NAVY FLIER'S FAMILY 'HAS GOOD CRY' AFTER RAFT RESCUE

La Jolla, Calif. (UPI) — "We all sat down and had a good cry we were so happy and relieved. Then we went to bed and slept for the first time in 24 hours.'

This was the reaction of Cmdr. William N. Donnelly's wife and two children to news that he had been rescued from a life raft in the South China Sea, Mrs. Donelly told United Press International Wednesday. The Navy flier was reported missing Monday night after he was shot down during an attack on an installation close to Red China.

"I was extremely happy and tremendously relieved," Mrs. Donnelly said. "It was quite a long, hard wait."

The children, Steve, 17, and Linda, 12, were "just terribly, terribly happy," she added.

A period of anxious waiting began for the family at 10 p.m. Monday when they were informed by the Navy that Donnelly was missing.

"Our life certainly couldn't be called normal," Mrs. Donnelly said. "The children stayed home from school. Many good friends were with me. We waited and prayed.

"I can't remember the details too well. But I know we sat by the telephone. The Navy assured us they would let us know as soon as they had any word."

The good news arrived at 10 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Donnelly said. First Navy officials in San Diego phoned. Then a confirmatory telegram arrived from Washington, D.C.

A letter written by Donnelly March 27 was received this morning, Mrs. Donnelly said. "He didn't discuss conditions over there. He never does

"His morale is very good as far as I can tell," she said.

Mrs. Donnelly has not seen her husband since he left San Diego last December on the aircraft carrier Coral Sea.

"I would like to talk to him by telephone, but I wouldn't know where to call. He may call us," she said hopefully.

China Blocks Soviet Aid To North Viets

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union is being forced to ship weapons to North Viet Nam by sea because Red China is blocking air and land movement, Communist sources said Wednesday.

The sources said the word is being spread through Communist Party representatives in Prague to explain the delay in getting military aid to the northern Communist regime. Prague is headquarters for the Communist movement's journal, Problems of Peace and Socialism.

The Russians are reported telling foreign Communists that it is Red China's fault that such weapons as anti-aircraft missiles are failing to reach Hanoi.

This amounts to a Soviet accusation that, for all Peking's lip service to Communist unity in opposing the United States, Red China is putting its hatred of Soviet policies ahead of helping North Viet Nam.

Communist sources have been saying for several days that Peking refused to let Soviet planes fly across China to deliver arms to Hanoi and that rail shipments have been delayed.

Asked about these reports official spokesmen here have declined to confirm or deny them.

The spokesmen have referred questioners to a statement last week by Communist Party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev. He said March 23 that "the Soviet Union is already taking necessary measures to help strengthen the defense potential" of North Viet Nam.

Diplomatic observers have commented that the Soviet Union hardly would have been likely to allow the charges to circulate so long if it were not ready to back them up.

C Of C Board Backs Street Needs Study, Pro Football

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce board of directors at its monthly meeting Wednesday adopted resolutions supporting endeavors to attract a professional football team to Lincoln and urging the mayor to appoint a citizens study committee to review the city's street needs.

The board also took action to oppose the passage of LB-468, a measure that the Chamber's committee on legislation said would have an adverse effect on efforts to attract new industry to Lincoln.

The bill provides that a larger school district could tax industry located in a smaller adjacent rural school district if 65% or more of the children of employes of the industry were enrolled in schools in the larger district.

Committee Asked

The street resolution asked the mayor to appoint a citizens committee "well ahead of budget time" to review needs of the entire street system and come up with an equitable arrangement of financing additional street needs, balancing interests of highway users and the entire community.

Chamber President Tom Pansing praised the efforts of government officials and Chamber personnel who were instrumental in the passage of LB25, the gas tax increase bill signed by Gov. Frank Morrison earlier this week.

Lincoln will receive $450,000 of this additional revenue annually for street improvements.

Directors Resign

It was reported that directors Bill Rose and Col. William Seith have resigned from the board. Both are leaving the city.

Karl Dickinson, vice president of the Gateway Bank, was appointed to fill one vacancy.

Edward Onstot, regional Veterans Administration director, and Charles Cowsert of Telcon Corp., newly located in Lincoln, were guests at the director's meeting.

Telcon distributes products manufactured by the Catalina Trophy Co. and Central Electric Manufacturing Co. The products are manufactured in Lincoln and Cowsert said he hopes the corporation can construct a new building in the northeast part of the city by the end of the year.

Construction Set On New Depot For Greyhound

Construction is ready to start on Greyhound's new bus terminal to be located at the northwest corner of 10th and P with completion expected to be about Sept. 1, E. F. Freeman, president of Central Greyhound Lines, announced.

General contractor of the new terminal will be the M. W. Anderson Construction Co. of Lincoln. The one-story building was designed by Lincoln architect firm, Clark and Enersen.

Police Link 'Wanderer' To 44 Omaha Burglaries

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County authorities charged Maurice Leroy Ellis with burglary and arson Wednesday and police said they had linked the 23-year-old wanderer to 44 Omaha burglaries.

The arson charge involves an Omaha church school last March 20. The charge says that on that date Ellis entered the Holy Cross Church school and started a fire.

Police said the 44 burglaries include entry into 26 churches and 17 schools. They said notes Ellis kept referred to the burglaries and that loot taken had been recovered in several cases.

Ellis, now in jail at Rock Port, Mo., said in his notes that he found newspaper accounts of his burglaries "amusing" and "if I could only get a haul of several hundred or a thousand dollars, how excited I would be; then I would leave the state and seek my destiny."

He was arrested at Rock Port in connection with a Tarkio filling station break-in.

PARKS COMPROMISE SOUGHT

Representatives of the State Game Commission and Historical Society met at the Capitol Wednesday to hammer out a compromise in the jurisdictional dispute between the agencies.

Specific details of the meeting were not released, but Society Director Marvin E. Kivett described it as "very pleasant." He said a report will be delivered Thursday to State Sen. Maurice A. Kremer of Aurora, chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

Earlier this week, Kremer urged Kivett and Game Commission Director Mel O. Steen to settle the dispute.

At issue is whether the Game Commission or the Historical Society should have the last word in determining locations of historical parks.

Kremer suggested both agencies be given equal voice in the matter, with the governor settling any differences that crop up.

3 Major Addresses Slated For Renaissance Experts

Renaissance experts from an eight-state region will gather in Lincoln April 9th and 10th for the Central Renaissance Conference at the Nebraska Center.

Eighteen papers and three major addresses on the various disciplines of the period will be presented.

"The Scholar and the Renaissance Society of America" will be discussed by Professor William Nelson, executive director of the society at Columbia University.

Also on the program will be Professor Erich Kahler, one-time member of Princeton Institute, speaking on "Doctor Faustus from Adam to Sartre," and Dr. Hans Baron, resident fellow of the Newberry Library in Chicago, speaking on "The Constitution and Spirit of the Florentine Republic Before the Medici."

A tour of the Sheldon Art Gallery and a recital of Renaissance music with commentary by University of Nebraska Professor Larry Lusk will be offered to conference participants.

STANLEY FEARS STATE MAY LOSE FEDERAL VOC ED FUNDS

Fears that an $860,000 appropriation to Nebraska under the Vocational Education Ace of 1963 may go down the drain were voiced Wednesday by Assistant Education Commissioner Cecil Stanley.

Nebraska's plan for programs to use the money has not won federal approval yet and Stanley said he is "getting very discouraged" about chances of being able to use the money this fiscal year, which ends June 30. The money cannot be carried over, he said.

He said the money is being held up by a technicality involving statements of compliance with the federal civil rights act.

"As far as we know, we're as clean as a hound's tooth," Stanley said. "We've done everything we are supposed to do."

Nebraska continues to get money, about $705,000 a year, under older federal vocational education programs, he said.

Tribesmen Pay Respects To Burma Surgeon

By PETER BOOG

Namhkam, Burma (AP)— Thousands of hill people poured into this small Burman town on the edge of Red China Tuesday to pay respects to Burma surgeon Gordon Seagrave, who died Sunday.

Shans, Kachins, Karens, Chinese and Burmese — the tribespeople Seagrave had served for 43 years —came by foot, mule and cart to attend funeral services Wednesday and burial in a simple grave at his beloved hospital, between his sister, who died in 1951, and his eldest son, who was drowned at the outbreak of World War II.

Despite the seriousness of his illness and a lack of modern medical equipment that might have saved his life, the renowned American missionary doctor stubbornly refused to leave the home he had carved out of the north Burma jungle.

Dressed In Blue

Seagrave's adoring staff tenderly dressed his body in his only blue suit and dark blue tie. His body was placed in a coffin in the hall of his small cottage where hundreds of those whose lives he had saved paid homage.

Among the mourners were a few who had crossed the border from Communist China, a stone's throw from the hospital.

A prayer meeting was held Tuesday evening and the nurses gathered to sing his favorite hymns. Seagrave's sons John and Sterling and John's wife and two children, who flew here from the United States, participated in the service.

Smallest Room

Afterward, Sterling showed me Seagrave's sparsely furnished room. "He chose it because it was the smallest in the house," Sterling said.

It has one small collapsible bed, a bookcase containing his favorite books and a writing desk. He spent many hours a day bent over this desk writing letters, making medical notes and keeping his diary. His one recent luxury was electricity — but even so the lights are dim and flicker off and on through the night.

Sterling said the main cause of his father's death was overwork. His 18-hour-a-day schedule throughout his life, often five to six major operations daily, had finally taken its toll.

He suffered from every conceivable sickness one can pick up in the jungles, including chronic bronchitis, malaria, dysentery and beri beri, said his American assistant, Dr. Joe Newhall.

Chronic Bronchitis

An autopsy report said Seagrave's "heart failed as a result of widespread infection from chronic bronchitis."

He had three especially trusted nurses constantly at his side ever since he took to his sickbed in the last week of February. His last wish was to remain alive until his sons and grandchildren arrived here. He never had seen his eight grandchildren.

He gathered enough strength to whisper and caress them when they arrived with John last week.

Burma's revolutionary government flew in the best cardiologist in the country, Dr. Ronald Lwin, to examine Seagrave. He brought specialized equipment flown from Thailand.

Unexpectedly, Seagrave took a turn for the better and his oxygen tent was removed from the room Friday. He called his two sons into his room and said:

"My work is done, I have been lucky to have seen you all aga in before I die. Now it's time for me to go home."

Tribesmen Pay Respects To Burma Surgeon

By PETER BOOG

Namhkam, Burma (AP)— Thousands of hill people poured into this small Burman town on the edge of Red China Tuesday to pay respects to Burma surgeon Gordon Seagrave, who died Sunday.

Shans, Kachins, Karens, Chinese and Burmese — the tribespeople Seagrave had served for 43 years —came by foot, mule and cart to attend funeral services Wednesday and burial in a simple grave at his beloved hospital, between his sister, who died in 1951, and his eldest son, who was drowned at the outbreak of World War II.

Despite the seriousness of his illness and a lack of modern medical equipment that might have saved his life, the renowned American missionary doctor stubbornly refused to leave the home he had carved out of the north Burma jungle.

Dressed In Blue

Seagrave's adoring staff tenderly dressed his body in his only blue suit and dark blue tie. His body was placed in a coffin in the hall of his small cottage where hundreds of those whose lives he had saved paid homage.

Among the mourners were a few who had crossed the border from Communist China, a stone's throw from the hospital.

A prayer meeting was held Tuesday evening and the nurses gathered to sing his favorite hymns. Seagrave's sons John and Sterling and John's wife and two children, who flew here from the United States, participated in the service.

Smallest Room

Afterward, Sterling showed me Seagrave's sparsely furnished room. "He chose it because it was the smallest in the house," Sterling said.

It has one small collapsible bed, a bookcase containing his favorite books and a writing desk. He spent many hours a day bent over this desk writing letters, making medical notes and keeping his diary. His one recent luxury was electricity — but even so the lights are dim and flicker off and on through the night.

Sterling said the main cause of his father's death was overwork. His 18-hour-a-day schedule throughout his life, often five to six major operations daily, had finally taken its toll.

He suffered from every conceivable sickness one can pick up in the jungles, including chronic bronchitis, malaria, dysentery and beri beri, said his American assistant, Dr. Joe Newhall.

Chronic Bronchitis

An autopsy report said Seagrave's "heart failed as a result of widespread infection from chronic bronchitis."

He had three especially trusted nurses constantly at his side ever since he took to his sickbed in the last week of February. His last wish was to remain alive until his sons and grandchildren arrived here. He never had seen his eight grandchildren.

He gathered enough strength to whisper and caress them when they arrived with John last week.

Burma's revolutionary government flew in the best cardiologist in the country, Dr. Ronald Lwin, to examine Seagrave. He brought specialized equipment flown from Thailand.

Unexpectedly, Seagrave took a turn for the better and his oxygen tent was removed from the room Friday. He called his two sons into his room and said:

"My work is done, I have been lucky to have seen you all aga in before I die. Now it's time for me to go home."

House Passes Aged Administration Plan

Washington (AP)—The House passed a bill Wednesday to create an administration on aging and give it $17.5 million for long-range planning to help those over 65.

The bill pessed 394-1 and now goes to the Senate. It is intended to coordinate federal activities in the field of aging and seek ways to improve the lot of the elderly, who now make up 10% of the population.

Among the objectives listed for the legislation are the achievement of adequate income in retirement, good health care, suitable housing, job opportunities and meaningful activity.

Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-R.I., sponsor of the bill, said its mian purpose is to create a separate agency to deal with the problems of the elderly. Such activities are now scattered through many departments.

"This new administration on aging will give prestige, balance, strength, continuity and visibility to federal activities in aging," he said.

Of the funds authorized, $13 million would be for matching grants to the states for community planning and training of personnel, and $4.5 million for grants to public and nonprofit agencies for pilot projects.

The only vote against the bill was cast by Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb. He objected because no hearings had been held on it since 1963, and because it was voted out of subcommittee after only a five-minute session.

Haeseker Heads NE Rotary Club

Charles Haeseker was elected president of the Northeast Rotary Club Wednesday night.

Robert Mathers is the new vice president. Elected to the board of directors were Les Schefield, Ted Dappen, James Bowmaster and two returning members, William James and Kenneth Lewis.

County Commissioner William Grossman and City Council members John Mason and Lloyd Hinkley outlined the proposals for a city-county building at Wednesday's meeting.

Committee Cuts Military Aid

Washington (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted Wednesday to cut $19 million from support funds for foreign military assistance in the administration's foreign aid bill.

The total for this assistance, which goes into such projects as dock construction, thus was reduced to $350 million in the $3.4 billion authorization measures.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., championed an amendment under which the president would be directed to make 20% of a $750 million development loan fund available for lending to international agencies, such as the world bank. It was adopted by a voice vote.

The committee rejected an amendment by Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., to authorize loans to Ireland, on the ground that Ireland is not an underdeveloped country.

The committee approved a $350 million limitation on mortgage financing guarantees for Latin American housing projects and a two-year authorization for up to $85 million annually in loans under the alliance for progress.

Fullbright reported he had picked up two supporters for his proposal to split economic and military assistance into separate bills. This left the count against such procedure standing at 9-6.

Rules Committee OKs Succession Amendment

Washington (UPI) — The House Rules Committee gave a reluctant green light Wednesday to a Senate-passed constitutional amendment on presidential succession. The action came after members assailed it as unwise, unworkable and a possible tool for a coup.

The vote to clear the bill for a vote in the house was 6 to 4, with Democrats voting for and Republicans against. But criticism of the bill at a public hearing came from both sides.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said the proposed new machinery for replacing an ailing or incapacitated president could lend itself to a "conspiracy" in which the vice president might seize office.

Any such possibility was discounted by the bill's managers. They said all possible safeguards had been written into the measure.

Bipartisan Barrage

It appeared that the rules group, despite the bipartisan barrage of attacks by members on the measure, would clear it for a vote in the House. However, the intensity of the objections raised some doubt about the outlook for House approval in the present form.

The measure seeks to fill a void in the existing constitutional process. It would allow the vice president to take over temporarily as acting president during a period of "inability" by the president, and would provide machinery for the president to reclaim the job when he was able.

It also would allow the president to fill a vacancy in the office of vice president, subject to ratification by majority vote of House and Senate.

Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, said he assumed the House would approve the measure, and that he could only hope state legislatures would have "enough sense" not to ratify it.

President Billy Goat

Brown called the procedure unworkable and said the president should not be allowed to name his successor. As to the need for congressional ratification of the president's choice, Brown said, "You know that under present circumstances the president could send the name of a billy goat up here and it would be confirmed."

Rep. James J. Delaney, D-N.Y., said the proposed amendment, in allowing the president in effect to pick his successor, would destroy the principle that only an elected ofificial could head the government.

Rep. John Young, D-Tex., suggested that a better plan might be to elect third vice presidents, in corporate fashion.

"The first could be chosen for his administrative ability. The second to preside over the Senate, and the third to go fishing, or whatever he wanted to do," Young said.

Colmer's main concern was that the machinery might lend itself to a coup.

N.Y. Paper, Union Talks Last 2½ Hours

New York (UPI)—Negotiators in the threatened New York newspaper strike met Wednesday and then adjourned the talks until Thursday morning. Both sides expressed confidence a new contract could be hammered out without a walkout at seven major daily newspapers in the nation's largest city.

Union leaders, who postponed a strike at the last minute early Wednesday, met for two and one-half hours Wednesday afternoon with representatives of the Publishers Association of New York City, representing the newspapers.

The two sides put into writing terms they had agreed to in a lengthy meeting that began at city hall Tuesday night and continued until early Wednesday.

Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6, International Typographical Union, and John J. Baherin, chief negotiator for the publishers, said Wednesday's session had been devoted to "clearing away some necessary work."

Powers repeated an earlier note of optimism. Gaherin said a settlement of the labor dispute might come this week.

Powers, who leads the printer's union which touched off the 114-day newspaper strike here two years ago, said a strike deadline now has been postponed indefinitely.

Bonus For Lt. Governor Rejected; Pay Hike OK'd

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's Legislature rejected Wednesday a proposal that the governor be permitted to put the lieutenant governor on his payroll, but approved a $1,000 salary increase for the lieutenant governor.

That puts the lieutenant governor's pay at $6,000 per year.

The proposal that the governor be permitted to pay the lieutenant governor up to $4,000 a year out of gubernatorial funds for added duties which the governor would delegate came from Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud. It lost, 18-26.

Similarly turned down were proposals to increase the lieutenant governor's salary to $7,500 or to $9,000. But Omaha Sen. George Syas obtained 35-8 assent to the more modest pay hike proposal.

The jockeying took place during general file consideration of a salary bill, LB619, introduced by Sen. Bowen.

New Scale

In the form in which it advanced from general file on a 33-6 vote, LB619 increases the governor's salary from $18,000 to $21,000; the attorney general's pay from $15,000 to $17,000, and the pay of the state treasurer, secretary of state and state auditor from $10,500 to $13,500 per year.

The raises won't take effect until the end of the current terms of office.

Gov. Frank Morrison, whose own pay won't be affected unless he wins another term in the office, said as late as Tuesday night he opposes an increase in gubernatorial pay at this time. The salary was increased from $14,000 to $18,000 two years ago and Morrison said no new reasons for boostinng the pay have developed in the interim.

Sorensen Praised

Debate over Bowen's proposal resulted in several expressions of praise for the job Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen has been doing as presiding officer over the Legislature.

Under the constitution, the lieutenant governor's duties include presiding over the Legislature and pinch-hitting for the governor when the chief executive is absent or disabled or unable to function.

Even Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who has clashed on occasion with the lieutenant governor on rulings of the chair, said Sorensen has served with "a great deal of distinction.".

Carpenter predicted Sorensen "will be a nominee of the Democratic Party" for the governorship next year, and said that if the lieutenant governor were to assist the governor as the Bowen proposal suggested, he would be able to show his capacities in that connection.

Pedersen Proposal

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha proposed instead that the lieutenant governor's pay be boosted to $9,000.

"Let's pay him directly rather than allow him to be another administrative assistant of the governor," Pedersen said.

Lt. Gov. Sorensen sat at the side of the chamber while the debate was going on. He had turned the chair over to members of the Legislature during that period.

Sen. Bowen recalled Gov. Morrison's campaign assertion that he and Sorensen would work together as a team if elected. Sen. Carpenter suggested that this team approach has not come about, but Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth pointed out that the lieutenant governor's full time assignment at the moment is presiding over the Legislature. The relationship of the governor and lieutenant governor "has been as it should be," Ruhnke said.

Sen. Bowen said his extra pay proposal applied only to the period between legislative sessions. He said fuller utilization of the lieutenant governor might save the hiring of a full-time assistant.

Also advanced from general file Wednesday was LB836, a bill strongly urged by the attorney general. It would permit a person who contends his constitutional rights were violated in a criminal conviction to seek relief in the court in which he was sentenced.

LB836 would stem the flood of habeas corpus cases being filed in the federal court by diverting some of them to the district court. The attorney general's office has been required to handle all of the cases in federal court.

Th habeas corpus crush grows out of U.S. Supreme Court decisions broadening the rights of defendants, particularly during pre-trail periods.

Other bills advanced from general file:

LB322—Permitting state mental hospitals to move geriatric patients into nursing homes when they no longer need psychiatric treatment.

LB64—Giving the State Roads Department authority to lease out land underneath the elevated Interstate Highway at Omaha for public parking purposes.

$350 Salary For Firemen, Police OK'd

A bill setting a $350 per month floor under the salaries of firemen and policemen in all Nebraska cities with a population of 10,000 or more squeaked to final passage in the Legislature Wednesday and goes next to Gov. Frank Morrison for signature into law.

The vote was 26-21, just one more affirmative vote than the minimum needed in a 49-member Legislature.

LB137 was introduced by Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and provoked some heavy floor debate. At one time it called for a $400 per month salary minimum.

Other bills passed Wednesday (E-emergency clause):

LB291—Providing for the involuntary pooling or unitization of all or part of an oil or gas field or pool upon order of the Nebraska Oil and Gas Conservation Commission. (Craft, Fleming, Marsh) (E) (47-0).

LB120—Authorizing proper management of land acquired out of the small watershed flood control fund and directing Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission to cooperate with army engineers and local sponsors in carrying out a program of information on flood plains. (Ruhnke, E. Rasmussen, Budd) (E) (46-0).

LB89 — Requiring payment of fee before a boiler inspection certificate is issued and extending boiler inspections to private, denominational and parochial schools. (Stromer, Mahoney) (E) (47-0).

LB444—Requiring report to the county attorney when a person knows of a case of willful injury to children, incompetents and disabled persons while granting immunity from civil suit to the person making the report. (Carstens, Knight, Carpenter) (E) (47-0).

Resolution No. 14—Memorializing Congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing an amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting constitutional interference with legislative reapportionment. (Craft, Adamson, Nore, Claussen) (35-12).

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Wednesday:

LB880 (Education Committee)—Providing that when a third class school district takes in another existing district, any bonded indebtedness being incorporated shall become a general obligation of the district.

Election Officials Pay Increase Bill Revival Unusual

The Legislature used an unusual procedure Wednesday to revive a committee-killed bill which would have increased the salaries of the Lancaster County election commissioner (B. J. Holcomb) and deputy commissioner (Nate Holman).

The Salaries and Claims Committee had killed the bill, LB682, although approving similar legislation for the same officials in Douglas County.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly obtained 31-0 approval Wednesday of a motion to refer the bill back to the committee.

Ordinarily a revival motion takes the form of a move to place the bill on general file, notwithstanding action of the committee.

LB682 as drawn would increase the election commissioner's salary from $4,600 to $6,900 per year, and the deputy's salary from $3,600 to $5,600 per year.

Bonus For Lt. Governor Rejected; Pay Hike OK'd

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's Legislature rejected Wednesday a proposal that the governor be permitted to put the lieutenant governor on his payroll, but approved a $1,000 salary increase for the lieutenant governor.

That puts the lieutenant governor's pay at $6,000 per year.

The proposal that the governor be permitted to pay the lieutenant governor up to $4,000 a year out of gubernatorial funds for added duties which the governor would delegate came from Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud. It lost, 18-26.

Similarly turned down were proposals to increase the lieutenant governor's salary to $7,500 or to $9,000. But Omaha Sen. George Syas obtained 35-8 assent to the more modest pay hike proposal.

The jockeying took place during general file consideration of a salary bill, LB619, introduced by Sen. Bowen.

New Scale

In the form in which it advanced from general file on a 33-6 vote, LB619 increases the governor's salary from $18,000 to $21,000; the attorney general's pay from $15,000 to $17,000, and the pay of the state treasurer, secretary of state and state auditor from $10 500 to $13,500 per year.

The raises won't take effect until the end of the current terms of office.

Gov. Frank Morrison, whose own pay won't be affected unless he wins another term in the office, said as late as Tuesday night he opposes an increase in gubernatorial pay at this time. The salary was increased from $14,000 to $18,000 two years ago and Morrison said no new reasons for boostinng the pay have developed in the interim.

Sorensen Praised

Debate over Bowen's proposal resulted in several expressions of praise for the job Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen has been doing as presiding officer over the Legislature.

Under the constitution, the lieutenant governor's duties include presiding over the Legislature and pinch-hitting for the governor when the chief executive is absent or disabled or unable to function.

Even Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who has clashed on occasion with the lieutenant governor on rulings of the chair, said Sorensen has served with "a great deal of distinction."

Carpenter predicted Sorensen "will be a nominee of the Democratic Party" for the governorship next year, and said that if the lieutenant governor were to assist the governor as the Bowen proposal suggested, he would be able to show his capacities in that connection.

Pedersen Proposal

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha proposed instead that the lieutenant governor's pay be boosted to $9,000.

"Let's pay him directly rather than allow him to be another administrative assistant of the governor," Pedersen said.

Lt. Gov. Sorensen sat at the side of the chamber while the debate was going on. He had turned the chair over to members of the Legislature during that period.

Sen. Bowen recalled Gov. Morrison's campaign assertion that he and Sorensen would work together as a team if elected. Sen. Carpenter suggested that this team approach has not come about, but Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth pointed out that the lieutenant governor's full time assignment at the moment is presiding over the Legislature. The relationship of the governor and lieutenant governor "has been as it should be," Ruhnke said.

Sen. Bowen said his extra pay proposal applied only to the period between legislative sessions. He said fuller utilization of the lieutenant governor might save the hiring of a full-time assistant.

Also advanced from general file Wednesday was LB836, a bill strongly urged by the attorney general. It would permit a person who contends his constitutional rights were violated in a criminal conviction to seek relief in the court in which he was sentenced.

LB836 would stem the flood of habeas corpus cases being filed in the federal court by diverting some of them to the district court. The attorney general's office has been required to handle all of the cases in federal court.

Th habeas corpus crush grows out of U.S. Supreme Court decisions broadening the rights of defendants, particularly during pre-trail periods.

Other bills advanced from general file:

LB822—Permitting state mental hospitals to move geriatric patients into nursing homes when they no longer need psychiatric treatment

LB64—Giving the State Roads Department authority to lease out land underneath the elevated Interstate Highway at Omaha for public parking purposes.

LB424—Permitting district courts to establish courts of conciliation for couples having marital problems.

Foam-Piled Rivers Are Vanishing

. . . Dairymen Told

The pictures of foam piled on rivers because of contaminated water may be a thing of the past partially as a result of new recently-published technigues used by soap producers to reduce water pollution, according to Dr. R. B. Maxcy, University of Nebraska professor of dairy science.

Dr. Maxcy, speaking at the Nebraska Dairy Industry Conference at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln, said that soap manufacturers have spent considerable time and money working on a rearrangement of Benzine rings in the detergents to make them more water soluble.

Because the rearrangement produces no change in the housewife's concept of the detergent, companies have been making the change with little publicity.

Dr. Maxcy stressed, however, that this is not the single source of contamination to a water supply. "If all water were softened by public utilities," he said, "one half of the contamination would be cut out."

Dr. K. M. Shahani, University of Nebraska professor of dairy science, explained the nutritional and therapeutic value of cultured dairy products, to the dairymen gathered for the conference.

He said that through analyzation of cultured products, such as yogurt, buttermilk, sour cream and cottage cheese, it has been found that acids produced in the process destroy pathogenic organisms which cause disorder in the intestinal organs. It also produces a large quantity of the B Vitamins, such as folic acid and niacin, he said.

Cottage cheese, one of the most popular of dairy products among consumers and producers alike, has risen steadily in consumption in the United States, according to Dr. P. R. Elliker.

Dr. Elliker is professor and chairman of the Department of Microbiology at Oregon State University, Corvallis, Ore. He and an associate, Dr. W. E. Sandine, have been primarily responsible for the development of new techniques now being used in Oregon and some Midwest states to increase the keeping quality and aroma of cottage cheese.

"This aspect is important because of the role cottage cheese plays in the diet today and the importance of the product to the dairy industry," Dr. Elliker said. He pointed out that cottage cheese is one of the most profitable products a dairy plant can produce.

Marketing Stressed

Another speaker was concerned with the marketing acceptability of dairy products. Dr. Truman F. Graf, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., dealt with important marketing changes now occurring in the dairy industry, the implications of these changes and the adjustments dairies should consider in light of these changes.

An increase in size of dairy firms and a decrease in number, mostly through the merging of several plants, was one of the changes he pointed out. "Chain grocery firms prefer to deal with large suppliers," he said, "because of the large volume needs. Furthermore, unless the dairy is large, it will have little bargaining power with large chain stores."

Foam-Piled Rivers Are Vanishing

. . . Dairymen Told

The pictures of foam piled on rivers because of contaminated water may be a thing of the past partially as a result of new recently-published technigues used by soap producers to reduce water pollution, according to Dr. R. B. Maxcy, University of Nebraska professor of dairy science.

Dr. Maxcy, speaking at the Nebraska Dairy Industry Conference at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln, said that soap manufacturers have spent considerable time and money working on a rearrangement of Benzine rings in the detergents to make them more water soluble.

Because the rearrangement produces no change in the housewife's concept of the detergent, companies have been making the change with little publicity.

Dr. Maxcy stressed, however, that this is not the single source of contamination to a water supply. "If all water were softened by public utilities," he said, "one half of the contamination would be cut out."

Dr. K. M. Shahani, University of Nebraska professor of dairy science, explained the nutritional and therapeutic value of cultured dairy products, to the dairymen gathered for the conference.

He said that through analyzation of cultured products, such as yogurt, buttermilk, sour cream and cottage cheese, it has been found that acids produced in the process destroy pathogenic organisms which cause disorder in the intestinal organs. It also produces a large quantity of the B Vitamins, such as folic acid and niacin, he said.

Cottage cheese, one of the most popular of dairy products among consumers and producers alike, has risen steadily in consumption in the United States, according to Dr. P. R. Elliker.

Dr. Elliker is professor and chairman of the Department of Microbiology at Oregon State University, Corvallis, Ore. He and an associate, Dr. W. E. Sandine, have been primarily responsible for the development of new techniques now being used in Oregon and some Midwest states to increase the keeping quality and aroma of cottage cheese.

"This aspect is important because of the role cottage cheese plays in the diet today and the importance of the product to the dairy industry," Dr. Elliker said. He pointed out that cottage cheese is one of the most profitable products a dairy plant can produce.

Marketing Stressed

Another speaker was concerned with the marketing acceptability of dairy products. Dr. Truman F. Graf, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., dealt with important marketing changes now occurring in the dairy industry, the implications of these changes and the adjustments dairies should consider in light of these changes.

An increase in size of dairy firms and a decrease in number, mostly through the merging of several plants, was one of the changes he pointed out. "Chain grocery firms prefer to deal with large suppliers," he said, "because of the large volume needs. Furthermore, unless the dairy is large, it will have little bargaining power with large chain stores."

Olin Pleads Guilty To Drug Plot

New York (AP) — The Olin Mathieson Chemical Co. pleaded guilty Wednesday in a kickback scheme which cost the federal government $150,000 in foreign aid funds.

Involved were drug shipments worth $1.5 million to Viet Nam and Cambodia. The conspiracy dates back to 1958, and was said by the government to involve two other corporations and their executives.

As a result of its guilty plea, Olin Mathieson faces a fine of up to $30,000. In addition, the company said it has arranged to settle a $4 million federal civil suit for $263,000.

24 Counts

Federal Judge Harold R. Tyler set no date for sentencing. Olin Mathieson pleaded guilty to three counts of a 24-count indictment.

The chemical firm tried March 17 to sidestep the guilty plea with a plea of no contest — a willingness to accept the penalty without admitting the crime. However, Judge Tyler refused to accept this arrangement. The guilty plea came five days before Olin Mathieson was scheduled to go to trial.

In a statement, the firm said:

"Olin's plea was based on the fact that a jury could hold the company responsible for the conduct, however unauthorized, of a former employe stationed in Hong Kong . . . Olin has filed suit against the former employe to recover any funds he may have wrongfully obtained from the company."

Wolf, Far East, Bauer

A defendant in the case with Olin Mathieson is Herbert G. Wolf, 51, of Hong Kong, a former regional vice president of the firm. Other defendants are Far East International Corp., which the government called a dummy corporation set up by Wolf; Philipp Bauer Co., Inc., a former exporting agent for Olin Mathieson, and its president, Kenneth B. Bauer, 67.

The five defendants were indicted Feb. 28, 1963, by a federal grand jury in New York. They were charged with defrauding the government by causing foreign aid funds to be spent for improper purposes.

Under foreign aid regulations, the defendants were required to stipulate that no kickbacks were involved in their Far East dealings. The government called these statements false.

The government was billed for $1.5 million worth of drugs, mostly antibiotics, from the Squibb Division of Olin Mathieson.

These were said to have been funneled to Viet Nam and Cambodia through Philipp Bauer.

The government claimed the bill it paid with foreign aid funds included secret kickbacks by Olin Mathieson to Philipp Bauer, and subsequent under-the-table payments by Philipp Bauer to Wolf and to buyers in Viet Nam and Cambodia.

Hastings By-Pass Studied

State Engineer John Hossack said Wednesday the State Department of Roads has begun preliminary studies to determine what should be done to relieve congestion on the U.S. Highway 6-34 by-pass at Hastings.

He said a major overhaul of the present by-pass or a complete or partial relocation of the section will be necessary. The department has set aside $100,000 for engineering work and right-of-way purchases for the project during the next two years.

"The by-pass is so congested now that the section is almost useless in some spots," he said. The by-pass runs southeast of Hastings.

He said improvements on the two-lane highway might include considerable use of medians and possible expansion to four lanes.

Bill Is 880th Of '65 Session

The Legislature Wednesday received its 880th bill of the current session.

Brought in by the Education Committee, LB880 provides that when a third class school district takes in another existing school district, any bonded indebtedness of the district being incorporated shall become a general obligation of the third class district.

A third class district is one with a population of 1,000 to 50,000.

Hearing Slated On Possible Road Relocation

The State Highway Commission has scheduled a hearing for April 9 in Pierce on the possible relocation of State Highway 98.

The hearing is set for 2 p.m. in the Pierce County courthouse, according to Lyle Trease, commission secretary.

—Leaving it where it is, straight north from Pierce to an intersection with U.S. Highway 20.
—Moving the road one mile west.

Labor Dept. Reports Farm Hand Shortage

The Division of Employment of the State Labor Department reported Wednesday demand remains high over the state for qualified farm hands.

The division reported a shortage of both single and married agriculture workers at Alliance, Beatrice, Columbus, Fremont, Hastings, Kearney, McCook, Nebraska City, North Platte and Norfolk.

In most areas, cold, wet weather has delayed field activity.

Smoke Scatters Youths

Camden, Ala. (AP) — Authorities used smoke bombs Wednesday to disperse youthful civil rights demonstrators as they tried to enter the city limits without a parade permit.

Mayor Reg Albritton, 42, tossed the first smoke bomb when one of the marchers moved a few steps across the line. Two auxiliary policemen threw the other two smoke bombs.

The estimated 120 marchers fled from the smoke. One girl screamed and hollered as if she was hurt but witnesses said the smoke bombs landed near the Negroes but did not hit any of them.

Back To Church

Several of the demonstrators dropped to the grass beside the road. Others ran back toward St. Francis Baptist Church where the march started three miles away.

In time the group reformed, stayed near the city limits for about 25 minutes and then went off in the direction of the church.

Camden is about 40 miles southwest of Selma and the march was held in connection with an effort to enforce a boycott linked to voter registration.

"You've got no right to get out here and block the road, now go home," said Albritton. "You haven't had any tear gas. That was just smoke."

'Just Go Home'

A marcher who identified himself as Eric Jones "of the United States" told the mayor, "We've got a right to express."

"Just go on home," said the mayor.

About 10 auxiliary policemen wearing steel helmets, armed with pistols and carrying canisters were at the scene along with nine state troopers and sheriff P. C. Jenkins of Wilcox County.

The county has one Negro voter, registered during the past few weeks. The county's population is about 70% Negro.

Earlier, another group of demonstrators marched singing through Camden Academy, the Negro high school.

School Boycott

The demonstrations were staged in an attempt to enforce a boycott of the school.

Teachers and some youngsters watched from school windows as the marchers entered and later left the high school and another building. They did not go through the elementary school building.

Aim

The Rev. Daniel Harrell, a Camden Negro minister and member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the objective "is to stop the principal from prohibiting the students from staying out of school."

"This is an indirect protest," he said, "because the parents are prohibited from voting. We will keep the students out of school until their parents are allowed to vote."

The mayor of Camden said later, "The city has a parade permit law but we're not trying to hide behind it. At this time we're preventing any marchers in the name of safety and common sense."

Ancient Jerusalem has become one of the most polyglot cities on earth. People from 70 different nations now live in the large new sector lying within Israel.

High-Paid Steel Union Asks More

Pittsburgh (AP) — Steelworkers, already among the highest paid workers in the nation, have demanded that the basic steel industry increase their wages and benefits by nearly $1 an hour in the next three years.

This was learned Wednesday from a source close to the top-level negotiations between an eight-man United Steelworkers Union team and four men who are bargaining for the nation's major steelmakers.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, reportedly called the package that includes at least 65 cents an hour in wages alone, preposterous.

"That's the word he used." said the source.

The package covers wages, pensions and job security. It compares with the industry's previously stated ceiling of about 26 cents an hour.

Not included in the union's demands are a host of so-called contract matters which also involve a cost factor. They'll be presented later.

This leaves negotiators a broad gap to bridge before May 1 when the union will be free to call the first industry-wide strike since 1959.

Food For Peace Feeds Millions, Helps U.S. Balance Of Payments

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday America's Food For Peace program fed 100 million people last year—70 million of them children—and benefited the nation's balance of payments position.

In an annual report to Congress he called the shipments of surplus farm products compassionate and humanitarian. They also help develop markets for U.S. goods, he said.

The program, technically know as Public Law 480, is now entering its second decade.

It provides for: (1) U.S. donation of surplus farm products for relief and emergency use abroad, and (2) sale of the products to underdeveloped countries with payment in their local currencies.

The foreign monies accumulated are often loaned back to the nations for economic development.

Last year sales for foreign currencies totaled almost $1.2 billion, a record, Johnson said. Commercial sales of U.S. agriculture commodities abroad also reached a new high of $4.6 billion.

Other statistical highlights: $5.4 million in dollar repayments were received last year for principal and interest compared to $2.3 million in 1963; $57 million in local currencies raised by sales were loaned to U.S. and local investors for business development and trade expansion in 11 nations.

"Food For Peace is, above all, a program which expresses the great and generous heart of the American people —and is worthy expression of the compassion always so much a part of America's character," Johnson said.

Bomb Is Found

Porto Alegre, Brazil (AP)—A dynamite bomb was found near the bedroom window of the home of U.S. Consul Thomas Duffeld. The fuse had burned to a few inches of the charge and apparently was accidently extinguished, police said. They expressed concern that terrorists were operating in this southern Brazil city.

Chicago Mart Plans Steer Future Trade

Chicago (UPI) — The Chicago Board of Trade said Wednesday it will begin trading in steer carcass futures Monday.

Bernard P. Carey, exchange board chairman, said that initially trading will be conducted in 10 consecutive months — July, 1965, through April, 1966.

He said it was anticipated that 12 consecutive months eventually would be traded. Prices will be quoted in dollars per hundred pounds, with 2½ cents per hundred as the minimum fluctuation.

"We know that the pricing and hedging facilities of the futures market have proved invaluable to the grain trade —this can best be summed up by saying the industry operates on extremely narrow margins and is able to pay the maximum to the grain producer while charging minimum prices for the finished product," Carey said.

"It is our hope that the steer carcass beef futures will provide a similar service. Those on the production end of the beef business will know prices for a year ahead. When prices are satisfactory to them, they can contract to receive about the quoted price."

Each future contract will call for delivery of 30,000 pounds of choice steer carcass beef, each carcass to be in the 600-700 pound weight range. Eleven meat packing plants in Iowa, South Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska and Minnesota have already met board of trade standards and have been declared regular for delivery on future contracts.

Delivery will be effected by a shipping certificate that obligates the packer to begin loading federally inspected steer carcasses within five days of the receipt of loading orders.

Dressed beef futures trading was started on the Chicago mercantile exchange Feb. 15 of this year. This means the two exchanges will trade the same futures for the first time in their history.

Live cattle futures trading began on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange Nov. 30, last year.

High-Paid Steel Union Asks More

Pittsburgh (AP) — Steelworkers, already among the highest paid workers in the nation, have demanded that the basic steel industry increase their wages and benefits by nearly $1 an hour in the next three years.

This was learned Wednesday from a source close to the top-level negotiations between an eight-man United Steelworkers Union team and four men who are bargaining for the nation's major steelmakers.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, reportedly called the package that includes at least 65 cents an hour in wages alone, preposterous.

"That's the word he used." said the source.

The package covers wages, pensions and job security. It compares with the industry's previously stated ceiling of about 26 cents an hour.

Not included in the union's demands are a host of so-called contract matters which also involve a cost factor. They'll be presented later.

This leaves negotiators a broad gap to bridge before May 1 when the union will be free to call the first industry-wide strike since 1959.

Food For Peace Feeds Millions, Helps U.S. Balance Of Payments

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday America's Food For Peace program fed 100 million people last year—70 million of them children—and benefited the nation's balance of payments position.

In an annual report to Congress he called the shipments of surplus farm products compassionate and humanitarian. They also help develop markets for U.S. goods, he said.

The program, technically know as Public Law 480, is now entering its second decade.

It provides for: (1) U.S. donation of surplus farm products for relief and emergency use abroad, and (2) sale of the products to underdeveloped countries with payment in their local currencies.

The foreign monies accumulated are often loaned back to the nations for economic development.

Last year sales for foreign currencies totaled almost $1.2 billion, a record, Johnson said. Commercial sales of U.S. agriculture commodities abroad also reached a new high of $4.6 billion.

Spring has come to the Monterey peninsula. All misty blue lupine with spots of butter poppy.

The golden mustard is thickly entrenched among the sage-gray rows of artichokes out Castroville way. (They say the original Castro brought the plant from Spain to make mustard. It spread like a weed all over the state.)

At night, spring went thataway. And I went shivering down to the wharf to find out whatever happened to the lucscious abalone.

Abalone is purely West Coast—and not too frequently at that. It is a shellfish. The size of a dinner plate.

The single shell tops the beast. And he clings to the rock with a powerful suction.

We used to get them off the rocks around Here. You slipped a tire iron under them when they weren't looking. If the abalone sensed you coming, he got a grip you couldn't break.

The abalone is sliced into plate-size steaks. A half inch thick. The steaks are then pounded down to quarter inch. It makes them tender.

The tap-tap-tap of hammers out on the wharf was one of the sounds of Monterey. Like the cannery whistles that blew in early mornings. The town knew a big sardine catch was coming in. And there was extra piece work on Cannery Row.

I had dinner at Sal Cerrito's place where you can look down on the dancing lights reflected on the black water.

He said all the abalone now comes from down the coast. Down at Morro Bay, near the Hearst castle.

Sal gets it fresh. But most abalone is frozen. The abalone doesn't take kindly to freezing any more than you and I.

The state of California long ago realized that abalone was limited. They put in a law that you couldn't ship it out of the state. And you couldn't ship the shell —a beautiful red thing outside and mother of pearl within—unless it had been worked as jewelry.

Consequently, there was plenty of abalone. And everybody lined their garden paths with shell.

But as the state grew, the abalone began to get scarce —simply fished out, I guess. And for the past 10 years or so, Monterey has been closed to commercial abalone fishers.

You can still pry them off the rocks—if you can find them.

But the best way is to skin dive for them just offshore. In about 20 feeet of water.

When the abalone is brought in, the meaty part should be sliced and beaten immediately. If the abalone dies, it is no good. Cut him up fresh.

The best way to get an even abalone slice is to make a slicing guide. You nail two wooden coat hangers to a cutting board. Put the abalone in the center and draw a sharp knife across at coat hanger level.

Afterwards you beat the slices with the bottom of a full wine bottle.

Fry the abalone and the bass. Pull the cork and drink the wine.

That's the life.

Sal Cerrito was a San Francisco boy. From North Beach. But he was raised in Monterey like I was.

For after school money, he used to pound abalone here on the wharf.

The wharf is all full of souvenir shops these days. And restaurants—Cerrito owns a couple.

We drank a little wine and ate a little abalone.

Cerrito said he thought we got poor abalone in many restaurants because they didn't know how to beat it and cook it. You just can't overcook abalone. It gets tough.

I think it's because they're freezing it. A terrible thing to do to such a lovely shellfish.

Saigon Was Fascinating To Barbara

Says Father Of Bombing Victim

Denver (AP)—A former Sioux City, Iowa, girl who was killed in the bombing of the American embassy in Saigon, had been in that South Vietnamese capital about eight months and found it fascinating.

She was Barbara Robbins, 21, a secretary for the U. S. State Department and the oldest of two children in a family that moved here from Sioux City.

Barbara's father, Buford M. Robbins, a meat cutter for a Denver supermarket, related that his daughter said little about the war in her letters home.

"Her letters were chiefly about her work, about the people she worked with and the city and the people of Saigon," Robbins said. "It was her first trip to a foreign country and she seemed to find it fascinating."

Miss Robbins had joined the State Department in July, 1963, after two years at Colorado State University. During a brief vacation in May, 1964, she spent a few hours with her family here.

"She had planned to be in Saigon for a total of two years," her father said. "Barbara had talked for several years about trying to get into some kind of work that would take her into foreign countries. For a time, she considered enrolling for training as an airline stewardess.

"Then this job with the State Department came up after she had had two years at the university and she grabbed it."

The Robbins' only other child is a son, Warren, 18, a student here.

Bourne Gets Post With SE County Group

The Southeast Nebraska County Officials Association elected Kenneth Bourne, Lancaster County commissioner, a director to the state association, replacing J. F. Brubaker who was defeated for re-election as Gage County supervisor.

At the conference Wednesday afternoon, county clerks talked about anticipated problems when the uniform commercial code becomes effective Sept. 1.

One of the problems is that the new code has no provisions for a vehicle description or the terms of indebtedness; the motor vehicle laws require that both be included in title transfers.

The county clerks tentatively decided to meet Aug. 1 to talk about the code again.

County commissioners discussed the merits of having a full-time county attorney in counties with a small population and whether county attornies should be elected or appointed.

The southeast group is one of five regional units of the state association. President is Leslie Moormeier, Gage County supervisor.

Bourne Gets Post With SE County Group

The Southeast Nebraska County Officials Association elected Kenneth Bourne, Lancaster County commissioner, a director to the state association, replacing J. F. Brubaker who was defeated for re-election as Gage County supervisor.

At the conference Wednesday afternoon, county clerks talked about anticipated problems when the uniform commercial code becomes effective Sept. 1.

One of the problems is that the new code has no provisions for a vehicle description or the terms of indebtedness, the motor vehicle laws require that both be included in title transfers

The county clerks tentatively decided to meet Aug. 1 to talk about the code again.

County commissioners discussed the merits of having a full-time county attorney in counties with a small population and whether county attornies should be elected or appointed.

The southeast group is one of five regional units of the state association. President is Leslie Moormeier, Gage County supervisor.

America 'Defends Liberty'

Vatican City (AP)—The Vatican weekly L'Osservatore Della Domenica said editorially Wednesday the Americans with their troops and planes in Viet Nam are defending the interest of all the free world.

"If the Americans retreat from Viet Nam," the editorial said, "They would open the door to (Red) Chinese expansion in an area of the world which the common interest of all nations wants to remain free and peaceful."

The Vatican publication defended bombings by U.S. planes in North Viet Nam.

At the same time it expressed sympathy for the Vietnamese people.

"The Americans," it said, "try with airplane actions in North Viet Nam to cut the channels that feed guerrilla war in the south.

"And it is opportune to stress that they, despite the obvious difficulties they meet, fight not only for their own interests but for those of all free men."

Ex-Badman, Model Prisoner, Freed

Lansing, Kan. (AP) — Harvey Bailey, notorious badman of the early 1930s who became a model prisoner, walked out of the Kansas State Prison Wednesday, a free man on parole.

Bailey, now 78 and white-haired, left the state penitentiary at Lansing early in the day to take a job at Joplin, Mo.

The Charles F. Urschel kidnaping was the last black mark on Bailey's record. The state parole board said Bailey was a model prisoner since that time and has "excellent opportunities to become a useful citizen."

HARVEY BAILEY

He was described as in good health.

In prison Bailey became an expert carpenter and cabinet maker, which led to a job offer with Braeckel's, Inc., a firm making cabinets, counters and furniture.

'Take A Chance'

Braeckel said he was approached some time ago about a job for the parolee and said he felt the man had paid his debt to society.

"He was an older man and I was willing to take a chance with him," he said.

Bailey, a native of West Virginia, was convicted in 1932 of robbing the Citizens National Bank of Fort Scott, Kan., of $31,000 and was sentenced to 10 to 50 years.

He and 10 other prisoners escaped from the state penitentiary May 30, 1933, in a daring breakout during a Memorial Day baseball game inside the walls. Officers credited Bailey with saving the life of Kirk Prather, then the warden, when other prisoners wanted to kill him.

Urschel Kidnaping

Two months later Bailey was arrested in connection with the kidnaping of Urschel, millionaire Oklahoma City oil man. Some of the ransom money was traced to Bailey.

Urschel and the late Walter Jarrett, a friend, were taken from the Urschel home. Jarrett was released about nine miles east of Oklahoma City and Urschel was taken to a farm near Paradise, Tex., where he was held until $200,000 ransom was paid. The ransom money was delivered by a friend, E. E. Kirkpatrick of Tulsa, on a Kansas City street.

Urschel was released on July 31, 1933, north of Norman, Okla., after the payment.

Bailey drew a life sentence. He served at federal prisons in Leavenworth, Kan.; Alcatraz and Seagoville, Tex. He was paroled in November 1962 and returned to Lansing to complete the original bank sentence.

Last January former Gov. John Anderson commuted his sentence to 5 to 50 years which made him eligible for parole.

Lawyer Claims Threat From Casinos Over Oil

Denver (UPI)—Robert Sunshine, disbarred Denver attorney and convicted embezzler, testified Wednesday that he had run up $20,000 in gambling debts with a Las Vegas casino owner who later allegedly threatened his life over another debt.

The attorney, who now is serving a prison term for embezzlement, made the remarks in U.S. District Court.

The one-time attorney is the federal government's star witness in an extortion trial against two Las Vegas casino operators —Ruby Kolod,, 54, and Willie Israel Alderman, 63—and two Chicago area men.

The Chicago area men — Felix (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio, 52, and Americo (Pete) De Pietto, 50—threatened his and his family's lives in July, 1961, Sunshine testified.

Sunshine said the threats involved $78,150 which the Las Vegas men had invested in a 1959 Kimball, Neb., oil venture which flopped.

He said the men did not attempt to collect on the gambling debts until 1963. He admitted telling an FBI agent in February, 1963, that he had gambling debts at Kolod's Desert Inn, but said "no attempt would be made to collect them because of my friendship with the owners."

Sunshine said the bulk of the $20,000 owed was the result of an election bet telephoned to Kolod. He said he also owed $5,000 to the Thunderbird Casino and $15,000 to the Tropicana Casino, both at Las Vegas.

Sunshine said that between 1960 and 1962 his total indebtness totaled more than $450,000.

He said he channeled the money invested by the Las Vegas men into other interests because the oil wells' production fell off.

British Trade Problem Hurts Economy Pickup

London (AP)— The British economy is picking up steam again but the nation's chronic trade problems remain, the treasury reported Wednesday.

A mass of statistics were released by the treasury to set the stage for Tuesday's annual budget speech by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan. They indicated he may have to apply some curbs to keep the economy in balance.

A limit on overseas investment, similar to the one applied by President Johnson in the United States, was considered one possibility in financial circles.

The figures also gave the balance sheet for last year's economic crisis. They showed the nation went 2 billion in the red by buying more overseas than it sold. The deficit was almost 10 times larger than in 1963.

Pound Collapse

To keep the British pound from collapsing under this trade deficit, the government had to borrow $1.5 billion from foreign bankers and governments last year and use $340 million of its own gold and foreign currency reserves, reducing them to $2.3 billion, lowest in about a decade.

The loans have not yet been paid back, and the trade gap is narrowing but not yet wiped out.

This means that when Callaghan announces the government's new taxes and financial regulations for the coming year in the House of Commons Tuesday, he will be walking an economic and political tightrope — with one end held by the British taxpayer and the other by the world's bankers.

If the bankers feel Callaghan again gives too much emphasis to welfare schemes they may start a run on the pound, provoking a new crisis. If he clamps down too hard on the taxpayer at home to soak up excess purchasing power and reduce inflation, there may be political trouble for the Labor government.

Booming Economy

The treasury statistics pictured a booming economy: continued high savings to underwrite a 10% increase in investment to record levels a 5½% rise in gross national product, personal income up 7½% and corporate profits up 13%.

But there are soft spots that underline Britain's — and Callaghan's — dilemma. With unemployment down to an almost irreducible 1.4%, there is an acute shortage of skilled workers.

Government sources admitted this shortage will make it difficult to shift labor into the new industries the nation needs to sell more goods abroad. And British industry already is working near capacity. To expand it may have to buy machinery abroad — at a loss in foreign exchange.

Fund Set Up For Language Scholarship

Vincent R. Collura, exalted ruler of Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80, and State Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln announced Wednesday the establishment of a Graden Rathbun memorial scholarship for Romance languages at the University of Nebraska.

The scholarship is to be awarded to a major in the Romance Languages Department as selected by the department chairman and faculty members.

"Latin America is and will continue to be the focal point of political intrigue in the Western Hemisphere," commented Sen. Stromer.

"The challenge of communism in this hemisphere thus is a very real one. The Elks through this scholarship feel that this will provide a vehicle for the combatting of this political disease."

Dr. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, department chairman and director of the Latin American project at the University, will administer the scholarship.

STUDENTS QUIZ SENATORS

Top Scholars To Be Honored

Three scholarship trophies will be awarded Saturday at the annual Nebraska Wesleyan University panhellenic council luncheon.

Highlight of the day will be the presentation of the trophy to the sorority with the highest scholarship average. An award will also be made to the pledge with the highest scholastic average the first semester, and two actives will be recognized for their scholastic achievements.

The scholarship awards will be made by Miss Ethel Johnson, dean of women at Nebraska Wesleyan.

New members and officers of the panhellenic council will also be announced, according to JoAnn Frey, Lincoln, panhellenic president. Miss Frey will preside at the noon luncheon at the Lincoln hotel.

Miss Frey said girls from each house, Alpha Gamma Delta, Delta Zeta, Phi Mu and Willard, would provide the entertainment.

Guests will include President and Mrs. Vance Rogers, Dr. and Mrs. Sam Dahl, Dean and Mrs. Milton Evans and Miss Bernice Halbert, faculty adviser to Cardinal Key, women's honor society.

18 NWU Coeds Nominated

Eighteen Nebraska Wesleyan University coeds have been nominated as candidates for 1965 beauty queen.

The girls will participate in two rounds of judging the first to select six finalists and the final judging to select the queen.

The contest is sponsored by the Plainsmen, campus yearbook. The queen and her court will be honored at the annual Coronation Ball April 10.

ROARK WINS TCU FELLOWSHIP

Jim Roark, Central City senior, has received a $2950 fellowship from Texas Christian Univeristy at Fort Worth.

Roark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Beetem, will work on a doctorate degree in organic chemistry.

He will graduate this spring from Nebraska Wesleyan with a bachelor of arts with a major in chemistry.

He has been active in W-Club and Independents, serving as president of both groups, basketball, baseball, Blue Key, and is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Corrine Griffith Says Husband Scholl Gone

Hollywood (AP)—Former actress Corrine Griffith said Wednesday she and actor Danny Scholl have separated after less than two months of marriage.

"He left a week ago Saturday (March 20) and went to live with the Rory Calhoun," Miss Griffith said. "He hasn't been feeling well. He's had two brain operations—and he hasn't been well lately."

Miss Griffith said she did not know whether she or Scholl will file for divorce.

Scholl was unavailable for comment.

The couple wed Feb. 17 in Alexandria, Va.

Plan Peace Stamp

Rome (AP)—The postal ministry on April 24 will issue a six-stamp special edition to commemorate the 20th anniversary of war-ending events in Italy including underground activities against Nazi Germany. One stamp will picture Allied armies liberating Italy from the Germans.

Rural Recreation Topic At Workshop Session

Recreation opportunities offering the most possibilities for use by rural families and youths were discussed here Wednesday at a workshop session on recreation in rural America. The discussion came during the 1965 Midwest District Recreation Conference.

Dale Jaedicke, state conservationist, listed the first of three main recreational enterprises as community recreation development in which picnic areas, golf courses, fishing and boating areas are developed.

Another "big opportunity" is in vacation farms where "possibilities are unlimited," according to Jaedicke.

The third area is in the structures being built under the watershed protection program providing outdoor activities.

Interest, responsibility

"The U.S. Department of Agriculture has an interest in land use problems of urban fringe and rural areas, and has a responsibility for development and conservation of natural resources," Jaedicke said.

Also speaking at the session were Dick Tomkinson, recreation specialist at Kansas State University, reviewing three national conferences he has attended on rural family recreation, and John D. Orr, associate state leader of Nebraska 4-H Clubs, discussing the need for a closer look at recreation in the rural areas where the youth exodus has been as high as 40%-100%.

Thursday morning the program of the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth will be presented.

Syria, French Signed To Biggest Jet Airport

Damascus, Syria (AP)—The Syrian government signed a $25 million contract with a consortium of French companies to build the biggest jet airport of the Middle East near Damascus, it was officially announced here.

The agreement was signed in a ceremony at Syria's central bank by Syrian Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Mamdouh Jaber and Henry Vaillant of Batignolles, the company which heads the consortium.

A Batignolles spokesman said the airport will be completed in four years. It will be linked with Damascus by a modern highway.

British Trade Problem Hurts Economy Pickup

London (AP)— The British economy is picking up steam again but the nation's chronic trade problems remain, the treasury reported Wednesday.

A mass of statistics were released by the treasury to set the stage for Tuesday's annual budget speech by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan. They indicated he may have to apply some curbs to keep the economy in balance.

A limit on overseas investment, similar to the one applied by President Johnson in the United States, was considered one possibility in financial circles.

The figures also gave the balance sheet for last year's economic crisis. They showed the nation went 2 billion in the red by buying more overseas than it sold. The deficit was almost 10 times larger than in 1963.

Pound Collapse

To keep the British pound from collapsing under this trade deficit, the government had to borrow $1.5 billion from foreign bankers and governments last year and use $340 million of its own gold and foreign currency reserves, reducing them to $2.3 billion, lowest in about a decade.

The loans have not yet been paid back, and the trade gap is narrowing but not yet wiped out.

This means that when Callaghan announces the government's new taxes and financial regulations for the coming year in the House of Commons Tuesday, he will be walking an economic and political tightrope — with one end held by the British taxpayer and the other by the world's bankers.

If the bankers feel Callaghan again gives too much emphasis to welfare schemes they may start a run on the pound, provoking a new crisis. If he clamps down too hard on the taxpayer at home to soak up excess purchasing power and reduce inflation, there may be political trouble for the Labor government.

Booming Economy

The treasury statistics pictured a booming economy: continued high savings to underwrite a 10% increase in investment to record levels a 5½% rise in gross national product, personal income up 7½% and corporate profits up 13%.

But there are soft spots that underline Britain's — and Callaghan's — dilemma. With unemployment down to an almost irreducible 1.4%, there is an acute shortage of skilled workers.

Government sources admitted this shortage will make it difficult to shift labor into the new industries the nation needs to sell more goods abroad. And British industry already is working near capacity. To expand it may have to buy machinery abroad — at a loss in foreign exchange.

Fund Set Up For Language Scholarship

Vincent R. Collura, exalted ruler of Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80, and State Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln announced Wednesday the establishment of a Graden Rathbun memorial scholarship for Romance languages at the University of Nebraska.

The scholarship is to be awarded to a major in the Romance Languages Department as selected by the department chairman and faculty members.

"Latin America is and will continue to be the focal point of political intrigue in the Western Hemisphere," commented Sen. Stromer.

"The challenge of communism in this hemisphere thus is a very real one. The Elks through this scholarship feel that this will provide a vehicle for the combatting of this political disease."

Dr. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, department chairman and director of the Latin American project at the University, will administer the scholarship.

STUDENTS QUIZ SENATORS

Top Scholars To Be Honored

Three scholarship trophies will be awarded Saturday at the annual Nebraska Wesleyan University panhellenic council luncheon.

Highlight of the day will be the presentation of the trophy to the sorority with the highest scholarship average. An award will also be made to the pledge with the highest scholastic average the first semester, and two actives will be recognized for their scholastic achievements.

The scholarship awards will be made by Miss Ethel Johnson, dean of women at Nebraska Wesleyan.

New members and officers of the panhellenic council will also be announced, according to JoAnn Frey, Lincoln, panhellenic president. Miss Frey will preside at the noon luncheon at the Lincoln hotel.

Miss Frey said girls from each house, Alpha Gamma Delta, Delta Zeta, Phi Mu and Willard, would provide the entertainment.

Guests will include President and Mrs. Vance Rogers, Dr. and Mrs. Sam Dahl, Dean and Mrs. Milton Evans and Miss Bernice Halbert, faculty adviser to Cardinal Key, women's honor society.

18 NWU Coeds Nomirated

Eighteen Nebraska Wesleyan University coeds have been nominated as candidates for 1965 beauty queen.

The girls will participate in two rounds of judging the first to select six finalists and the final judging to select the queen.

The contest is sponsored by the Plainsmen, campus yearbook. The queen and her court will be honored at the annual Coronation Ball April 10.

ROARK WINS TCU FELLOWSHIP

Jim Roark, Central City senior, has received a $2950 fellowship from Texas Christian Univeristy at Fort Worth.

Roark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Beetem, will work on a doctorate degree in organic chemistry.

He will graduate this spring from Nebraska Wesleyan with a bachelor of arts with a major in chemistry.

He has been active in W-Club and Independents, serving as president of both groups, basketball, baseball, Blue Key, and is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Plan Peace Stamp

Rome (AP)—The postal ministry on April 24 will issue a six-stamp special edition to commemorate the 20th anniversary of war-ending events in Italy including underground activities against Nazi Germany. One stamp will picture Allied armies liberating Italy from the Germans.

Corrine Griffith Says Husband Scholl Gone

Hollywood (AP)—Former actress Corrine Griffith said Wednesday she and actor Danny Scholl have separated after less than two months of marriage.

"He left a week ago Saturday (March 20) and went to live with the Rory Calhoun," Miss Griffith said. "He hasn't been feeling well. He's had two brain operations—and he hasn't been well lately."

Miss Griffith said she did not know whether she or Scholl will file for divorce.

Rural Recreation Topic At Workshop Session

Recreation opportunities offering the most possibilities for use by rural families and youths were discussed here Wednesday at a workshop session on recreation in rural America. The discussion came during the 1965 Midwest District Recreation Conference.

Dale Jaedicke, state conservationist, listed the first of three main recreational enterprises as community recreation development in which picnic areas, golf courses, fishing and boating areas are developed.

Another "big opportunity" is in vacation farms where "possibilities are unlimited," according to Jaedicke.

The third area is in the structures being built under the watershed protection program providing outdoor activities.

Interest, responsibility

"The U.S. Department of Agriculture has an interest in land use problems of urban fringe and rural areas, and has a responsibility for development and conservation of natural resources," Jaedicke said.

Also speaking at the session were Dick Tomkinson, recreation specialist at Kansas State University, reviewing three national conferences he has attended on rural family recreation, and John D. Orr, associate state leader of Nebraska 4-H Clubs, discussing the need for a closer look at recreation in the rural areas where the youth exodus has been as high as 40%-100%.

Thursday morning the program of the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth will be presented.

Syria, French Signed To Biggest Jet Airport

Damascus, Syria (AP)—The Syrian government signed a $25 million contract with a consortium of French companies to build the [illegible] airport of the Middle East near Damascus, it was officially announced here.

The agreement was signed in a ceremony at Syria's central bank by Syrian Defense Minister Lt Gen Mamdouh Jaber and Henry Vaillant of Batignolles, the company which heads the consortium.

A Batignolles spokesman said the airport will be completed in four years. It will be linked with Damascus by a modern highway.

Russia Asks Full Debate In U.N. On Disarmament

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union requested Wednesday a full-scale public debate on disarmament within the next two weeks by the entire U.N. membership in advance of any private negotiations in Geneva. The United States said it had no objection.

Nikolai T. Fedorenko, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, asked Secretary-General U Thant to convene the U.N. disarmament commission, made up of all 114 U.N. members, "as soon as possible—in the first half of the month of April."

Adlai E. Stevenson, the chief U.S. delegate, made clear the United States preferred a meeting of the 18-nation committee in Geneva on the grounds it was a better forum to consider concrete proposals than the 114-nation commission. He described the latter as "a debating committee."

Fedorenko Conference

Fedorenko made the Soviet demand known at a Wednesday afternoon news conference. Two hours later Stevenson summoned a conference to give what he called the preliminary U.S. reaction.

"The United States believes that disarmament is of such primary importance that it should have the continued attention of the 18-nation committee in Geneva, which in our judgment is the best forum to reach agreement on concrete disarmament proposals," he said.

He added that is why the United States has been pressing for a meeting of the 18-nation committee. It had been expected to reconvene in Geneva in late April or early May.

Stevenson said, however, that "we have no objection to convening the whole membership of the United Nations, and afford everyone an opportunity to express his views." He said that if most U.N. members approve, the United States would take part in a constructive manner. He expressed hope that from the discussions could come useful and constructive ideas which would be considered in detail by the committee of 18.

The Soviet request set off speculation that the Soviet Union viewed the commission as a forum for an attack on U.S. policy in Southeast Asia. In response to a question, Stevenson said he did not regard the commission as a forum for any other issue than disarmament.

Thant will conduct a poll among U.N. members, but there was little doubt that the disarmament commission would be convened. The most likely date was regarded as April 19.

Voting Rights

Stevenson said he would not answer whether the disarmament commission would be confronted with a debate over voting rights of debtor nations—the same issue which deadlocked the 19th session of the General Assembly. U.N. sources said they did not think the issue was applicable to the disarmament commission, which would be engaged mostly in debate and very little if any vote taking.

The smaller negotiating committee in Geneva has been the main forum for disarmament negotiations since March, 1962.

In a statement handed to Thant and read to a news conference by Fedorenko the Soviet Union declared that no agreement has been forthcoming in the talks in Geneva on disarmament "or on the measures aimed at the lessening of international tension."

Rules Committee Will Hold Hearing On Elderly Health

Washington (AP)—The House Rules Committee agreed Wednesday to hold hearings next Monday and Tuesday on a bill providing health care for the elderly.

At what was described as a harmonious closed session, the committee agreed to vote on the bill after Tuesday's hearings. Approval appears certain.

House leaders plan to open debate on the measure next Wednesday, with final action set for late Thursday or Friday.

Texan Claims Vote Bill Cleared With High Court

. . . KATZENBACH LABELS ACCUSATION 'UTTERLY FALSE'

Washington (AP)— A Texas congressman suggested Wednesday that Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach already has cleared the administration right-to-vote bill with the Supreme Court. "Utterly false," said Katzenbach.

Democratic Rep. John Dowdy testified before the House Judiciary Committee on a report he said came from a reliable source in the Senate.

Negro civil rights leader James Farmer, meanwhile, called for broadened voting rights guarantees and stiff new terms to guard against voter intimidation.

With Southerners

Dowdy lined up with Southerners who insist the Johnson bill is not constitutional, but quoted Katzenbach indirectly as saying that it already has been checked with five Supreme Court justices.

The attorney general called the statement incredible and irresponsible.

Dowdy said he was told Katzenbach made the statement at a meeting with Senate leaders on the proposed legislation. The Texan said he got this account:

"When the constitutional questions were raised, the attorney general immediately laid them to rest, advising the members of the other body that they would not have to worry about that, that he had shown the bill to Chief Justice Warren and four other members of the Supreme Court and that they 'enthusiastically approved' of it."

Question Katzenbach

Dowdy said the committee should question Katzenbach about the report. But the attorney general didn't wait to be questioned. He answered swiftly with a statement saying:

"Congressman Dowdy has suggested that I, five justices of the Supreme Court and a number of senators of both parties participated in the grossest impropriety.

"The report of this incident was hot from the meeting," Dowdy said, "almost within seconds."

But he would not identify the source. And he told newsmen the report came to him third-hand.

Dowdy relayed the report as House and Senate committees heard a stream of agruments on the bill.

The Johnson measure would have its major impact in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and 34 counties of North Carolina.

It would eliminate literacy tests and similar voter qualification devices in states and counties which used them for last November's election, and where registration or turnout fell below 50% of the adult population.

The federal government could send examiners to register voters in such areas.

Pope Denounces Divisive Catholics

Vatican City (UPI) — Pope Paul VI Wednesday denounced divisive influences within the Roman Catholic Church and warned that "unity . . . is a duty, a law, a commitment."

The pontiff directed his words to those who give "systematic and destructive criticism," to those who "deny and put in doubt the validity of the traditional teaching of the church" and to those "who seem to take pleasure in creating contrary currents."

The Pope spoke at a general audience in St. Peter's basilica. The denunciation was in general terms and did not single out any particular group or persons.

Concern On Ferment

However, observers said the Pope's strong words showed deep concern over the ferment of Catholic opinion sparked by the Ecumenical Council and the controversial church ban on birth control.

In criticizing subversion within the faith, the pontiff warned that "unity is not only a prerogative of the Catholic Church, it is a duty, a law, a commitment."

The Pope further denounced those Catholics "who to be modern find everything beautiful, worthy of imitation and valid which they see in the fields of others, and everything in our field invalid, questionable and out of date."

Thrust To Front

The birth control issue, on which Pope Paul promised an urgent church opinion only last Monday, was immediately thrust to the fore. Vatican observers recalled that leading churchmen of the liberal wing suggested at last fall's Ecumencial Council session the need for a profound review of the traditional church teaching on this point.

The Pope said it was not his intention to "censure the process of purification and renewal, which now troubles and regenerates the church . . ."

He urged Catholics "to love strongly and profoundly the mystery of the interior unity" of the church. He denied that this was "a closed spirit, static, egotistic."

Spirit Of Christ

"It is not the spirit of the ghetto, as they say today. It is the genuine spirit of Christ," the pontiff said.

The Pope said inner Catholic unity was especially important since "there is much talk now of composing unity with separated Christian brothers . . ."

He asked:

"How will we give the separated brethren that example of unity, how will we offer them the priceless gift, it we Catholics don't give it the faith and fullness which it requires?"

Vienna (AP)—More than 1,000 students and workers clashed in downtown Vienna in a violent demonstration over a university professor who made alleged anti-Semitic speeches.

Blonde Who Dwelt 88 Days Underground In Good Health

Nice (AP)—Josiane Laures, the 23-year-old blonde who lived in an underground cave for 88 days to test her reactions, ended a 19-day hospital stay Wednesday.

Michel Siffre, a foremost French speleologist, said the hospital tests indicated Miss Laures was in perfect health.

She had some difficulty distinguishing colors, he said, but doctors indicated the color blindness would pass. Miss Laures, a nurse, also has had trouble adjusting to a normal sleep routines, Siffre added.

Miss Laures plans to return Monday to the mountainous Audibergue region north of Nice where Antoine Senni, another cave exploring enthusiast, has been in a cave 100 yards underground since November.

Senni, 35, who descended to his cave near the one occupied by Miss Laures until March 12, will be raised to the surface Monday.

Siffre said Senni is in good health and has not yet been advised that he will be ending his long ordeal Monday.

OPERA HOUSE CRUMBLES

The facade of the old La Porte, Ind., Opera House falls into the street as fire destroyed it and an adjoining automobile agency Wednesday. Fire departments from four cities managed to keep the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings.

Model Rocket Blast Injures 30 In School

New York Mills, N.Y. (AP)—A model rocket that had failed to work during a science exhibition exploded Wednesday in a high school laboratory and injured the teacher and nearly 30 pupils. Two boys were injured seriously.

The blast, which shook a second-floor classroom of the public high school in this community west of Utica, sent the teacher and 10 pupils to St. Luke's Memorial Hospital in Utica. All but four in seri condition were treated and discharged.

J. William Quinn, supervising principal, and Capt. John Miller of the state police said a propellant had been mixed to fire it in a field near the school Wednesday, a teacher told the pupils to remove the propellant, they said.

The pupils were trying to remove the propellant when it exploded.

About 18 other pupils received treatment at the scene for shock and cuts from flying glass.

"I don't know just why it exploded," Gary R. Quick, the teacher, said of the 18-inch-long, metal-cased rocket, made by the class.

Quick told reporters the class "was clearing away the science fair when it happened."

'The Toilet,' 'Dutchman' Get Permit

Los Angeles (UPI)—A 60-day temporary permit was granted Wednesday by the City Police Commission to the producers of Leroi Jones' controversial one-act plays, "The Toilet" and "Dutchman."

Casting the dissenting vote among the five-member panel was Commission President Dr. Francisco Bravo. He said three was no legal stand for denying the application, but with him it was a "moral issue."

Police vice officers charged that "The Toilet" was vulgar and obscene although critics described it as "interesting and meaningful theater."

Attorney Gunther H. Shiff represented producers Gene Persson, Rita Fredericks and Don Herbert.

Shiff said the trio was under the impression that the Warner Playhouse had a proper and valid permit until police notified them they could not go on with the play because the permit had expired.

Because of the permit, the play was presented last weekend without charge. Persson said donations were accepted but they totaled less than half of the normal box office receipts.

Ralph Bishop, Wayne, Is Dead

Wayne — Funeral services were held here for Ralph Bishop, 46, a double leg amputee.

Injured at the age of two, he spent most of his life in hospitals. Although confined to a wheel chair, he was active in the sports field, coaching the Junior Legion baseball team to a state championship in 1963.

An expert watch repairman, he was a member of the Wayne Lions Club.

Pope Denounces Divisive Catholics

Vatican City (UPI) — Pope Paul VI Wednesday denounced divisive influences within the Roman Catholic Church and warned that "unity . . . is a duty, a law, a commitment."

The pontiff directed his words to those who give "systematic and destructive criticism," to those who "deny and put in doubt the validity of the traditional teaching of the church" and to those "who seem to take pleasure in creating contrary currents."

The Pope spoke at a general audience in St. Peter's basilica. The denunciation was in general terms and did not single out any particular group or persons.

Concern On Ferment

However, observers said the Pope's strong words showed deep concern over the ferment of Catholic opinion sparked by the Ecumenical Council and the controversial church ban on birth control.

In criticizing subversion within the faith, the pontiff warned that "unity is not only a prerogative of the Catholic Church, it is a duty, a law, a commitment."

The Pope further denounced those Catholics "who to be modern find everything beautiful, worthy of imitation and valid which they see in the fields of others, and everything in our field invalid, questionable and out of date."

Thrust To Front

The birth control issue, on which Pope Paul promised an urgent church opinion only last Monday, was immediately thrust to the fore. Vatican observers recalled that leading churchmen of the liberal wing suggested at last fall's Ecumencial Council session the need for a profound review of the traditional church teaching on this point.

The Pope said it was not his intention to "censure the process of purification and renewal, which now troubles and regenerates the church . . ."

He urged Catholics "to love strongly and profoundly the mystery of the interior unity" of the church. He denied that this was "a closed spirit, static, egotistic."

Spirit Of Christ

"It is not the spirit of the ghetto, as they say today. It is the genuine spirit of Christ," the pontiff said.

The Pope said inner Catholic unity was especially important since "there is much talk now of composing unity with separated Christian brothers . . ."

He asked

"How will we give the separated brethren that example of unity, how will we offer them the priceless gift, it we Catholics don't give it the faith and fullness which it requires?"

Blonde Who Dwelt 88 Days Underground In Good Health

Nice (AP)—Josiane Laures, the 23-year-old blonde who lived in an underground cave for 88 days to test her reactions, ended a 19-day hospital stay Wednesday.

Michel Siffre, a foremost French speleologist, said the hospital tests indicated Miss Laures was in perfect health.

She had some difficulty distinguishing colors, he said, but doctors indicated the color blindness would pass. Miss Laures, a nurse, also has had trouble adjusting to a normal sleep routines, Siffre added.

Miss Laures plans to return Monday to the mountainous Audibergue region north of Nice where Antoine Senni, another cave exploring enthusiast, has been in a cave 100 yards underground since November.

Senni, 35, who descended to his cave near the one occupied by Miss Laures until March 12, will be raised to the surface Monday.

Siffre said Senni is in good health and has not yet been advised that he will be ending his long ordeal Monday.

Model Rocket Blast Injures 30 In School

New York Mills, N.Y. (AP)—A model rocket that had failed to work during a science exhibition exploded Wednesday in a high school laboratory and injured the teacher and nearly 30 pupils. Two boys were injured seriously.

The blast, which shook a second-floor classroom of the public high school in this community west of Utica, sent the teacher and 10 pupils to St. Luke's Memorial Hospital in Utica. All but four in seri condition were treated and discharged.

J. William Quinn, supervising principal, and Capt. John Miller of the state police said a propellant had been mixed to fire it in a field near the school Wednesday, a teacher told the pupils to remove the propellant, they said.

The pupils were trying to remove the propellant when it exploded.

About 18 other pupils received treatment at the scene for shock and cuts from flying glass.

"I don't know just why it exploded," Gary R. Quick, the teacher, said of the 18-inch-long, metal-cased rocket, made by the class.

Quick told reporters the class "was clearing away the science fair when it happened."

Iowa Indian Tribe Given $1,372,267

Rulo (AP)—The Indian Claims Commission in Washington has given its final approval to a $1,372,267 claim of the Iowa Indian Tribe.

Word of the judgment has been received by Forrest Fee, tribal secretary, who lives on the reservation southeast of here. The claim still requires congressional approval of funds to pay the bill.

The money will be divided among members of the Iowa tribe, a number of whom live in this area, on a basis yet to be decided by the registered voting members of the tribe.

The settlement is based on a price of about 59 cents an acre for land east of the Missouri River in northwest Missouri and southwest Iowa, which was ceded to the government by the Indians in the 1830s. The present judgment is based on the fact that the government paid the Indian tribes only four to 25 cents an acre for several thousand acres which were worth an average of $1.25 an acre at the time.

There are about 500 eligible voting members of the Iowa tribe now on record. They live mostly in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Hearing Slated For Watershed In Tekamah Area

Tekamah — The Burt Soil and Water Conservation District will hold an open hearing on April 6 to determine the need for a Watershed Conservancy District for the Tekamah-Mud Creek watershed.

The hearing will be open to all resident taxpayers living within the watershed. The proposed district will be a subdistrict of the Burt County district.

The new district will provide legal authority to resident taxpayers to carry out watershed conservation and flood protection programs.

Counseling Specialists To Confer At McCook

McCook (UPI) — The Nebraska Personnel and Guidance Association will hold its 12th annual convention at the McCook High School Friday and Saturday.

The organization represents some 400 counseling specialists in education, private industry and government. General theme for the meeting will be "The Nebraska Guidance Scene: Present and Future."

2 Speeds during both wash and spin—normal speed for vigorous washing action; slow speed gives gentle agitation to remove dirt from your most fragile fabrics

3 Cycles: Normal, Delicate and Wash and Wear provide safe washing for all your washable fabrics

Special Wash and Wear Cycle. Cool-down rinse during Wash and Wear cycle lowers temperature of clothes, prevents spin-set wrinkles

3 Wash-Water Temperatures: Hot, warm and cold. Dial perfect wash-water temperature for any fabrics

Built-in Lint Filter. Works full time at any water level to trap lint. Slides out for easy cleaning

In addition, this Kenmore features a 6-vane agitator that creates surging action, circulating water thoroughly to get clothes truly clean. The safety lid switch stops spinning action when lid is raised. Porcelain-finished top and lid—durable and they wipe clean with a damp cloth. And, to make washing easier and safer for fabrics, Sears places instructions permanently on inside lid. Come in for a free demonstration!

NASP Aids Negro Scholars

Chicago (UPI) — More than 200 outstanding Negro high school seniors will share in a $1 million college scholarship fund, officials of the National Achievement Scholarship Program (NASP) announced Wednesday.

The 225 winners — including four sets of twins — were chosen from 4,200 applicants representing 1,300 high schools.

All scholarships cover a four-year enrollment at the student's chosen college. Individual scholars will receive $250 to $1,500 annually, depending on their yearly needs.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corp., parent of the newly founded NASP, revealed the winners' names.

Candidates for the awards took a battery of competitive exams in four geographic regions set up in proportion to the distribution of local Negro populations.

Largest number of regional winners—76—came from a 14-state area stretching from the Atlantic coast to Illinois and Wisconsin. Deep South winners numbered 62, while only 21 west of the Mississippi will draw the cash prizes.

Virginia led the states with the greatest number of scholarship winners, 21. New York followed with 19, Alabama 15, District of Columbia 15, Illinois 14 and Texas 11. Ohio, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania each placed 10 students on the winning rolls.

Ouster Joke

Chandigarh, India (AP) — A practical joker succeeded too well in the Punjab state legislature when he circulated a petition demanding ouster of Chief Minister Ram Kishen. It got 60 signatures—two-thirds of Kishen's party representation—before the jokester overtook and withdrew it. Kishen was not amused.

SPRING

comes to the suburban areas

We have a great and wonderful message to relay to you this morning—Winter will return in a day or so—APRIL FOOL!

Quite the opposite, in fact, Spring has finally decided to surround us. Once again you will feel like exploring the outdoors and really living it up.

The social calendars in Suburbia, which we will open up for your observation in just a moment, will reveal activity is functioning full speed ahead.

PARK MANOR

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams will begin the exciting news this morning with the announcement that they observed their 32nd wedding anniversary.

The celebration took place last evening at the East Hills Supper Club. Accompanying the celebrants were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Erickson. The evening included dinner dancing and entertainment.

But we are not through reporting the news from the Williams home. Last weekend the busy couple drove to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams, Jr. and their children, Earl III (better known as Denny), Jeffrey, Susan Jean, Mary, and Katie. Although Susan Jean will be having a birthday this Saturday, a family celebration took place last weekend so that her grandparents could attend.

It will be time to get out the decks of cards this Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fotinos entertain the Pinochle Club at their home. The pinochle games will be followed by a snack supper.

Guests who will be present for the evening affair are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. James Bowmaster, Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Foss, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Arell Anderson.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

We might call the main dish served at the William Maly home last Saturday evening, chicken and rice a la foreign. The chef for the evening was Nirmal Mischra, a foreign student from India, who is studying veterinary medicine and parasitology at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maly and their children, Randy, Rhonda, Rory, Reed and Regen are the official host family to the student from India.

The moving vans headed for Bethany Park Heights last week when Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bensal and their two children, Therese and Michael, made the move from their former home in Ames, Iowa. Mr. Bensal is associated with the Bureau of Public Roads in Lincoln. Mrs. Bensal tells us they are enjoying Lincoln and their new address—6900 Lynn.

Syracuse will be the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nelson on Saturday, when they will spend the day visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nissen. Although the visit will only be for a day, the Nelsons agree that it's hard to resist getting out on the road and enjoying visits with friends.

TALK

around the town

Since there have been no recent predictions for a deluge of that white stuff that has given us problems most of the winter, we suspect that some of the winter vacationists will be wending their way homeward before long. We have in mind those who hied themselves off to warm and sunny climes for the 'duration.'

* * *

But not everyone chose a mild and sunny climate for a holiday. Mrs. William Evan Benjamin, for instance. Mrs. Benjamin is just home from a five weeks stay on the east coast where headquarters — at least as far as weekends were concerned was Darien, Conn. But Darien, Conn., as the crow flies, is just a stone's throw from New York City where Mrs. Benjamin spent considerable time haunting the art galleries, and attending Broadway shows.

It was Colorado Springs for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams who are back in town after a 10-day stay at the Broadmoor.

* * *

We hear that Mrs. James Bennett of Oklahoma City, Okla., 'jetted' in on Wednesday for a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Clarence Hinds, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinds.

Mrs. Bennett will leave on Sunday to return home.

* * *

The feminine golfers at the LCC are busy with plans these days—but not for a tournament. The group is sponsoring a luncheon and fashion show at the Lincoln Country Club on Saturday, April 10.

PLANS

a wedding in June

Of interest to both town and campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Morris of Wayne, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lorraine, to David Roderick Gibb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Gibb of Lincoln.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, June 19, and the ceremony will solemnized at the First Methodist Church in Wayne.

Miss Morris is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Mu Phi Epsilon, professional music sorority. Mr. Gibb also is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

To Be Hostess

Mrs. Frank Morrison will be hostess to the members of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club next Monday at the Governor's Mansion. The group will meet for a 12:30 o'clock luncheon.

BRIDES

and 'thank you' notes

Giving may be more blessed than receiving, but few things about a wedding are more pleasurable to the bride-to-be than receiving wedding presents from friends and relatives. Not only are these gifts the things that will enhance her new home and become family treasures, but they are tangible evidence of friendship and love.

TRADITIONAL GIFTS

Many of the bride's gifts are traditional, dating back for centuries. The parents' gift of sterling flatware to their daughter is one of these. It comes from the ancient Greek custom of the dowry that called for the father to give part of his worldly wealth to his daughter upon her wedding. Sometimes the gift was in coins but more often it was household goods in silver and gold.

Along with the joys of receiving wedding gifts come certain responsibilities—mostly involving expressions of gratitude. Most bridal consultants suggest the following as the bride's responsibilities.

WHO GAVE WHAT

The best way to keep track of gifts is to set up a card file or a Bride's Book in which you can record the name of the giver and the gift. Have some numbered labels on hand, too. Then, as a gift arrives, paste a number on it, list it in the book, with number corresponding to the pasted-on label. This way, there will be no doubt as to who gave you what.

THANK-YOU NOTES

All gifts must be acknowledged individually with a note handwritten by you—never by your mother or a friend. Use tasteful, personal note paper—plain white is preferred, but you may use gray, cream of pale blue. Printed forms are never correct.

The note itself can be quite short but should be genuine and sincerely express your gratitude. Mention the giver's gift and try to tell how you plan to use it or where you will put it in your new home. If the gift arrives before you are married, sign your maiden name. Notes sent after the wedding would, of course, be signed with your married name.

The best way to keep up with thank-you notes, is to write them as soon as the gifts arrive. Occasionally, a bride will receive so many gifts, it obviously will take her months to acknowledge all of them. Since some people worry about their gift's safe arrival, the bride can send out engraved cards acknowledging the receipt of the gift with a promise of a personal note to follow. These acknowledgment cards should be used ONLY in case of emergency and never as a delaying action or in place of thank-you notes.

THE GIFT DISPLAY

Everyone will want to see your presents and it is a courtesy that you should extend to all involved with the wedding. Wedding gifts are displayed in the home—never in a hotel or country club. If you are having the wedding reception at home, guests may see them at that time. If your reception is not being held at home, plan to have an open house a few days before the wedding so friends and relatives may see your gifts.

If at all possible, one entire room should be devoted to the gift display—a bedroom or a playroom would be fine. Arrange the furniture so that guests can move freely and set up card tables with long white tablecloths or, if these are not available, use clean white sheeting. If you like, decorate the tables with flowers and greenery.

Group like things together—sterling silver and other table accessories in one place, linens in another, etc. Avoid placing a modest present next to an extravagant one, and never display duplicate gifts. If your parents give you a sterling service for eight, display only one place setting unless the sterling is in a chest. Then the entire chest may be displayed. Individual gifts of serving pieces, however, should be set out. Never include gift cards in the display—this tends to invite comparison, and besides, it gives the display a cluttered look. Name cards may be used to indicate checks, such as "Check from Mr. and Mrs. Herbert". Never show the amount of a check.

It's always wise to take out a temporary floater policy insuring your gifts. If you have a large display of many expensive gifts, you might want to hire a guard while crowds are in the house.

Remember that a wedding gift display is not vulgar—it is a courtesy to gift givers, and it is something you, as well as the viewers, should enjoy.

an extra-special pie

A rich chocolate filling in a graham cracker crumb crust flecked with coconut is only the beginning of this delectable two-tone pie. The topping is a swirl of coffee-flavored fluff. Serve it soon and make even the simplest meal a memorable occasion.

COFFEE FUDGE PIE

1 packet graham crackers, finely rolled (about 1⅔ cups crumbs)
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup flaked coconut
¼ cup butter or margarine, softened
2 4-ounce bars sweet chocolate, broken into small pieces
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup light cream
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons instant coffee
½ cup sugar
½ cup commercial sour cream
Cinnamon-sugar (optional)

Blend together graham cracker crumbs, ¼ cup sugar, coconut and butter or margarine. Press firmly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate (The easy way is to use an 8-inch pie plate.) Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 minutes. Cool. In top of double boiler, combine chocolate, 2 tablespoons sugar and cream. Heat over hot water until chocolate has melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Blend in slightly beaten egg yolks and vanilla. Cool slightly, stirring occasionally. Pour into pie crust. Allow to set. Soften gelatine in water. Stir in instant coffee. Place container in a pan of hot water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Cool. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in ½ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Gradually beat in cooled gelatine mixture. Fold in sour cream. Spoon over top of chocolate filling. If desired, spinkle top with cinnamon-sugar. Chill for 4 hours or overnight. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Decor Change Coming

Traditionally, fashions for women are regarded as a sort of barometer indicating what fashions for the home will be. About the time females began wearing slacks, for example, the swing to modernistic furniture got underway.

When Paris designers dictated the "sportive look" for the ladies, interior designers followed with emphasis on the "country look" for the home and even for the city apartment.

"Now it appears we're in for yet another change of direction," observed an interior design consultant upon reviewing late reports from the world of haute couture.

"If Paris has its way—and it probably will, ladies will soon be returning to the strictly ladylike look, complete with flowing gowns and even ruffles. Thus we can expect a growing trend toward more softness and grace in decorating and home furnishings."

ABBY

quite a variety of views

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years, and have been tempted many times to write but, today, I can no longer restrain myself.

The letter "FOR PRAYER" sends me into action. The writer (along with many others) has obviously misinterpreted the Supreme Court's ruling to ban prayers in the public schools.

The ruling does NOT forbid prayer in the public schools. It merely places a ban on prayers composed, prescribed or recommended by any agency, teacher or employe of the government. In other words, it is an effort to keep the State and Church separated. Since, in our public schools, we have children whose religious beliefs differ, the Supreme Court ruled that in fairness to ALL, no ONE prayer should be THE prescribed prayer for use in our public schools.

Sincerely,
MRS. J. A. C.

DEAR ABBY: "FOR PRAYER" said he wished that we would go back to the "old way" and return prayers to our public schools. I hope you'll give equal voice to those of us who are also "FOR PRAYER"—but not in our public schools.

I say if children pray at home and in church, they don't need to pray in school. And if they don't pray at home or in church, why should they be expected to pray in school? When "FOR PRAYER" speaks of the "old way," I wonder how "old" he means. I am 33 and I have never prayed in school. We pledged allegiance to the flag, and at that time the phrase "under God" was not part of it. It is as out of place to pray in public school as it is to do arithmetic in church. So how old is "old-timer"—or did I go to an unusual school?

A SGT.,
FT. BENNING, GA.

DEAR SGT. : I went to grammar school in Sioux City, Iowa, and I recall having been led in The Lord's Prayer by Miss Nettie Olson, my third grade teacher at Hunt School in 1927. It was obviously Miss Olson's idea because when I passed into the fourth grade, that teacher did not lead the class in prayer. And I can't recall ever having prayed in school with that one exception.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: "FOR PRAYER" is sadly misinformed. No law on earth can prevent anyone from praying whether he wishes. You see, a prayer can be silent communication with the Lord for the purpose of making a request, offering thanks, expressing adoration or even to make a confession. It need not be said aloud in a group led by a school teacher — nor should it be.

Yours very truly,
PRAYS ALONE

DEAR ABBY: I, for one, was glad to see the Supreme Court take prayers out of the public schools. I am now 50 years old, but I still vividly recall the discomfort endured by some of the Jewish children when the teacher who had charge of our school lunchroom made all the students bow their heads and thank their Lord, Jesus Christ, for the food they wer about to eat.

Opening lead—queen of clubs.

This deal comes from a team of four match. At both tables the final contract was six no-trump, but the slam was made at one table and defeated at the other.

At the first table declarer won the club with the king and cashed five heart tricks, East discarding two clubs and South discarding three spades. Declarer than took three rounds of diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 division, but it turned out that the diamonds were divided 4-2.

Undaunted by this development, South still made the contract. Spurning the possible spade finesse, he cashed the ace of clubs, and then exited with a diamond. East won with the jack, but was forced to lead a spade from the K-2 into dummy's A-Q. So South made the slam for a score of 1,440 points.

At the second table the play started the same way. South took the club lead and cashed five rounds of hearts, just as at the first table. But East, anticipating a possible endplay, discarded a spade and a club on the fourth and fifth hearts.

Declarer than cashed three top diamonds and the ace of clubs, arriving at the same position, with three tricks to go, as his opposite number at the first table.

South could now have made the slam by playing a spade to the ace and spearing the king, but he was not wearing his X-ray spectacles and proved unequal to the task.

In effect, he did what declarer had done at the first table. He threw East into the lead with a diamond, hoping for a forced spade return, but East produced a club after winning the diamond and South went down one.

It is hard to blame the declarer at the second table for failing to make the contract. He had a tough problem to solve, a problem which East at the second table was smart enough to create for him.

LIVE and LEARN

Dusting floors can be more work than is necessary. Now on the market is a new "king-size" mop which is over a foot long and nine inches wide. With just three swipes of the mop you can dust under beds, couches, and buffets.

Scratches on furniture do not have to be hidden any longer — not with the new scratch remover stick. This new product can be used on mahogany, walnut, oak, and all fine finishes. You simply rub the brush end of the stick lightly over the scratched areas and presto—no scratches. For deeply scarred furniture, use the stick end and then apply the brush.

No one should be without a bath brush —especially the new electric bath brush which is run by batteries. Not only will you have a clean back but this new invention also massages tired, aching muscles.

Designed especially for the feminine world are the new shower caps which completely cover the bouffant and puffy hairdos. The cap have long metal stays which hold the cap up and away from the hair.

Barbecue days are not too far in the dim and distant future—so now would be an ideal time to get the new safari grill which uses only newspaper for fuel.

All you do is light newspaper and start broiling and within seven minutes your food is ready to be served.

And along with the barbecue should come the relish tray complete with radish roses made with a rosemaker radish press. This new inexpensive gadget makes perfect rosebud radishes every time and all you do is push the radish down into the press.

NU Coeds Honored

Honored at a prenuptial courtesy on Wednesday evening was Miss Gayle Fiala of Omaha, coed at the University of Nebraska and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, who was presented a grocery shower at a party given by Miss Sandy Carson and Miss Ann Tolly.

The 20 guests included classmates and sorority sisters of the bride-elect, who has chosen May 1 as the date for her marriage to Bob Saffer of Omaha.

Miss Nancy Dayle Sterner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Sterner, was the guest of honor recently when the Towne Club at the University of Nebraska, of which Miss Sterner is a member, entertained at a prenuptial courtesy.

The university coed has chosen Saturday, April 17, as the date for her marriage to Glenn Russell Schaumburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Schaumburg.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Miss Sterner has named Miss Jan Johnson as her maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Pat Staska and Miss Sharon Weatherly, and Mrs. Richard Steuding will be bridesmatron.

Serving Mr. Schaumburg as best man will be Gary Starck, and included in the corps of ushers will be John Miller, Larry Herman, Don Walters and Harold Sterner.

Senior Tea

Entertaining at their annual tea honoring senior college women will be the members of the Lincoln Branch, American Association of University Women, who will be hostesses at the Governor's Mansion next Sunday afternoon.

Invited guests are senior women from the University of Nebraska, Nebraska Wesleyan University and Union College, who will be greeted by officers of the branch and Mrs. Merrill J. Hewitt of Omaha, state AAUW president.

Altrusa Anniversary

When the members of the Altrusa Club of Lincoln meet next Monday evening for dinner at the Kopper Kettle, the group will celebrate the 48th anniversary of the national organization at Nashville, Tenn., in 1917.

Following the 6 o'clock dinner, a special program will be held during which contributions will be made to the Founders Fund, a project providing cash awards to aid older women in vocational training.

A guest of the club will be Mrs. Pat Hernandez of The Philippines, graduate student at the University of Nebraska, in charge of arrangements will be Mrs. B. C. Grabill, Mrs. Arthur L. Hagan, Mrs. Paul Marti and Mrs. John Scott.

SPRING

comes to the suburban areas

We have a great and wonderful message to relay to you this morning—Winter will return in a day or so—APRIL FOOL!

Quite the opposite, in fact, Spring has finally decided to surround us. Once again you will feel like exploring the outdoors and really living it up.

The social calendars in Suburbia, which we will open up for your observation in just a moment, will reveal activity is functioning full speed ahead.

PARK MANOR

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams will begin the exciting news this morning with the announcement that they observed their 32nd wedding anniversary.

The celebration took place last evening at the East Hills Supper Club. Accompanying the celebrants were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Erickson. The evening included dinner dancing and entertainment.

But we are not through reporting the news from the Williams home. Last weekend the busy couple drove to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams, Jr. and their children, Earl III (better known as Denny), Jeffrey, Susan Jean, Mary, and Katie. Although Susan Jean will be having a birthday this Saturday, a family celebration took place last weekend so that her grandparents could attend.

It will be time to get out the decks of cards this Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fotinos entertain the Pinochle Club at their home. The pinochle games will be followed by a snack supper.

Guests who will be present for the evening affair are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. James Bowmaster, Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Foss, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Arell Anderson.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

We might call the main dish served at the William Maly home last Saturday evening, chicken and rice a la foreign. The chef for the evening was Nirmal Mischra, a foreign student from India, who is studying veterinary medicine and parasitology at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maly and their children, Randy, Rhonda, Rory, Reed and Regen are the official host family to the student from India.

The moving vans headed for Bethany Park Heights last week when Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bensal and their two children, Therese and Michael, made the move from their former home in Ames, Iowa. Mr. Bensal is associated with the Bureau of Public Roads in Lincoln. Mrs. Bensal tells us they are enjoying Lincoln and their new address—6900 Lynn.

Syracuse will be the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nelson on Saturday, when they will spend the day visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nissen. Although the visit will only be for a day, the Nelsons agree that it's hard to resist getting out on the road and enjoying visits with friends.

TALK

around the town

Since there have been no recent predictions for a deluge of that white stuff that has given us problems most of the winter, we suspect that some of the winter vacationists will be wending their way homeward before long. We have in mind those who hied themselves off to warm and sunny climes for the 'duration.'

* * *

But not everyone chose a mild and sunny climate for a holiday. Mrs. William Evan Benjamin, for instance. Mrs. Benjamin is just home from a five weeks stay on the east coast where headquarters — at least as far as weekends were concerned was Darien, Conn. But Darien, Conn., as the crow flies, is just a stone's throw from New York City where Mrs. Benjamin spent considerable time haunting the art galleries, and attending Broadway shows.

It was Colorado Springs for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams who are back in town after a 10-day stay at the Broadmoor.

* * *

We hear that Mrs. James Bennett of Oklahoma City, Okla., 'jetted' in on Wednesday for a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Clarence Hinds, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinds.

Mrs. Bennett will leave on Sunday to return home.

* * *

The feminine golfers at the LCC are busy with plans these days—but not for a tournament. The group is sponsoring a luncheon and fashion show at the Lincoln Country Club on Saturday, April 10.

PLANS

a wedding in June

Of interest to both town and campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Morris of Wayne, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lorraine, to David Roderick Gibb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Gibb of Lincoln.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, June 19, and the ceremony will solemnized at the First Methodist Church in Wayne.

Miss Morris is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Mu Phi Epsilon, professional music sorority. Mr. Gibb also is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

To Be Hostess

Mrs. Frank Morrison will be hostess to the members of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club next Monday at the Governor's Mansion. The group will meet for a 12:30 o'clock luncheon.

BRIDES

and 'thank you' notes

Giving may be more blessed than receiving, but few things about a wedding are more pleasurable to the bride-to-be than receiving wedding presents from friends and relatives. Not only are these gifts the things that will enhance her new home and become family treasures, but they are tangible evidence of friendship and love

TRADITIONAL GIFTS

Many of the bride's gifts are traditional, dating back for centuries The parents' gift of sterling flatware to their daughter is one of these. It comes from the ancient Greek custom of the dowry that called for the father to give part of his worldly wealth to his daughter upon her wedding. Sometimes the gift was in coins but more often it was household goods in silver and gold.

Along with the joys of receiving wedding gifts come certain responsibilities—mostly involving expressions of gratitude. Most bridal consultants suggest the following as the bride's responsibilities.

WHO GAVE WHAT

The best way to keep track of gifts is to set up a card file or a Bride's Book in which you can record the name of the giver and the gift. Have some numbered labels on hand, too. Then, as a gift arrives, paste a number on it, list it in the book, with number corresponding to the pasted-on label. This way, there will be no doubt as to who gave you what.

THANK-YOU NOTES

All gifts must be acknowledged individually with a note handwritten by you—never by your mother or a friend. Use tasteful, personal note paper—plain white is preferred, but you may use gray, cream of pale blue. Printed forms are never correct

The note itself can be quite short but should be genuine and sincerely express your gratitude. Mention the giver's gift and try to tell how you plan to use it or where you will put it in your new home. If the gift arrives before you are married, sign your maiden name. Notes sent after the wedding would, of course, be signed with your married name.

The best way to keep up with thank-you notes, is to write them as soon as the gifts arrive. Occasionally, a bride will receive so many gifts, it obviously will take her months to acknowledge all of them. Since some people worry about their gift's safe arrival, the bride can send out engraved cards acknowledging the receipt of the gift with a promise of a personal note to follow. These acknowledgment cards should be used ONLY in case of emergency and never as a delaying action or in place of thank-you notes.

THE GIFT DISPLAY

Everyone will want to see your presents and it is a courtesy that you should extend to all involved with the wedding. Wedding gifts are displayed in the home—never in a hotel or country club. If you are having the wedding reception at home, guests may see them at that time. If your reception is not being held at home, plan to have an open house a few days before the wedding so friends and relatives may see your gifts.

If at all possible, one entire room should be devoted to the gift display—a bedroom or a playroom would be fine. Arrange the furniture so that guests can move freely and set up card tables with long white tablecloths or, if these are not available, use clean white sheeting. If you like, decorate the tables with flowers and greenery.

Group like things together—sterling silver and other table accessories in one place, linens in another, etc. Avoid placing a modest present next to an extravagant one, and never display duplicate gifts. If your parents give you a sterling service for eight, display only one place setting unless the sterling is in a chest. Then the entire chest may be displayed. Individual gifts of serving pieces, however, should be set out. Never include gift cards in the display—this tends to invite comparison, and besides, it gives the display a cluttered look. Name cards may be used to indicate checks, such as "Check from Mr. and Mrs. Herbert". Never show the amount of a check.

It's always wise to take out a temporary floater policy insuring your gifts. If you have a large display of many expensive gifts, you might want to hire a guard while crowds are in the house.

Remember that a wedding gift display is not vulgar—it is a courtesy to gift givers, and it is something you, as well as the viewers, should enjoy.

Courtesies For Brides-Elect

An April bride-elect who has been honored at several courtesies in recent weeks is Miss Romaine Ellen Hoffman, whose marriage to Roger Gene Vest will take place on Saturday, April 10.

Entertaining for Miss Hoffman last Friday evening was Mrs. Elmer Gesch who was hostess at the home of Mrs. Albert L. Vest, Jr., mother of Miss Hoffman's fiance. A miscellaneous shower was presented to the soon-to-be bride.

On Monday evening, March 15, Mrs. Duane Hoffman was hostess at her home to feminine members of the family honoring Miss Hoffman.

A bride-to-be of late April who will be honored next Tuesday is Miss LaRae Haurigan, who will be presented a miscellaneous shower at a party for which Mrs. Norman R. Hoelk will be hostess at her home. Twenty-four guests have been invited for an informal evening.

Miss Haurigan, who will marry David Ebken on April 24, also will be the guest of honor on Thursday, April 8, when Mrs. Kenneth Clinefelter, Mrs. Carl Witt, Mrs. Fred Holton and Mrs. Robert Heilig will entertain at a kitchen shower.

Mrs. Perry Hanneman entertained for the bride-elect last Tuesday evening when she was hostess to 24 guests at a shower at her home.

Ornamental Living Plants Now Have Functional Uses

The use of living plants in decorating plans is not solely ornamental. Plantings have become functional!

Consider color — one of the most important features of any room setting. Plants in natural terra cotta pots can enhance or keynote any color scheme. If your upholstered pieces, draperies, floor coverings, are monotone, then plants as well as accessories can supply needed contrast. Or you can pick up your strong color with potted flowering plants to reinforce your decorative effect.

Large green plants soften the boxy, sharp look of contemporary furnishings. And smaller plants add a natural look to sometimes too-formal period rooms.

Plants, of both the flowering and foliage variety, not only provide subtle differences, they often serve as important pieces of "furniture."

They can separate two living areas as the center of interest in room dividers. And in these days of mammoth wall units, plants are increasingly important to break the monotony of straight lines of shelving.

Potted foliage plants plunged into built-in planters often solve the problem of what to place against the long walls of narrow foyers or entryways.

Another interesting "architectural" treatment is a built-in ceramic tile planter that runs along the wall of the room, with wells for plunging clay-potted plants and a surface that can hold additional plants, as well as being a perfect showcase for a collection of sculpture or curios. Overhead lighting can supply the necessary "sun" for plant growth.

And, an awkward corner in the living room turns into a decorative "plus" with one of the larger foliage plants, set directly on the floor, to add a "finished" look.

Living plants more than repay you in warmth and beauty for the care they require. Just make sure that your plants are professionally grown and conditioned in porous pots and follow your florist's instructions on their light and water needs.

Officers

At the annual spring meeting of the Nebraska Society, Daughters of Colonial Wars, held recently in Omaha, Mrs. Francis F. Birnbaumer of Lincoln was elected state president.

Other officers named are Mrs. E. O. Arb, vice president; Mrs. W. Lee Smith, chaplain; Mrs. Charles Laughlin, recording secretary; Mrs. James Suttie, treasurer; Miss Ruth Sumner, registrar, all of Omaha; Miss Pearl Freeman, Columbus, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Joel McLafferty, Lincoln, historian.

Councilors will be Mrs. Horace Cary, Kearney; Miss Janet McDonald, North Platte; Mrs. A. J. Rasmussen, Omaha; Mrs. Byron Worrall, Portland, Ore.; and Miss Jeanette Spealman, Lincoln.

Guest Luncheon

The Gothenburg Woman's Club entertained members of the Cozad and Brady Women's Clubs at the March meeting of the organization at which a special guest was Mrs. Walter R. Kirchhefer of Sutton, state president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs.

Following a 1 o'clock salad buffet, held at the Gothenburg Methodist Church, Mrs. Kirchhefer spoke to the group.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Herbert J. Duis, Mrs. Glenn Bullock, Mrs. Elmer Klein, Mrs. Walter Witte and Mrs. C. H. Fiese.

an extra-special pie

A rich chocolate filling in a graham cracker crumb crust flecked with coconut is only the beginning of this delectable two-tone pie. The topping is a swirl of coffee-flavored fluff. Serve it soon and make even the simplest meal a memorable occasion.

COFFEE FUDGE PIE

1 packet graham crackers, finely rolled (about 1⅔ cups crumbs)
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup flaked coconut
¼ cup butter or margarine, softened
2 4-ounce bars sweet chocolate, broken into small pieces
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup light cream
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons instant coffee
½ cup sugar
½ cup commercial sour cream
Cinnamon-sugar (optional)

Blend together graham cracker crumbs, ¼ cup sugar, coconut and butter or margarine. Press firmly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate (The easy way is to use an 8-inch pie plate.) Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 minutes. Cool. In top of double boiler, combine chocolate, 2 tablespoons sugar and cream. Heat over hot water until chocolate has melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Blend in slightly beaten egg yolks and vanilla. Cool slightly, stirring occasionally. Pour into pie crust. Allow to set. Soften gelatine in water. Stir in instant coffee. Place container in a pan of hot water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Cool. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in ½ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Gradually beat in cooled gelatine mixture. Fold in sour cream. Spoon over top of chocolate filling. If desired, spinkle top with cinnamon-sugar. Chill for 4 hours or overnight. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Decor Change Coming

Traditionally, fashions for women are regarded as a sort of barometer indicating what fashions for the home will be. About the time females began wearing slacks, for example, the swing to modernistic furniture got underway.

When Paris designers dictated the "sportive look" for the ladies, interior designers followed with emphasis on the "country look" for the home and even for the city apartment.

"Now it appears we're in for yet another change of direction," observed an interior design consultant upon reviewing late reports from the world of haute couture.

If Paris has its way—and it probably will, ladies will soon be returning to the strictly ladylike look, complete with flowing gowns and even ruffles. Thus we can expect a growing trend toward more softness and grace in decorating and home furnishings."

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years, and have been tempted many times to write but, today, I can no longer restrain myself.

The letter "FOR PRAYER" sends me into action. The writer (along with many others) has obviously misinterpreted the Supreme Court's ruling to ban prayers in the public schools.

The ruling does NOT forbid prayer in the public schools. It merely places a ban on prayers composed, prescribed or recommended by any agency, teacher or employe of the government. In other words, it is an effort to keep the State and Church separated. Since, in our public schools, we have children whose religious beliefs differ, the Supreme Court ruled that in fairness to ALL, no ONE prayer should be THE prescribed prayer for use in our public schools.

Sincerely,
MRS. J. A. C.

DEAR ABBY: "FOR PRAYER" said he wished that we would go back to the "old way" and return prayers to our public schools. I hope you'll give equal voice to those of us who are also "FOR PRAYER"—but not in our public schools.

I say if children pray at home and in church, they don't need to pray in school. And if they don't pray at home or in church, why should they be expected to pray in school? When "FOR PRAYER" speaks of the "old way," I wonder how "old" he means. I am 33 and I have never prayed in school. We pledged allegiance to the flag, and at that time the phrase "under God" was not part of it. It is as out of place to pray in public school as it is to do arithmetic in church. So how old is "old-timer"—or did I go to an unusual school?

A SGT.,
FT. BENNING, GA.

DEAR SGT. : I went to grammar school in Sioux City, Iowa, and I recall having been led in The Lord's Prayer by Miss Nettie Olson, my third grade teacher at Hunt School in 1927. It was obviously Miss Olson's idea because when I passed into the fourth grade, that teacher did not lead the class in prayer. And I can't recall ever having prayed in school with that one exception.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: "FOR PRAYER" is sadly misinformed. No law on earth can prevent anyone from praying whether he wishes. You see, a prayer can be silent communication with the Lord for the purpose of making a request, offering thanks, expressing adoration or even to make a confession. It need not be said aloud in a group led by a school teacher — nor should it be.

Yours very truly,
PRAYS ALONE

DEAR ABBY: I, for one, was glad to see the Supreme Court take prayers out of the public schools. I am now 50 years old, but I still vividly recall the discomfort endured by some of the Jewish children when the teacher who had charge of our school lunchroom made all the students bow their heads and thank their Lord, Jesus Christ, for the food they wer about to eat.

Opening lead—queen of clubs

This deal comes from a team of four match. At both tables the final contract was six no-trump, but the slam was made at one table and defeated at the other.

At the first table declarer won the club with the king and cashed five heart tricks, East discarding two clubs and South discarding three spades. Declarer than took three rounds of diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 division, but it turned out that the diamonds were divided 4-2.

Undaunted by this development, South still made the contract. Spurning the possible spade finesse, he cashed the ace of clubs, and then exited with a diamond. East won with the jack, but was forced to lead a spade from the K-2 into dummy's A-Q. So South made the slam for a score of 1,440 points.

At the second table the play started the same way. South took the club lead and cashed five rounds of hearts just as at the first table. But East, anticipating a possible endplay, discarded a spade and a club on the fourth and fifth hearts.

Declarer than cashed three top diamonds and the ace of clubs, arriving at the same position, with three tricks to go, as his opposite number at the first table.

South could now have made the slam by playing a spade to the ace and spearing the king, but he was not wearing his X-ray spectacles and proved unequal to the task.

In effect, he did what declarer had done at the first table. He threw East into the lead with a diamond, hoping for a forced spade return, but East produced a club after winning the diamond and South went down one.

It is hard to blame the declarer at the second table for failing to make the contract. He had a tough problem to solve, a problem which East at the second table was smart enough to create for him.

Dusting floors can be more work than is necessary. Now on the market is a new "king-size" mop which is over a foot long and nine inches wide. With just three swipes of the mop you can dust under beds, couches, and buffets.

Scratches on furniture do not have to be hidden any longer — not with the new scratch remover stick. This new product can be used on mahogany, walnut, oak, and all fine finishes. You simply rub the brush end of the stick lightly over the scratched areas and presto—no scratches. For deeply scarred furniture, use the stick end and then apply the brush.

No one should be without a bath brush —especially the new electric bath brush which is run by batteries. Not only will you have a clean back but this new invention also massages tired, aching muscles.

Designed especially for the feminine world are the new shower caps which completely cover the bouffant and puffy hairdos. The cap have long metal stays which hold the cap up and away from the hair.

Barbecue days are not too far in the dim and distant future—so now would be an ideal time to get the new safari grill which uses only newspaper for fuel.

All you do is light newspaper and start broiling and within seven minutes your food is ready to be served.

And along with the barbecue should come the relish tray complete with radish roses made with a rosemaker radish press. This new inexpensive gadget makes perfect rosebud radishes every time and all you do is push the radish down into the press.

NU Coeds Honored

Honored at a prenuptial courtesy on Wednesday evening was Miss Gayle Fiala of Omaha, coed at the University of Nebraska and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, who was presented a grocery shower at a party given by Miss Sandy Carson and Miss Ann Tolly.

The 20 guests included classmates and sorority sisters of the bride-elect, who has chosen May 1 as the date for her marriage to Bob Saffer of Omaha.

Miss Nancy Dayle Sterner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Sterner, was the guest of honor recently when the Towne Club at the University of Nebraska, of which Miss Sterner is a member, entertained at a prenuptial courtesy.

The university coed has chosen Saturday, April 17, as the date for her marriage to Glenn Russell Schaumburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Schaumburg.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Miss Sterner has named Miss Jan Johnson as her maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Pat Staska and Miss Sharon Weatherly, and Mrs. Richard Steuding will be bridesmatron.

Serving Mr. Schaumburg as best man will be Gary Starck, and included in the corps of ushers will be John Miller, Larry Herman, Don Walters and Harold Sterner.

Senior Tea

Entertaining at their annual tea honoring senior college women will be the members of the Lincoln Branch, American Association of University Women, who will be hostesses at the Governor's Mansion next Sunday afternoon.

Invited guests are senior women from the University of Nebraska, Nebraska Wesleyan University and Union College, who will be greeted by officers of the branch and Mrs. Merrill J. Hewitt of Omaha, state AAUW president.

Altrusa Anniversary

When the members of the Altrusa Club of Lincoln meet next Monday evening for dinner at the Kopper Kettle, the group will celebrate the 48th anniversary of the national organization at Nashville, Tenn., in 1917.

Following the 6 o'clock dinner, a special program will be held during which contributions will be made to the Founders Fund, a project providing cash awards to aid older women in vocational training.

A guest of the club will be Mrs. Pat Hernandez of The Philippines, graduate student at the University of Nebraska, in charge of arrangements will be Mrs. B. C. Grabill, Mrs. Arthur L. Hagan, Mrs. Paul Marti and Mrs. John Scott.

Courtesies For Brides-Elect

An April bride-elect who has been honored at several courtesies in recent weeks is Miss Romaine Ellen Hoffman, whose marriage to Roger Gene Vest will take place on Saturday, April 10.

Entertaining for Miss Hoffman last Friday evening was Mrs. Elmer Gesch who was hostess at the home of Mrs. Albert L. Vest, Jr., mother of Miss Hoffman's fiance. A miscellaneous shower was presented to the soon-to-be bride.

On Monday evening, March 15, Mrs. Duane Hoffman was hostess at her home to feminine members of the family honoring Miss Hoffman.

A bride-to-be of late April who will be honored next Tuesday is Miss LaRae Haurigan, who will be presented a miscellaneous shower at a party for which Mrs. Norman R. Hoelk will be hostess at her home. Twenty-four guests have been invited for an informal evening.

Miss Haurigan, who will marry David Ebken on April 24, also will be the guest of honor on Thursday, April 8, when Mrs. Kenneth Clinefelter, Mrs. Carl Witt, Mrs. Fred Holton and Mrs. Robert Heilig will entertain at a kitchen shower.

Mrs. Perry Hanneman entertained for the bride-elect last Tuesday evening when she was hostess to 24 guests at a shower at her home.

Ornamental Living Plants Now Have Functional Uses

The use of living plants in decorating plans is not solely ornamental. Plantings have become functional!

Consider color — one of the most important features of any room setting. Plants in natural terra cotta pots can enhance or keynote any color scheme. If your upholstered pieces, draperies, floor coverings, are monotone, then plants as well as accessories can supply needed contrast. Or you can pick up your strong color with potted flowering plants to reinforce your decorative effect.

Large green plants soften the boxy, sharp look of contemporary furnishings. And smaller plants add a natural look to sometimes too-formal period rooms.

Plants, of both the flowering and foliage variety, not only provide subtle differences, they often serve as important pieces of "furniture."

They can separate two living areas as the center of interest in room dividers. And in these days of mammoth wall units, plants are increasingly important to break the monotony of straight lines of shelving.

Potted foliage plants plunged into built-in planters often solve the problem of what to place against the long walls of narrow foyers or entryways.

Another interesting "architectural" treatment is a built-in ceramic tile planter that runs along the wall of the room, with wells for plunging clay-potted plants and a surface that can hold additional plants, as well as being a perfect showcase for a collection of sculpture or curios. Overhead lighting can supply the necessary "sun" for plant growth.

And, an awkward corner in the living room turns into a decorative "plus" with one of the larger foliage plants, set directly on the floor, to add a "finished" look.

Living plants more than repay you in warmth and beauty for the care they require. Just make sure that your plants are professionally grown and conditioned in porous pots and follow your florist's instructions on their light and water needs.

2 Horses Killed At Fonner

Grand Island—Injuries sustained by two horses in a spill at Fonner Park Wednesday afternoon caused both horses to be killed.

The spill which took place in the sixth race involved Hearth Money, Prey, and their two jockeys Kenneth Hare and Ronald Alexander. Neither jockey was hurt.

Jockey Boyd Morris rode two winners including Irish Doc which was the winner of the first race in the daily double. The daily double paid $27.40 with Gray Shark winning the second.

Lincoln's Ude Keeps Singles Lead In ABC

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — Scoring fell off in the American Bowling Congress Tournament Wednesday and for the first time in six days there were no changes in the minor events standings.

Roger Tessman, a member of the ABC's home office staff in Milwaukee, led singles scoring with 608. He was far off the 689 pace set last Sunday by Dick Ude of Lincoln, Neb.

Ray Clark and Lew Diehl of Riverton, Wyo., led doubles scoring with 1,181, far short of overtaking Al Eckhoff and Les Sindidge of Springfield, Ill., who dominate the division with 1,230.

Gary Gervais of Minneapolis assembeld Wednesday's best all-events total, 1,763, but was no match for Bob Rehder of St. Paul, who leads the nine-game category with 1,861.

Petri's 70 Fires Houston To Lead In Golf Tourney

Houston (AP)—Randy Petri of the University of Houston fired a two-under-par 70 Wednesday for medalist honors in the All-America intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Petri's 70 helped his Cougar team to a first day lead in team play with a 292.

Four players were tied with 71s in individual play. They were Steve Lecrone and Jerry Hrcair of Texas Tech, Hale Irwin of Colorado and Ken Fulton of Arizona State.

—FINALE FOR MILWAUKEE—

Braves Could Leave City With Pennant

(16th of a Series)

West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP)—The last games the Braves play in Milwaukee could be the World Series.

This is the Braves' 13th and final season in Milwaukee. They will be playing their home games in Atlanta in 1966.

It is surprising how many experts regard the Braves as the team to beat for the National League pennant. There's no doubting the club's power. It scored the most runs in the league last year, was first in team batting and second in fielding.

No club played better ball in the last two weeks of the season. They were 14 games behind on Sept. 15 and won 14 of their next 17 games, ending only five games out in fifth.

Manager Bobby Bragan, however, speaks with cautious enthusiasm.

"Everyone likes to be respected," he said, "but I'd like to get a few answers first before I lay claim to any pennants.

"First, I'd like to know that Henry Aaron will be able to play 150 games for us.'

Aaron, perhaps baseball's most dangerous hitter, is recovering from surgery for removal of a small bone chip from his ankle. It is feared he may miss the first three weeks of the season.

"I'd like to know that our young starting staff has acquired confidence from the experience it gained last year."

Only the last-place New York Mets' pitchers had an earned run average higher than the Braves' 4.11. The front line consists of right-handers Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Bob Sadowski and left-handers Dennis Lemaster and Wade Blasingame. Blasingame is the youngest at 21, Sadowski the oldest at 27.

"I'd like to know that Billy O'Dell nad Dan Osinski will give us the bullpen protection we need, along with Bobby Tiefenauer."

"I'd like to know that Sandy Alomar will give Frank Bolling a real run for the second base job."

Bragan, on the theory that Bolling is no longer a full-time performer, is counting on Alomar for insurance.

"I'd like to know that our best defensive line-up is one which has Felipe Alou at first base, Lee Maye in center and Rico Carty in left."

Bragan tried Carty at first base in the early stages of spring training but the big fellow couldn't make the switch. Alou is the club's best defensive center fielder but he can play first better than any one else except Joe Torre, whom Bragan wants full-time at catcher.

Aaron, when he becomes available, third baseman Eddie Mathews, Torre, Carty, Maye, Alou and shortstop Dennis Menke, give the Braves the best scoring machine in the league.

Bragan also is enthusiastic over the versatility of his club. Gene Oliver, Ty Cline, Mike de la Hoz, Lou Klimchock, Gary Kolb, Menke, Alou and Torre each can play two or more positions.

"Because of the expanded schedule," said Bragan," it is almost a must for a club to have five or six players who can perform at more than one position."

Distance Events Bright Spot For State Preps

. . . MILE RECORD UNDER HEAVY FIRE

Fourth in a Series

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

With over half of the athletes who scored in last year's state meet returning, prospects in the distance running events are bright for Nebraska preps.

The record which will be under heaviest fire is the mile run mark of 4:24.9 set by Maywood's Warren Christensen in 1962.

Omaha Central junior Robert Allen has already battered that time in indoor competition this season and is regarded aa a good bet to become the state's first miler to dip below 4:20.

Allen, third in the Class A mile last year, had a best of 4:33.1 as a sophomore. Last week he ran 4:24.8 in edging Omaha Bishop Ryan's Elliott Evans (4:25.5). Only Scottsbluff's Allen Russell who turned in a 4:22.1 clocking in 1963, has had a better mark.

Evans, who won the state cross country title last fall, and Hastings' Tom Ackles, runnerup in the cross country meet, are expected to be Allen's chief competitors in Class A.

The lower classes are filled with milers who were in the 4:35-4:45 class last year. Several are likely to get under the 4:30 mark this year.

Gordon's Victor Black Elk returns to defend his Class B championship and Bayard's Frank Turja is back to defend his Class C mile title.

Ten others who scored in the Class B, C and D state finals also return.

In the 880 the strength may come from the Class B ranks. All five runners who scored in the Class B half-mile last year are back for further competition.

Bridgeport's Roger Schmidt is back to defend his Class B 880 crown and the Class C champ, John Keller of Harvard, also returns. Each will have difficulty in repeating as there are several runners n these classes who figure to crack the 2:00 mark.

Graduation took most of the 1964 quarter mile standouts, but there is one champion returning. He's Monte Binger of Hay Springs, the Class C winner.

As both the sprint and middle-distance fields are loaded, there is likely to be some shifting of talent into the 440.

YANK LOSSES END AT 4

Chisox Wins Stop At Five

. . . MANTLE MAKES 2 ERRORS

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox lost their five-game winning streak Wednesday while the New York Yankees escaped their four-game losing streak.

Houston defeated the White Sox 4-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Ken Johnson and Larry Dierker. The Yankees stopped Kansas City 6-3 despite five errors, two by left fielder Mickey Mantle.

Johnson pitched five perfect innings before giving up three hits and Chicago's only run in the sixth. Dierker hurled hitless ball for the final two innings. Rusty Staub hit a two-run Houston homer in the fourth.

The Yankees came from behind with four runs in the sixth, the last three coming on Tony Kubek's home run. One of Mantle's errors cost a run in the third.

Tommy Davis and Maury Wills each rapped two hits in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 7-3 victory over St. Louis. Davis also drove in two runs while raising his spring average to .424. Wills increased his to .488.

Minnesota knocked off Baltimore 5-1 as Harmon Killebrew hammered his first homer of the exhibition baseball season. The homer was a three-run blast in the third. Killebrew drove in a first-inning run with a single.

Denny McClain stopped Milwaukee on three hits through the first seven innings, leading Detroit to a 4-2 triumph. The Braves scored on Felipe Alou's two-run homer off McClain in the sixth.

Philadelphia jumped on Jim Maloney and walloped Cincinnati 10-1. Maloney pitched eight innings, giving up all of the Phillies' runs. Tony Gonzalez, Richie Allen and Tony Taylor each knocked in three runs.

Ed Bailey batted in three runs, two with a second-inning homer, in San Francisco's 6-3 victory over Boston.

Washington blanked the New York Mets 6-0 as Phil Ortega allowed only one hit—Ed Kranepool's fourth-inning single—in seven innings. Ken McMullen smacked a two-run homer for the Senators in the sixth.

Pirates Sign Clemente

Pittsburgh (AP)—Roberto Clemente, recoving from a fever but still underweight, has signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the baseball club said Wednesday.

Newly-Crowned Champ Wants Fights

. . . CHALLENGES CLAY, GIARDELLO, PATTERSON

New York (AP)— Jose Torres, boxing's newest Golden Boy, called himself "a great fighter" Wednesday and challenged heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, middleweight king Joey Giardello and former heavyweight ruler Floyd Patterson.

"I would like to fight Muhammad Ali Clay, Giardello and Patterson in that order," said the cocky, newly crowned light heavyweight champion who dethroned Willie Pastrano on a ninth-round technical knockout Tuesday night.

How did he think he would fare with the three?

"I feel I can knock them all out," replied Torres. "Muhammad Ali makes mistakes. He's easy to hit on the jaw by a fast puncher and I am the fastest. If he can be hit on the jaw he can be knocked out. We would make a lot of money.

"Giardello is a tough guy. But if you put a lot of pressure on him he will go.

"Patterson and I are friends. He would have to use psychology on himself to force himself to be mean. But I'll be mean, too. Patterson has been knocked out and I think I can do it, too."

Told that Nigerian Dick Tiger, the former world middleweight champion, and middleweight Florentinto Fernandez, the Cuban who knocked out Torres two years ago, wanted to fight him, the poised, articulate 175-pound champion replied:

"I'll fight anyone — Tiger, Fernandez, anyone."

Torres weighed 171¼ pounds in handing Pastrano such a bloody beating that the one-time boxing master probably will quit the ring.

Could Torres make the middleweight limit of 160 pounds?

"I can make it easy and be strong," the 28-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker said. "I can fight at 175 as a light heavy and at 182 as a heavy and be fast and strong."

There is nothing lined up for him at present, except a two-week vacation in Puerto Rico and another two-week holiday in Mexico.

Welterweight king Emile Griffith, who trounced Cuban Jose Stable in the first half of the championship doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, said he would like to fight Giardello for the middleweight title.

"That's my dream," said the Virgin Islands native. "I have defended against all the top men in my division. I don't duck anyone."

Asked about Texan Manuel Gonzalez, who won a disputed decision over the champion in Houston last Jan. 27, the dapper 27-year-old New Yorker said "I'd be happy to fight him for the title. Like I said, I don't duck anyone."

The first championship doubleheader ever in the Garden lured a crowd of 18,112 and a Garden record gate of $239,556 to continue the boxing boom here.

To keep the momentum going, matchmaker Teddy Brenner said he was hoping to sign Patterson and Canadian heavyweight king George Chuvalo for a return bout at the Garden May 10 or 17. Patterson whipped Chuvalo in a thriller that pulled a standing room crowd of 19,100 and $166,423 at the Garden Feb. 1.

"I think we will make it," said Brenner. "Patterson turned down Argentine Gregorio Peralta. He said he wanted Chuvalo. Chuvalo wants Patterson. Now we've got to sign them."

—ALL FLIGHTS 72 HOLES—

Men's City Tourney Lengthened For All

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

All Lincoln golfers, entering the men's city tournament this summer, will get to play 72 holes for the first time.

The decision was made Wednesday night at a meeting of the Lincoln Men's City Golf Association, meeting at the Lincoln Country Club.

In the past, only those golfers qualifying for the championship flight played a fourth round with all other flights being decided at the completion of 54 holes.

The 72-hole routine for all flights is made possible by the addition of Holmes Park to the rotation that includes the Lincoln Country Club, Hillcrest Country Club and Pioneers Park.

The field for the tourney, set for Aug. 10-13, will be split on the basis of handicaps for the second straight year with two courses in use each of the four days.

The 60% of the golfers with the lowest handicaps will play as one group while the remaining 40% will play as another group.

Action will open Aug. 10 with the low-handicap golfers playing the Lincoln Country Club while the higher-handicap golfers will play Hillcrest Country Club, the host club for the 1965 tournament.

The low-handicap golfers will then rotate to Pioneers for the second round on Wednesday, Holmes on Thursday and Hillcrest for the final 18.

The golfers with the higher handicaps will move from the opening round at Hillcrest to Holmes Park on Wednesday, Pioneers Thursday and Lincoln Country Club Friday.

Golfers will begin teeing off at 8 a.m. each day except for the high-handicap golfers at Holmes on Wednesday and at Pioneers on Thursday. Starting tee times at those two sites on those days will be 11:30 a.m.

This move was made to leave one of Lincoln's public courses open for regular play at all times.

The entry fee will remain at $12.50 and will include the Friday night banquet, slated for Hillcrest.

The association also set the rotation for the Lincoln Boys Junior Tournament to be held July 26-29, opening at the Lincoln Country Club, then moving to Hillcrest, Pioneers and Holmes for the windup.

Spring Sports Delayed

The start of spring sports in the Capital City, scheduled to get under way today, has been delayed by wet grounds.

Nebraska's baseball opener with South Dakota State has been postponed along with the Huskers' opening golf meet against Creighton and South Dakota, scheduled for Holmes Park.

Husker baseball coach Tony Sharpe said his team will try to play South Dakota State in a 1:30 p.m .doubleheader Friday and another twin bill at noon Saturday.

If the NU diamond can not be groomed into shape for the Friday doubleheader, an effort will be made to play twin bills Saturday and Monday.

The NU golf triangular has not been rescheduled yet.

Nebraska Wesleyan track coach Woody Greeno Wednesday night moved the opener for his Plainsman thinclads back a day.

Wesleyan was slated to meet Midland, Dana and North Dakota at Fremont Friday, but poor track conditions at Midland has forced the meet to be tentatively rescheduled for Saturday at Wesleyan's O. N. Magee Stadium.

Field events are set for 12:30 with running events at 1 p.m.

NWU's golf opener, set for today against Concordia at Pioneers, has been rescheduled for May 7, according to coach Don Ewen.

Holmes Park pro John Young said Wednesday he expected to open the municipal course the first part of next week with "a slight possibility of opening this weekend.

"If we can get more winds like we have today (Wednesday) along with some sunshine, we may be ready this weekend," Young suggested. "But golfers shouldn't make any big plans for this weekend."

John Peterson, pro at Pioneers, offered the same hope.

"We can be ready within a day or two after the frost gets out of the greens," Peterson pointed out. "There's a slight chance that could be this weekend, but it more likely will be next week."

Funseth Wins Pro-Amateur At Greensboro

Greensboro, N.C. (AP)—Rod Funseth, an alternate who got his chance to play after another professional dropped out, shot four-under-par 67 golf and won top money of $500 Wednesday in the $5,000 pro-amateur preceding the Greensboro Open which starts Thursday.

Funseth, who will be 33 Saturday, scored his first PGA tour victory in the Phoenix Open in February.

Tournament officials called him at his motel less than an hour before tee time with word that he could play because Dave Hill, the original starter in his place, did not show.

Funseth hustled out to the course and, without time for practice, toured the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club layout in 34-33, knocking two strokes off par on each nine. He had eight birdies, one on a putt of 45 feet, and two from 25.

Phil Rodgers, who lost an eight hole playoff at Wilmington, N.C., last Sunday in the Azalea tournament, shot 68 to tie Australian Kel Nagel for second place. Each won $400.

Six professionals were a stroke further back to win $241 each. They included Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, Joe Campbell, Stan Leonard, Mason Rudolph and Tommy Jacobs.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the postmarks and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Saari Favored In AAU Meet

. . . TWO FINALS SCHEDULED

New Haven, Conn. (AP)—Olympian Roy Saari, who scored triple victories in the NCAA swimming meet last week, opens the three-day National AAU competition Thursday defending his 1,650-yard freestyle title.

The 19-year-old Southern California junior has won the mile version of the freestyle the past three years. He is a solid favorite to repeat.

The 1,650-yard event is one of two titles up for grabs Thursday in Yale's 25-yard pool. The other is the 400-yard individual medley in which a new champion will be crowned.

Dick Roth, the Atherton, Calif., schoolboy who won in 1964, was forced out by tendonitis.

Saari's toughest competition could come from Guellermo Echevarria, 16-year-old Mexican Olympian.

A favorite to succeed Roth in the individual medley is Michigan's Carl Robie, another Olympian, if he passes up the 1,650 in which he is also entered. Other strong challengers include Indiana's Ralph Kenrick, Foothill Junior College's Ken Webb and Southern California Olympian Bob Bennett.

The meet has attracted 300 top swimmers and divers, including winners of 13 gold medals in the Tokyo Olympics.

Don Schollander returns to championship swimming Friday for the first time since he won four gold medals at Tokyo. He is scheduled to defend his 200-yard sprint title. It shapes up as a race between he and Saari, who won a gold and silver medal at Tokyo.

McKinney Beats Gunter; To Meet Trudeau In Finals

St. Augustine, Fla. (AP)—Bud McKinney of Dallas, Tex. defeated Douglas Gunter of Richmond, Va., 3 and 2 Wednesday in the semifinals of the Ponce de Leon Seniors Golf Tournament.

McKinney, medalist here and the Western Seniors champion, will meet Romeo Trudeau of Montreal, the Canadian Seniors champ, in the 18-hole finals Thursday on the 6,400-yard Ponce de Leon course.

Trudeau eliminated Oliver Latour of Needham, Mass., on the 19th hole.

ALL-NFL DEFENDER TO SPEAK AT YORK

York (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal defensive halfback Pat Fischer will be the featured speaker at the annual York High All-Sports Banquet Saturday night.

Fischer, a University of Nebraska graduate, was named to the National Football League's all-pro defensive team last season.

Former NU Gridders To Play At Clatonia

Clatonia—A team of former Nebraska football players will meet a Clatonia all-star team in basketball at 8 p.m. at the high school gym here tonight.

The gridders-turned-cagers are Dennis Claridge, Lloyd Voss, Larry Kramer, Kent McCloughan, Dave Theisen, Joe McNulty and Dennis Stuewe.

Ortiz Begins Training To Defend Boxing Title

Miami (AP) — Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz flies to Panama City Thursday to prepare for his April 10 title defense against Ismael Laguna. Ortiz' manager, Bill Daley, said Wednesday.

Lip Scoffs Idea Of Torres Match

Miami (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay laughed at the idea Wednesday of fighting the new light heavyweight king, Jose Torres.

"I heard him say something about the heavyweights on closed circuit TV last night," said Clay. "But I didn't think he was serious. I'd fight him if the public demanded it, but do you think it would? No, it would be no match, and no one would pay to see it."

Torres had just won the light heavyweight championship from Willie Pastrano in New York Tuesday night when he said he would like to challenge Clay.

"Torres is too small," said Clay, who is training here for his May 25 rematch with Sonny Liston at Boston. "He's just talking."

Margaret Smith Slips By Michigan Girl In Tennis

Mexico City (AP) — Top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia had to come from behind Wednesday to defeat Peaches Bartkowicz, Hamtramk, Mich., in the quarterfinals of the women's singles in the Mexican International Tennis Tournament 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Barkowicz took the first set by her smashing two-hand volley play.

Manuel Santana of Spain, top-seeded in the men's competition, defeated Carlos Schletweein, Mexico, 6-2, 6-2, and Australia's Fred Stolle, seeded No. 2, eliminated Harry Fouquier, Canada, 6-3, 6-4, in second round matches.

McCoy Opens Five-Pin Lead In Pro Classic

Hartford, Conn. (AP)—Jerry McCoy, a lefthander from Fort Worth, Tex., was the new leader Wednesday night at the halfway mark in the 24-game qualifier of the Professional Bowlers Association's $35,500 Insurance Classic.

McCoy had 2682 pins for 12 games which gave him a five-pin lead over first-round leader Pete Tountas of Hammond, Ind.

Revised Rule May Revive LSU Bandits

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—Under the revised substitution rules, three-team platoon football is coming back in style and down here in the bayous Coach Charlie McClendon of Louisiana State is brushing off the coolie hats of his Chinese Bandits.

The term, given to a defensive unit, was popularized by Paul Dietzel at LSU, with the help of McClendon, before Dietzel transferred to Army.

McClendon, preparing for spring training with a squad that many consider a contender for the national championship, is concentrating on platoon football.

"We're going to have to learn just how long a team—and each man on it—can stay in," the LSU coach said. "We're going to go with as many football players as we've got, whether it's 11, 22 or 33."

Under the new rules, unlimited substitution is permitted when the ball changes hands. But only two players may be inserted at a time while the ball remains in one team's possession.

Junior Johnson Will Quit Racing After '65 Season

Hampton, Ga. (AP)—Junior Johnson, 34-year-old veteran stock car driver, announced Wednesday he plans to quit racing after the 1965 season.

The Ronda, N.C., driver, a veteran of 15 years of racing, told of his decision as drizzling rains prevented qualifying for Sunday's Atlanta 500 from beginning at Atlanta International Raceway. The first 16 positions will be settled Thursday, weather permitting.

"I've been in auto racing so long that I've about lost interest in the driving part of it," Johnson said. "I'd like to quit .. . and this is going to be my last year."

Nebraskan Led Nation Trapshooters In 1964

Vandalia, Ohio (AP)—Bueford C. Bailey, a cattleman from Big Springs, Neb., led the nation's 16-yard Trapshooters in 1964, the Amateur Trapshooting Association said Wednesday.

Bailey had a .9921 mark on 2,900 clays to nose out Gene Sears of El Reno, Okla., who had a .9911 record on 2,800 targets. Third was the 1963 champion, C. E. Barnhart of Kansas Citoy, Mo., with .9902 on 4,800.

TATTERED WINNER

Juanito Jimento, an apprentice bullfighter, wound up with torn pants but finished off the bull during his performance in a Madrid, Spain, arena. The young matador was on the ground more often than standing up during the performance.

Lakers In Good Condition For Playoffs With Bullets

Los Angeles (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers, bracing for their National Basketball Association playoff series with Baltimore, are healthy and unconcerned about a 14-day layoff.

"The club will be ready to play a good ball game," said Coach Fred Schaus, referring to Saturday's Western Division final playoff opener with the Bullets, victors in the semifinals over St. Louis Tuesday night.

"We'll have our timing back," he said Wednesday.

The Lakers are healthy, even Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, the one-two punch that has averaged a combined 50 points a game.

Both wee hampered by sore knees near the end of the regular season and sat out several games.

Baylor's second finger on his left hand was hurt when wrestling for the ball and it was feared the veteran forward suffered a bad sprain. He was taken to a hospital.

"X-rays proved negative," Schaus said. "He'll be all right."

Schaus' team defeated Baltimore six out of 10 times during the season, but he said "you can't count on that now. It's all even again."

Schaus expects a "slambang series" with a fired-up Bullet team featuring a "tremendous starting five."

"Baltimore will be real tough for us or anybody to beat," he added.

The Lakers and Bullets will play a best-of-seven game series to determine the Western Division team to face the winner of a similar series in the Eastern Division.

The first two games, Saturday and Monday, will be played in Los Angeles. The third and fourth games will be in Baltimore, with the fifth game, if necessary, in Los Angeles. The sixth match would be in Baltimore and the seventh in Los Angeles.

Field Of 10 To 11 In Florida Derby

Miami (AP)—A field of 10 and possibly 11 shaped up Wednesday for Saturday's $100,000 added Florida Derby—a significant indicator of potential 3-year-old champions.

Native Charger, winner of the recent Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah, heads the probable field. Also expected to go are Hail to All, Sparkling Johnny, Gallant Lad, Gummo, Maribeau, Battle Star, Flyalong, Louis Arnold and Selari, with The Dancer a possibility.

With 11 going to post the purse would be $121,800 and the winning owner's share $81,800.

Peru—The Peru State high school invitational track meet scheduled Friday and Saturday has been cancelled.

The snow and cold weather which lingered through March made it impossible to get the track ready for the early-season meet.

Chamberlain Paces 76ers To Series Title Over Royals

. . . WILL MEET CELTICS FOR EAST TITLE

Philadelphia (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain scored 38 points and starred also on defense to lead Philadelphia to a 119-112 victory Wednesday night over Cincinnati as the 76ers won the Eastern semifinals playoff of the National Basketball association.

It was Philadelphia's third win against one defeat in the best-of-5 series. The 76ers now meet the champion Boston Celtics for the Eastern title in a seven-game series beginning Sunday at Boston.

Chamberlain, still hurting from a tender pancreas, was never better. He was a demon under the backboards, grabbing 26 rebounds, and blocked 10 Royals field goal attempts at they arched toward the basket. Two other blocks were called goal tending.

Even though the 7-foot-1 "big ddipper" sparkled, the victory was a team effort with Hal Greer collecting 25 points, Chet Walker 20 and Lucious Jackson 16.

Jerry Lucas, Cincinnati's deadeye outside shot, was high for the losers with 35 points. Oscar Robertson, a unanimous NBA All-Star choice, still seemed to be hurting from a sore right ankle but scored with 24.

It was the first victory at home for either club in the play-off series. Philadelphia had won twice before at Cincinnati and had lost at home to the Royals last week.

Cincinnati started off poorly, unable to find the basket. In the first eight minute, the Royals made only three of 21 field goal attempts and were down 19-10. But Cincinnati streaked midway in the second period and tied it at 44 on Lucas' foul throw.

Chamberlain then hit for two of his 10 free throws and also stuffed in a two-pointer to put the 76ers ahead to stay.

Bowling Bug Bites Ude Following 300

St. Paul, Minn.—When Dick Ude of Lincoln, Neb. was 18 years old he rolled a 300 game in an American Bowling Congress sanctioned league, and it was the turning point of his life.

"I was bitten by the bowling bug after that 300 and I fell in love with the sport so much that I now make my living in it," the 29-year-old Ude told reporters covering the 1965 ABC tournament now under way in St. Paul, Minn.

Ude was the object of attention when he fired a 689 series to take the early lead in the race for the regular division singles title in the 1965 ABC. Bowling's biggest showcase event opened in the St. Paul Auditorium on March 25 and will continue through May 31.

It took Ude, who now works as a lane maintenance man in Lincoln, 11 years from that teenage 300 to make his debut in an ACB tournament but his splendid string of 198, 224 and 267 for a hefty 689, gave him the singles lead Sunday.

Ude gave little indication of his coming strike spree when he opened his ABC appearance with a 484 in team and had then stepped up to 561 in the doubles. Then the 188 average Nebraskan started pounding the pocket in the singles and his 267 finishing game included six straight strikes to close it out.

Frick Says Lane Statement Untrue Regarding Shift

Kansas City (AP)—The Kansas City Star quoted Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, Wednesday as saying that if Frank Lane "has been quoted correctly" he has made an untrue statement concerning reported plans of Charles O. Finley to move the Athletics to Milwaukee when the Braves transfer to Atlanta.

The Star talked to Frick at Belleair, Fla., for comment after Lane, Finley's onetime general manager, was quoted as saying the A's owner was planning to move the club.

Finley, in Kansas City Tuesday, said he did not "wish to add any dignity to any silly, idiotic statements by Mr. Frank Lane."

2 Horses Killed At Fonner

Grand Island—Injuries sustained by two horses in a spill at Fonner Park Wednesday afternoon caused both horses to be killed.

The spill which took place in the sixth race involved Hearth Money, Prey, and their two jockeys Kenneth Hare and Ronald Alexander. Neither jockey was hurt.

Jockey Boyd Morris rode two winners including Irish Doc which was the winner of the first race in the daily double. The daily double paid $27.40 with Gray Shark winning the second.

The mutuel handle was down from the second day of racing last year at $124,000. Attendance at the races Wednesday totaled 3,201.

Lincoln's Ude Keeps Singles Lead In ABC

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — Scoring fell off in the American Bowling Congress Tournament Wednesday and for the first time in six days there were no changes in the minor events standings.

Roger Tessman, a member of the ABC's home office staff in Milwaukee, led singles scoring with 608. He was far off the 689 pace set last Sunday by Dick Ude of Lincoln, Neb.

Ray Clark and Lew Diehl of Riverton, Wyo., led doubles scoring with 1,181, far short of overtaking Al Eckhoff and Les Sindidge of Springfield, Ill., who dominate the division with 1,230.

Gary Gervais of Minneapolis assembeld Wednesday's best all-events total, 1,763, but was no match for Bob Rehder of St. Paul, who leads the nine-game category with 1,861.

Petri's 70 Fires Houston To Lead In Golf Tourney

Houston (AP)—Randy Petri of the University of Houston fired a two-under-par 70 Wednesday for medalist honors in the All-America intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Petri's 70 helped his Cougar team to a first day lead in team play with a 292.

Four players were tied with 71s in individual play. They were Steve Lecrone and Jerry Hrcair of Texas Tech, Hale Irwin of Colorado and Ken Fulton of Arizona State.

Distance Events Bright Spot For State Preps

. . . MILE RECORD UNDER HEAVY FIRE

Fourth in a Series

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

With over half of the athletes who scored in last year's state meet returning, prospects in the distance running events are bright for Nebraska preps.

The record which will be under heaviest fire is the mile run mark of 4:24.9 set by Maywood's Warren Christensen in 1962.

Omaha Central junior Robert Allen has already battered that time in indoor competition this season and is regarded aa a good bet to become the state's first miler to dip below 4:20.

Allen, third in the Class A mile last year, had a best of 4:33.1 as a sophomore. Last week he ran 4:24.8 in edging Omaha Bishop Ryan's Elliott Evans (4:25.5). Only Scottsbluff's Allen Russell who turned in a 4:22.1 clocking in 1963, has had a better mark.

Evans, who won the state cross ccuntry title last fall, and Hastings' Tom Ackles, runnerup in the cross country meet, are expected to be Allen's chief competitors in Class A.

The lower classes are filled with milers who were in the 4:35-4:45 class last year. Several are likely to get under the 4:30 mark this year.

Gordon's Victor Black Elk returns to defend his Class B championship and Bayard's Frank Turja is back to defend his Class C mile title.

Ten others who scored in the Class B, C and D state finals also return.

In the 880 the strength may come from the Class B ranks. All five runners who scored in the Class B half-mile last year are back for further competition.

Bridgeport's Roger Schmidt is back to defend his Class B 880 crown and the Class C champ, John Keller of Harvard, also returns. Each will have difficulty in repeating as there are several runners n these classes who figure to crack the 2:00 mark.

Graduation took most of the 1964 quarter mile standouts, but there is one champion returning. He's Monte Binger of Hay Springs, the Class C winner.

As both the sprint and middle-distance fields are loaded, there is likely to be some shifting of talent into the 440.

YANK LOSSES END AT 4

Chisox Wins Stop At Five

. . . MANTLE MAKES 2 ERRORS

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox lost their five-game winning streak Wednesday while the New York Yankees escaped their four-game losing streak.

Houston defeated the White Sox 4-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Ken Johnson and Larry Dierker. The Yankees stopped Kansas City 6-3 despite five errors, two by left fielder Mickey Mantle.

Johnson pitched five perfect innings before giving up three hits and Chicago's only run in the sixth. Dierker hurled hitless ball for the final two innings. Rusty Staub hit a two-run Houston homer in the fourth.

The Yankees came from behind with four runs in the sixth, the last three coming on Tony Kubek's home run. One of Mantle's errors cost a run in the third.

Tommy Davis and Maury Wills each rapped two hits in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 7-3 victory over St. Louis. Davis also drove in two runs while raising his spring average to .424. Wills increased his to .488.

Minnesota knocked off Baltimore 5-1 as Harmon Killebrew hammered his first homer of the exhibition baseball season. The homer was a three-run blast in the third. Killebrew drove in a first-inning run with a single.

Denny McClain stopped Milwaukee on three hits through the first seven innings, leading Detroit to a 4-2 triumph. The Braves scored on Felipe Alou's two-run homer off McClain in the sixth.

Philadelphia jumped on Jim Maloney and walloped Cincinnati 10-1. Maloney pitched eight innings, giving up all of the Phillies' runs. Tony Gonzalez, Richie Allen and Tony Taylor each knocked in three runs.

Ed Bailey batted in three runs, two with a second-inning homer, in San Francisco's 6-3 victory over Boston.

Washington blanked the New York Mets 6-0 as Phil Ortega allowed only one hit—Ed Kranepool's fourth-inning single—in seven innings. Ken McMullen smacked a two-run homer for the Senators in the sixth.

Pirates Sign Clemente

Pittsburgh (AP)—Roberto Clemente, recoving from a fever but still underweight, has signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the baseball club said Wednesday.

Newly-Crowned Champ Wants Fights

. . . CHALLENGES CLAY, GIARDELLO, PATTERSON

New York (AP)— Jose Torres, boxing's newest Golden Boy, called himself "a great fighter" Wednesday and challenged heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, middleweight king Joey Giardello and former heavyweight ruler Floyd Patterson.

"I would like to fight Muhammad Ali Clay, Giardello and Patterson in that order," said the cocky, newly crowned light heavyweight champion who dethroned Willie Pastrano on a ninth-round technical knockout Tuesday night.

How did he think he would fare with the three?

"I feel I can knock them all out," replied Torres. "Muhammad Ali makes mistakes. He's easy to hit on the jaw by a fast puncher and I am the fastest. If he can be hit on the jaw he can be knocked out. We would make a lot of money.

"Giardello is a tough guy. But if you put a lot of pressure on him he will go.

"Patterson and I are friends. He would have to use psychology on himself to force himself to be mean. But I'll be mean, too. Patterson has been knocked out and I think I can do it, too."

Told that Nigerian Dick Tiger, the former world middleweight champion, and middleweight Florentinto Fernandez, the Cuban who knocked out Torres two years ago, wanted to fight him, the poised, articulate 175-pound champion replied:

"I'll fight anyone — Tiger, Fernandez, anyone."

Torres weighed 171¼ pounds in handing Pastrano such a bloody beating that the one-time boxing master probably will quit the ring.

Could Torres make the middleweight limit of 160 pounds?

"I can make it easy and be strong," the 28-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker said. "I can fight at 175 as a light heavy and at 182 as a heavy and be fast and strong."

There is nothing lined up for him at present, except a two-week vacation in Puerto Rico and another two-week holiday in Mexico.

Welterweight king Emile Griffith, who trounced Cuban Jose Stable in the first half of the championship doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, said he would like to fight Giardello for the middleweight title.

"That's my dream," said the Virgin Islands native. "I have defended against all the top men in my division. I don't duck anyone."

Asked about Texan Manuel Gonzalez, who won a disputed decision over the champion in Houston last Jan. 27, the dapper 27-year-old New Yorker said "I'd be happy to fight him for the title. Like I said, I don't duck anyone."

The first championship doubleheader ever in the Garden lured a crowd of 18,112 and a Garden record gate of $239,556 to continue the boxing boom here.

To keep the momentum going, matchmaker Teddy Brenner said he was hoping to sign Patterson and Canadian heavyweight king George Chuvalo for a return bout at the Garden May 10 or 17. Patterson whipped Chuvalo in a thriller that pulled a standing room crowd of 19,100 and $166,423 at the Garden Feb. 1.

"I think we will make it," said Brenner. "Patterson turned down Argentine Gregorio Peralta. He said he wanted Chuvalo. Chuvalo wants Patterson. Now we've got to sign them."

Spring Sports Delayed

The start of spring sports in the Capital City, scheduled to get under way today, has been delayed by wet grounds.

Nebraska's baseball opener with South Dakota State has been postponed along with the Huskers' opening golf meet against Creighton and South Dakota, scheduled for Holmes Park.

Husker baseball coach Tony Sharpe said his team will try to play South Dakota State in a 1:30 p.m .doubleheader Friday and another twin bill at noon Saturday.

If the NU diamond can not be groomed into shape for the Friday doubleheader, an effort will be made to play twin bills Saturday and Monday.

The NU golf triangular has not been rescheduled yet.

Nebraska Wesleyan track coach Woody Greeno Wednesday night moved the opener for his Plainsman thinclads back a day.

Wesleyan was slated to meet Midland, Dana and North Dakota at Fremont Friday, but poor track conditions at Midland has forced the meet to be tentatively rescheduled for Saturday at Wesleyan's O. N. Magee Stadium.

Field events are set for 12:30 with running events at 1 p.m.

NWU's golf opener, set for today against Concordia at Pioneers, has been rescheduled for May 7, according to coach Don Ewen.

Holmes Park pro John Young said Wednesday he expected to open the municipal course the first part of next week with "a slight possibility of opening this weekend.

"If we can get more winds like we have today (Wednesday) along with some sunshine, we may be ready this weekend," Young suggested. "But golfers shouldn't make any big plans for this weekend."

John Peterson, pro at Pioneers, offered the same hope.

"We can be ready within a day or two after the frost gets out of the greens," Peterson pointed out. "There's a slight chance that could be this weekend, but it more likely will be next week."

—FINALE FOR MILWAUKEE—

Braves Could Leave City With Pennant

(16th of a Series)

West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP) —The last games the Braves play in Milwaukee could be the World Series.

This is the Braves' 13th and final season in Milwaukee. They will be playing their home games in Atlanta in 1966.

It is surprising how many experts regard the Braves as the team to beat for the National League pennant. There's no doubting the club's power. It scored the most runs in the league last year, was first in team batting and second in fielding.

No club played better ball in the last two weeks of the season. They were 14 games behind on Sept. 15 and won 14 of their next 17 games, ending only five games out in fifth.

Manager Bobby Bragan, however, speaks with cautious enthusiasm.

"Everyone likes to be respected," he said, "but I'd like to get a few answers first before I lay claim to any pennants.

"First, I'd like to know that Henry Aaron will be able to play 150 games for us.'

Aaron, perhaps baseball's most dangerous hitter, is recovering from surgery for removal of a small bone chip from his ankle. It is feared he may miss the first three weeks of the season.

"I'd like to know that our young starting staff has acquired confidence from the experience it gained last year."

Only the last-place New York Mets' pitchers had an earned run average higher than the Braves' 4.11. The front line consists of right-handers Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Bob Sadowski and left-handers Dennis Lemaster and Wade Blasingame. Blasingame is the youngest at 21. Sadowski the oldest at 27.

"I'd like to know that Billy O'Dell nad Dan Osinski will give us the bullpen protection we need, along with Bobby Tiefenauer."

"I'd like to know that Sandy Alomar will give Frank Bolling a real run for the second base job."

Bragan, on the theory that Bolling is no longer a full-time performer, is counting on Alomar for insurance.

"I'd like to know that our best defensive line-up is one which has Felipe Alou at first base, Lee Maye in center and Rico Carty in left."

Bragan tried Carty at first base in the early stages of spring training but the big fellow couldn't make the switch. Alou is the club's best defensive center fielder but he can play first better than any one else except Joe Torre, whom Bragan wants full-time at catcher.

Aaron, when he becomes available, third baseman Eddie Mathews, Torre, Carty, Maye, Alou and shortstop Dennis Menke, give the Braves the best scoring machine in the league.

Bragan also is enthusiastic over the versatility of his club. Gene Oliver, Ty Cline, Mike de la Hoz, Lou Klimchock, Gary Kolb, Menke, Alou and Torre each can play two or more positions.

"Because of the expanded schedule," said Bragan," it is almost a must for a club to have five or six players who can perform at more than one position."

Funseth Wins Pro-Amateur At Greensboro

Greensboro, N.C. (AP)—Rod Funseth, an alternate who got his chance to play after another professional dropped out, shot four-under-par 67 golf and won top money of $500 Wednesday in the $5,000 pro-amateur preceding the Greensboro Open which starts Thursday.

Funseth, who will be 33 Saturday, scored his first PGA tour victory in the Phoenix Open in February.

Tournament officials called him at his motel less than an hour before tee time with word that he could play because Dave Hill, the original starter in his place, did not show.

Funseth hustled out to the course and, without time for practice, toured the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club layout in 34-33, knocking two strokes off par on each nine. He had eight birdies, one on a putt of 45 feet, and two from 25.

Phil Rodgers, who lost an eight-hole playoff at Wilmington, N.C., last Sunday in the Azalea tournament, shot 68 to tie Australian Kel Nagel for second place. Each won $400.

Six professionals were a stroke further back to win $241 each. They included Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, Joe Campbell, Stan Leonard, Mason Rudolph and Tommy Jacobs.

—ALL FLIGHTS 72 HOLES—

Men's City Tourney Lengthened For All

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

All Lincoln golfers, entering the men's city tournament this summer, will get to play 72 holes for the first time.

The decision was made Wednesday night at a meeting of the Lincoln Men's City Golf Association, meeting at the Lincoln Country Club.

In the past, only those golfers qualifying for the championship flight played a fourth round with all other flights being decided at the completion of 54 holes.

The 72-hole routine for all flights is made possible by the addition of Holmes Park to the rotation that includes the Lincoln Country Club, Hillcrest Country Club and Pioneers Park.

The field for the tourney, set for Aug. 10-13, will be split on the basis of handicaps for the second straight year with two courses in use each of the four days.

The 60% of the golfers with the lowest handicaps will play as one group while the remaining 40% will play as another group.

Action will open Aug. 10 with the low-handicap golfers playing the Lincoln Country Club while the higher-handicap golfers will play Hillcrest Country Club, the host club for the 1965 tournament.

The low-handicap golfers will then rotate to Pioneers for the second round on Wednesday, Holmes on Thursday and Hillcrest for the final 18.

The golfers with the higher handicaps will move from the opening round at Hillcrest to Holmes Park on Wednesday, Pioneers Thursday and Lincoln Country Club Friday.

Golfers will begin teeing off at 8 a.m. each day except for the high-handicap golfers at Holmes on Wednesday and at Pioneers on Thursday. Starting tee times at those two sites on those days will be 11:30 a.m.

This move was made to leave one of Lincoln's public courses open for regular play at all times.

The entry fee will remain at $12.50 and will include the Friday night banquet, slated for Hillcrest.

The association also set the rotation for the Lincoln Boys Junior Tournament to be held July 26-29, opening at the Lincoln Country Club, then moving to Hillcrest, Pioneers and Holmes for the windup.

Greensboro Open Lures Top Golfers

Greensboro, N.C. (AP)—Golf's touring professionals, lured by a record $65,000 purse, are here in force for Thursday's opening of the 26th annual Greensboro Open Tournament.

For many it affords a final competitive tuneup before the Masters starting April 8 at Augusta, Ga. This group includes the defending Masters champion, Arnold Palmer, who has played only five of the year's 11 tournaments thus far.

For a few others, the tournament is a last chance to take a strong showing and grab the last remaining Masters berth available.

The four-day, 72-hole Greensboro Open will be played over the 7,000-yard, par 71 Sedgefield Country Club course. First prize is $10,000.

The last three holes will be televised nationally Sunday, starting at 3:30 p.m. CST.

Doug Sanders, the year's only double winner and top man on the 1965 money list with $29,000 in official earnings, hopes to add to his total. He won here in 1963 and last spring lost a sudden death playoff to Julius Boros.

Sam Snead, whose first of seven victories here dates back to the 1938 inaugural, will be playing in his 25th Greensboro open. He has won over $30,000 here, with nine second or third place finishes in addition to his seven victories.

The 144-man field also includes Billy Casper, Bobby Nichols, Tony Lema, Gary Player, Bruce Crampton, Art Wall, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald, Dave Marr and Billy Maxwell.

The two most prominent absentees are Jack Nicklaus, nursing an ailing back, and U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, still having trouble with his hands.

Robertson Tops Associated Press NBA All-Stars

New York (AP)—Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals is a unanimous choice for the second straight year on the National Basketball Association's 1964-65 All-Star squad.

The Big O was picked Wednesday in addition to two other repeaters, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of Los Angeles, and two new selectees, Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics and Jerry Lucas of the Royals.

The team was selected by a vote of sports writers and broadcasters throughout the league, with each of the nine cities accorded one full vote. A perfect score thus would be 9 votes, which Robertson received.

Eighty-one ballots were cast but were pro-rated to make one unit for each city. West received the next highest total with 8,560, followed by Russell, 8.511.

Saari Favored In AAU Meet

. . . TWO FINALS SCHEDULED

New Haven, Conn. (AP)—Olympian Roy Saari, who scored triple victories in the NCAA swimming meet last week, opens the three-day National AAU competition Thursday defending his 1,650-yard freestyle title.

The 19-year-old Southern California junior has won the mile version of the freestyle the past three years. He is a solid favorite to repeat.

The 1,650-yard event is one of two titles up for grabs Thursday in Yale's 25-yard pool. The other is the 400-yard individual medley in which a new champion will be crowned.

Dick Roth, the Atherton, Calif., schoolboy who won in 1964, was forced out by tendonitis.

Saari's toughest competition could come from Guellermo Echevarria, 16-year-old Mexican Olympian.

A favorite to succeed Roth in the individual medley is Michigan's Carl Robie, another Olympian, if he passes up the 1,650 in which he is also entered. Other strong challengers include Indiana's Ralph Kenrick, Foothill Junior College's Ken Webb and Southern California Olympian Bob Bennett.

The meet has attracted 300 top swimmers and divers, including winners of 13 gold medals in the Tokyo Olympics.

Don Schollander returns to championship swimming Friday for the first time since he won four gold medals at Tokyo. He is scheduled to defend his 200-yard sprint title. It shapes up as a race between he and Saari, who won a gold and silver medal at Tokyo.

McKinney Beats Gunter; To Meet Trudeau In Finals

St. Augustine, Fla. (AP)—Bud McKinney of Dallas, Tex. defeated Douglas Gunter of Richmond, Va., 3 and 2 Wednesday in the semifinals of the Ponce de Leon Seniors Golf Tournament.

McKinney, medalist here and the Western Seniors champion, will meet Romeo Trudeau of Montreal, the Canadian Seniors champ, in the 18-hole finals Thursday on the 6,400-yard Ponce de Leon course.

Trudeau eliminated Oliver Latour of Needham, Mass., on the 19th hole.

ALL-NFL DEFENDER TO SPEAK AT YORK

York (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal defensive halfback Pat Fischer will be the featured speaker at the annual York High All-Sports Banquet Saturday night.

Fischer, a University of Nebraska graduate, was named to the National Football League's all-pro defensive team last season.

Former NU Gridders To Play At Clatonia

Clatonia—A team of former Nebraska football players will meet a Clatonia all-star team in basketball at 8 p.m. at the high school gym here tonight.

The gridders-turned-cagers are Dennis Claridge, Lloyd Voss, Larry Kramer, Kent McCloughan, Dave Theisen, Joe McNulty and Dennis Stuewe.

Lexington (UPI) — The Lexington Jaycee Rodeo will be held at the Dawson County Fairgrounds here June 18-19. Both performances will be under the lights at 8 p.m.

Ortiz Begins Training To Defend Boxing Title

Lip Scoffs Idea Of Torres Match

Miami (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay laughed at the idea Wednesday of fighting the new light heavyweight king, Jose Torres.

"I heard him say something about the heavyweights on closed circuit TV last night," said Clay. "But I didn't think he was serious. I'd fight him if the public demanded it, but do you think it would? No, it would be no match, and no one would pay to see it."

Torres had just won the light heavyweight championship from Willie Pastrano in New York Tuesday night when he said he would like to challenge Clay.

"Torres is too small," said Clay, who is training here for his May 25 rematch with Sonny Liston at Boston. "He's just talking."

Margaret Smith Slips By Michigan Girl In Tennis

Mexico City (AP) — Top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia had to come from behind Wednesday to defeat Peaches Bartkowicz, Hamtramk, Mich., in the quarterfinals of the women's singles in the Mexican International Tennis Tournament 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Barkowicz took the first set by her smashing two-hand volley play

Manuel Santana of Spain, top-seeded in the men's competition, defeated Carlos Schletweein, Mexico, 6-2, 6-2, and Australia's Fred Stolle, seeded No. 2, eliminated Harry Fouquier, Canada, 6-3, 6-4, in second round matches.

McCoy Opens Five-Pin Lead In Pro Classic

Hartford, Conn (AP)—Jerry McCoy, a lefthander from Fort Worth, Tex., was the new leader Wednesday night at the halfway mark in the 24-game qualifier of the Professional Bowlers Association's $35,500 Insurance Classic.

McCoy had 2682 pins for 12 games which gave him a five-pin lead over first-round leader Pete Tountas of Hammond, Ind

Revised Rule May Revive LSU Bandits

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—Under the revised substitution rules, three-team platoon football is coming back in style and down here in the bayous Coach Charlie McClendon of Louisiana State is brushing off the coolie hats of his Chinese Bandits.

"We're going to have to learn just how long a team—and each man on it—can stay in," the LSU coach said. "We're going to go with as many football players as we've got, whether it's 11, 22 or 33."

Under the new rules, unlimited substitution is permitted when the ball changes hands. But only two players may be inserted at a time while the ball remains in one team's possession.

Junior Johnson Will Quit Racing After '65 Season

The Ronda, N.C., driver, a veteran of 15 years of racing, told of his decision as drizzling rains prevented qualifying for Sunday's Atlanta 500 from beginning at Atlanta International Raceway. The first 16 positions will be settled Thursday, weather permitting.

"I've been in auto racing so long that I've about lost interest in the driving part of it," Johnson said. "I'd like to quit . . . and this is going to be my last year."

Nebraskan Led Nation Trapshooters In 1964

Vandalia, Ohio (AP)—Bueford C. Bailey, a cattleman from Big Springs, Neb., led the nation's 16-yard Trapshooters in 1964, the Amateur Trapshooting Association said Wednesday.

Bailey had a .9921 mark on 2,900 clays to nose out Gene Sears of El Reno, Okla., who had a .9911 record on 2,800 targets. Third was the 1963 champion, C. E Barnhart of Kansas Citoy, Mo, with .9902 on 4,800.

TATTERED WINNER

Lakers In Good Condition For Playoffs With Bullets

Los Angeles (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers, bracing for their National Basketball Association playoff series with Baltimore, are healthy and unconcerned about a 14-day layoff.

"The club will be ready to play a good ball game," said Coach Fred Schaus, referring to Saturday's Western Division final playoff opener with the Bullets, victors in the semifinals over St. Louis Tuesday night.

"We'll have our timing back," he said Wednesday.

The Lakers are healthy, even Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, the one-two punch that has averaged a combined 50 points a game.

Both wee hampered by sore knees near the end of the regular season and sat out several games.

Schaus' team defeated Baltimore six out of 10 times during the season, but he said "you can't count on that now. It's all even again."

"Baltimore will be real tough for us or anybody to beat," he added.

The Lakers and Bullets will play a best-of-seven game series to determine the Western Division team to face the winner of a similar series in the Eastern Division.

The first two games, Saturday and Monday, will be played in Los Angeles. The third and fourth games will be in Baltimore, with the fifth game, if necessary, in Los Angeles. The sixth match would be in Baltimore and the seventh in Los Angeles.

Field Of 10 To 11 In Florida Derby

Miami (AP)—A field of 10 and possibly 11 shaped up Wednesday for Saturday's $100,000 added Florida Derby—a significant indicator of potential 3-year-old champions

Native Cnarger, winner of the recent Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah, heads the probable field. Also expected to go are Hail to All, Sparkling Johnny, Gallant Lad, Gummo, Maribeau, Battle Star, Flyalong, Louis Arnold and Selari, with The Dancer a possibility.

With 11 going to post the purse would be $121,800 and the winning owner's share $81,800.

Chamberlain Paces 76ers To Series Title Over Royals

. . . WILL MEET CELTICS FOR EAST TITLE

Philadelphia (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain scored 38 points and starred also on defense to lead Philadelphia to a 119-112 victory Wednesday night over Cincinnati as the 76ers won the Eastern semifinals playoff of the National Basketball association.

It was Philadelphia's third win against one defeat in the best-of-5 series. The 76ers now meet the champion Boston Celtics for the Eastern title in a seven-game series beginning Sunday at Boston.

Chamberlain, still hurting from a tender pancreas, was never better. He was a demon under the backboards, grabbing 26 rebounds, and blocked 10 Royals field goal attempts at they arched toward the basket. Two other blocks were called goal tending.

Even though the 7-foot-1 "big ddipper" sparkled, the victory was a team effort with Hal Greer collecting 25 points, Chet Walker 20 and Lucious Jackson 16.

Jerry Lucas, Cincinnati's deadeye outside shot, was high for the losers with 35 points. Oscar Robertson, a unanimous NBA All-Star choice, still seemed to be hurting from a sore right ankle but scored with 24.

It was the first victory at home for either club in the play-off series. Philadelphia had won twice before at Cincinnati and had lost at home to the Royals last week.

Cincinnati started off poorly, unable to find the basket. In the first eight minute, the Royals made only three of 21 field goal attempts and were down 19-10. But Cincinnati streaked midway in the second period and tied it at 44 on Lucas' foul throw.

Bowling Bug Bites Ude Following 300

St. Paul, Minn.—When Dick Ude of Lincoln, Neb. was 18 years old he rolled a 300 game in an American Bowling Congress sanctioned league, and it was the turning point of his life.

"I was bitten by the bowling bug after that 300 and I fell in love with the sport so much that I now make my living in it," the 29-year-old Ude told reporters covering the 1965 ABC tournament now under way in St. Paul, Minn.

Ude was the object of attention when he fired a 689 series to take the early lead in the race for the regular division singles title in the 1965 ABC. Bowling's biggest showcase event opened in the St. Paul Auditorium on March 25 and will continue through May 31.

It took Ude, who now works as a lane maintenance man in Lincoln, 11 years from that teenage 300 to make his debut in an ACB tournament but his splendid string of 198, 224 and 267 for a hefty 689, gave him the singles lead Sunday.

Ude gave little indication of his coming strike spree when he opened his ABC appearance with a 484 in team and had then stepped up to 561 in the doubles. Then the 188 average Nebraskan started pounding the pocket in the singles and his 267 finishing game included six straight strikes to close it out.

Frick Says Lane Statement Untrue Regarding Shift

Kansas City (AP)—The Kansas City Star quoted Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, Wednesday as saying that if Frank Lane "has been quoted correctly" he has made an untrue statement concerning reported plans of Charles O. Finley to move the Athletics to Milwaukee when the Braves transfer to Atlanta.

The Star talked to Frick at Belleair, Fla., for comment after Lane, Finley's onetime general manager, was quoted as saying the A's owner was planning to move the club.

Finley, in Kansas City Tuesday, said he did not "wish to add any dignity to any silly, idiotic statements by Mr. Frank Lane."

Tour Plane Plunges Into Strait; 50 Dead

Only three passengers survived when the twin-engine Convair plowed into the mist-shrouded sea eight miles off Cape Spartel, the airline reported. They were a Swedish woman and a Danish man and woman.

Most of those aboard were Scandinavians who signed up for the flight at Malaga, Spain. One was an American, Virginia Coleman, whose hometown was not known.

Rescue 43 Corpses

By nightfall, rescue vessels picked up 43 corpses floating in the water amidst the debris of the aircraft scattered by the impact of the crash. The bodies were taken aboard a Spanish fishing vessel, which headed for the port of Cadiz escorted by two Spanish warships.

The stricken plane radioed at 7:55 a.m., 1:55 a.m. CST, that it was having engine trouble but that it expected to land normally at Tangier Airport.

Five minutes later, the lighthouse keeper at Cape Spartel saw the plane plunge into the sea.

Airport sources said that it was not until 9:30 a.m. that an alert was given and rescue vessels and planes were dispatched to the scene.

British Launch Aid

The survivors were picked up by a Spanish fishing boat and were later transferred aboard a British launch which brought them to Tangier.

At the El Kortobi Hospital doctors said their condition was satisfactory.

Their sketchy stories indicated that all was well aboard and that passengers had fastened their seat belts in anticipation of landing at Tangier when the crash took place.

"I don't know how I managed to crawl out of the plane . . . there was water everywhere . .. I grabbed something, held onto it and swam," doctors quoted Mona Andersen of Sweden as saying.

Terrific Shock

Erik Soderhann, a Dane, said he remembered nothing except a terrific shock and he felt himself floating in the water amid corpses. Sondherhann's artificial arm was fished out of the water by a fishing vessel and brought to the hospital.

Iberia officials said that 30 of the passengers were Danish, 11 Swedish, 3 from Britain, 2 from Germany, 1 from Germany, 1 from Holland and 1 from the United States. The five-man crew was Spanish.

Greensboro Open Lures Top Golfers

Greensboro, N.C. (AP)—Golf's touring professionals, lured by a record $65,000 purse, are here in force for Thursday's opening of the 26th annual Greensboro Open Tournament.

For many it affords a final competitive tuneup before the Masters starting April 8 at Augusta, Ga. This group includes the defending Masters champion, Arnold Palmer, who has played only five of the year's 11 tournaments thus far.

For a few others, the tournament is a last chance to take a strong showing and grab the last remaining Masters berth available.

The four-day, 72-hole Greensboro Open will be played over the 7,000-yard, par 71 Sedgefield Country Club course. First prize is $10,000.

The last three holes will be televised nationally Sunday, starting at 3:30 p.m. CST.

Doug Sanders, the year's only double winner and top man on the 1965 money list with $29,000 in official earnings, hopes to add to his total. He won here in 1963 and last spring lost a sudden death playoff to Julius Boros.

Sam Snead, whose first of seven victories here dates back to the 1938 inaugural, will be playing in his 25th Greensboro open. He has won over $30,000 here, with nine second or third place finishes in addition to his seven victories.

The 144-man field also includes Billy Casper, Bobby Nichols, Tony Lema, Gary Player, Bruce Crampton, Art Wall, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald, Dave Marr and Billy Maxwell.

The two most prominent absentees are Jack Nicklaus, nursing an ailing back, and U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, still having trouble with his hands.

Robertson Tops Associated Press NBA All-Stars

New York (AP)—Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals is a unanimous choice for the second straight year on the National Basketball Association's 1964-65 All-Star squad.

The Big O was picked Wednesday in addition to two other repeaters, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of Los Angeles, and two new selectees, Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics and Jerry Lucas of the Royals.

The team was selected by a vote of sports writers and broadcasters throughout the league, with each of the nine cities accorded one full vote. A perfect score thus would be 9 votes, which Robertson received.

Eighty-one ballots were cast but were pro-rated to make one unit for each city. West received the next highest total with 8,560, followed by Russell, 8.511.

Stock Market Is Scrambled

New York (AP)—The Stock market went through another scrambled performance Wednesday, ending the month of March and the first quarter of 1965. Trading was moderate.

Thanks to large gains in January, the market showed an advance for the quarter but it posted a loss for March. In February, the list was about even, with a very slight decline in the averages.

What interest there was in Wednesday's market lay in secondary issues or those in special situations. The market wheelhorses dragged their heels.

In the over-all list of 1,351 issues traded, however, gainers outnumbered losers by the fair margin of 602 to 473. New highs for the year totaled 42 and new lows 21.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks rose, five fell and two were unchanged.

Waterfalls On Sunday

Terni, Italy (AP) — One of Italy's most spectacular waterfalls is the Cascata Delle Marmore (The Marble Cascade) near this central Italian Town.

But it can be seen only on Sundays. On weekdays the falls are dry as the water is diverted through sloping tunnels in the rock to operate an electric power generating plant.

Soybeans' Gains Are Fairly Broad

Chicago (AP)—Without benefit of any new market factors, old crop soybeans developed another rally Wednesday in late transactions on the Board of Trade and closed with fairly broad gains.

Net advances amounted 59.4 cents a bushel at the extreme although the August delivery was up as much as 5 cents at one time from its low for the day.

At the close, soybeans were ⅜ cent to 4 cents a bushel higher, May $3.03-03¼; wheat ½ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.48¾; corn ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.33⅛-¼; oats ¼-⅜ higher, May 70½ cents; rye ⅝ to 1 cent lower, May $1.19½.

He watched for his wallet each time he worked that field and after a year found it. But the paper money had deteriorated.

Tour Plane Plunges Into Strait; 50 Dead

Tangier (AP) — A chartered Iberia Airlines plane carrying tourists to a vacation in the mountain sun plunged into the Strait of Gibraltar Wednesday, killing 50 people.

Only three passengers survived when the twin-engine Convair plowed into the mist-shrouded sea eight miles off Cape Spartel, the airline reported. They were a Swedish woman and a Danish man and woman.

Most of those aboard were Scandinavians who signed up for the flight at Malaga, Spain. One was an American, Virginia Coleman, whose hometown was not known.

Rescue 43 Corpses

By nightfall, rescue vessels picked up 43 corpses floating in the water amidst the debris of the aircraft scattered by the impact of the crash. The bodies were taken aboard a Spanish fishing vessel, which headed for the port of Cadiz escorted by two Spanish warships.

The stricken plane radioed at 7:55 a.m., 1:55 a.m. CST, that it was having engine trouble but that it expected to land normally at Tangier Airport.

Five minutes later, the lighthouse keeper at Cape Spartel saw the plane plunge into the sea.

Authorities were investigating what appeared to be a delay in launching a rescue operation.

Airport sources said that it was not until 9:30 a.m. that an alert was given and rescue vessels and planes were dispatched to the scene.

British Launch Aid

The survivors were picked up by a Spanish fishing boat and were later transferred aboard a British launch which brought them to Tangier.

At the El Kortobi Hospital doctors said their condition was satisfactory.

Their sketchy stories indicated that all was well aboard and that passengers had fastened their seat belts in anticipation of landing at Tangier when the crash took place.

"I don't know how I managed to crawl out of the plane . . . there was water everywhere . .. I grabbed something, held onto it and swam," doctors quoted Mona Andersen of Sweden as saying.

Terrific Shock

Erik Soderhann, a Dane, said he remembered nothing except a terrific shock and he felt himself floating in the water amid corpses. Sondherhann's artificial arm was fished out of the water by a fishing vessel and brought to the hospital.

Iberia officials said that 30 of the passengers were Danish, 11 Swedish, 3 from Britain, 2 from Germany, 1 from Germany, 1 from Holland and 1 from the United States. The five-man crew was Spanish.

Campus Where Volunteers Were Trained To Be Quiter

Oxford, Ohio (AP) —The campus where more than 600 student civil rights volunteers trained before they were sent to Mississippi last summer will be quieter this year.

The two groups that cooperated in setting up last year's training sessions have no plans for a similar venture this spring.

Western Reserve College for Women, whose facilities were used last June, said they will not say "no" to requests for another such program.

But Fletcher Coates, New York spokesman for the National Council of Churches, said his organization has no plans to repeat the project.

SNCC Request

The coucil's Commission on Religion and Race supplied last year's instructors at the request of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which was recruiting for its Mississippi summer project.

Western donated its dormitories for two one-week schools, where trainees were briefed on Mississippi law and customs, voter registration work, the teaching of basic skills like reading, and how to protect themselves non-violently if attacked.

This year, Coates said, the commission will devote most of its energies to community development in several cities, with the emphasis on Cleveland, Ohio.

Less Extensive

The committee plans to supplant its summer project with similar but less extensive work in four Deep South states—Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Arkansas. It also plans to devote considerable energy to the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party's challenge of the election of four Mississippi congressmen.

Among the graduates of last year's schools were Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, two white students from the New York area who disappeared at Philadelphia, Miss., shortly after their arrival. Their bodies, and that of Negro James Chaney of Meridan, Miss., were found under an earthen dam Aug. 4.

Oxford, population 7,800, paid little attention to the trainees.

Illuminating Unit Set Conference

Prof. M. R. Hodgell, head of the University of Nebraska department of architecture will talk about "Lighting in Architecture" Friday afternoon.

Other speakers will be the Rev. E. T. Lange of Ute, Iowa, talking about church lighting and Joe B. Campbell, Sylvania Co. area manager from Dallas. He will discuss "Outdoor Area Lighting Applications."

Robert W. Brewer of Sioux City, Iowa, is chairman of the group and Roy Olson, also of Sioux City, is program chairman.

Rites Held For Former Mayor

Hemingford—Funeral services were held here for William H. Mackler, 81, a former Hemingford mayor. He had been hospitalized for the past five years at Scottsbluff.

Surviving are sons, Lloyd of Scottsbluff and Louis of Newcastle, Wyo.; daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Gray of Phoenix, Ariz.; four brothers, three sisters, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

PNEUMONIA BOUT

Former U.S. Sen. Guy M. Gillette, 86, of Cherokee, Iowa, has just won a bout with pneumonia and is back at his consistent reading again. The one-time lawyer is the last living member of a group which prepared a tentative draft of the original United Nations charter.

Over 100 Designs Received In Centennial Medal Contest

Over 100 designs have been received by the Nebraska Centennial Commemorative Medal Committee, Chairman John J. Gabarron of Lincoln announced Wednesday.

Some 50 entries, including 15-20 from one school class, were counted by the committee on the Wednesday deadline. Gabarron noted that most of the entries submitted a design for both sides of the medal.

The chairman also pointed out that a few more entries may be received which were just mailed on the deadline date.

A prize of $100 is offered for each of the two sides of the official centennial commemorative medal. Awards will be made sometime in March, 1966 according to Gabarron.

Two judges will be chosen from the Nebraska Numismatic Association, and two others will probably be selected from the Artists Guild, Gabarron said.

Designs will be judged according to their appropriateness to Nebraska, how much they convey the spirit of the celebration and uniqueness.

Bulldozing Of 2 Blocks Hit By 10th, J Backers

The idea of bulldozing out two city blocks in downtown Lincoln, already occupied by taxpaying businesses, for a joint city-county building is utterly ridiculous.

That was the comment Wednesday from the 10th and J Building Boosters, headed by Roy Vermaas.

The committee chairman said the taxpayers already own the land necessary for parking and a new joint building at 10th and J.

"Why pay at least $2 million more for acquiring land, half of which would go for the most expensive ground in the city of Lincoln?" he asked.

The 10th and J Building Boosters committee is backing a joint city-county building at 10th and J, site of the present courthouse, promoting a "for" vote on both city and county bond issues on the April 6 ballot.

Penal Complex Inmate Escapes

Breaker is serving a two-year term from Hall County for breaking and entering. He was last seen at about 9 p.m.

He was described as white, six feet tall, 160 pounds, with brown eyes and black hair. He may be wearing a green jacket and will most likely be dressed in blue prison clothes.

Lincoln Girl Wins National Music Contest

Miss Schroeder, a cellist, was selected by a national panel of music teachers who assembled this week for the association's national convention in Dallas, Tex.

She had been selected as the west-central division winner earlier this week. In recognition of her achievement she received a $250 continuing study grant from the Hammond Organ Co. Hammond also presented her teacher, Mrs. Carol Work, of Lincoln with a matching award.

Miss Schroeder performed with the Southern Methodist University orchestra at Wednesday's banquet.

Other winners from Lincoln are Inta Jozeps of 1911 So. 26th, divisional winner on the violin, Katherine Knappenberger, divisional winner on the piano, and Cheryl Marsh, violinist.

Washington (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced a loan of $750,000 to Waldorf College of Forest City, Iowa, to build a dormitory and a student union.

Soviet Jet Seen In West Germany By British RAF

Bonn, Germany (AP)—A jet aircraft of the Soviet bloc flew 11 miles into West Germany air space, spokesman of the British Royal Air Force reported Wednesday.

The incident took place Tuesday in the area of the northeastern border.

RAF officials declined to say to which Soviet bloc country the plane belonged and whether it was military, commercial or private.

Jonesboro, La., Vote OKs Gym At Negro School

Jonesboro, La. (UPI)—Voters approved an $800,000 bond issue to provide a new gymnasium for Jackson (Negro) High School by an 8-1 majority, a final tally showed Wednesday.

Negroes staged protests and boycotts for three week for improved conditions at the high school.

The gymnasium was one of the facilities which, Negro students charged, were inadequate.

Governor John McKeithen who made a trouble-shooting trip to Jonesboro last weekend, said from Chicago that he felt passage of the bond issue would end racial unrest.

Drybread Ranch Sells Whole Herd

Denver (UPI)—Two large cattle sales involving herds in three states were announced Wednesday. The transactions were described as the largest in the past several years.

RS Management Co. of Denver handled details of the sales.

The firm said Drybread Hereford Ranch of Valentine, Neb., sold its entire registered herd to Wyoming Hereford Ranch of Cheyenne. The Wyoming Hereford Ranch, in the second transaction, sold up to 350 head to Jack Oleson of Avon, Colo.

No prices were announced. The Valentine ranch is owned by Wilbur and Gene Drybread. The Wyoming Hereford Ranch is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Leavey of Los Angeles, Calif.

Stock Market Is Scrambled

New York (AP)—The Stock market went through another scrambled performance Wednesday, ending the month of March and the first quarter of 1965. Trading was moderate.

Thanks to large gains in January, the market showed an advance for the quarter but it posted a loss for March. In February, the list was about even, with a very slight decline in the averages.

What interest there was in Wednesday's market lay in secondary issues or those in special situations. The market wheelhorses dragged their heels.

In the over-all list of 1,351 issues traded, however, gainers outnumbered losers by the fair margin of 602 to 473. New highs for the year totaled 42 and new lows 71.

Trading remained routine, with volume at 4.42 million shares compared with 4.23 million Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to 332.9 with industrials up .5, rails off .1 and utilities unchanged.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks rose, five fell and two were unchanged.

The volume leader was First Charter Financial which rose 1¾ to 22¾ on 110,200 shares.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved irregularly higher. Volume was 1.56 million shares compared with 1.55 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Waterfalls On Sunday

Terni, Italy (AP) — One of Italy's most spectacular waterfalls is the Cascata Delle Marmore (The Marble Cascade) near this central Italian Town.

But it can be seen only on Sundays. On weekdays the falls are dry as the water is diverted through sloping tunnels in the rock to operate an electric power generating plant.

Soybeans' Gains Are Fairly Broad

Chicago (AP)—Without benefit of any new market factors, old crop soybeans developed another rally Wednesday in late transactions on the Board of Trade and closed with fairly broad gains.

Net advances amounted 59.4 cents a bushel at the extreme although the August delivery was up as much as 5 cents at one time from its low for the day.

Oats recovered most of the losses of the previous day and rye continued its weaker trend but wheat and corn were little changed on a dull trade.

At the close, soybeans were ⅝ cent to 4 cents a bushel higher, May $3.03-03¼; wheat ½ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.48¾; corn ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.33⅛-¼, oats ¼-⅜ higher, May 70½ cents; rye ⅜ to 1 cent lower, May $1.19½.

Pretty Good Trade-In

Salina, Kan. (AP) — Harry Choate was working in a field on his farm more than a year ago when he lost a billfold containing $143.

He watched for his wallet each time he worked that field and after a year found it. But the paper money had deteriorated.

Brogden Gets Planning Unit Nomination

Lincoln - Lancaster County Planning Director Douglas Brogden has been nominated to serve as second vice president of the newly formed National Association of County Planning Directors.

Brogden was one of several planning executives from across the country chosen to serve on the special committee of the National Association of Counties which met recently in Washington, D.C. to organize the new association.

Nominated officers and directors of the association include planners from North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Washington, Illinois, California, Arizona, Virginia, Nebraska, Oregon and New York.

The association was formed to improve county planning throughout the country and to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas.

The first annual national meeting of the association will be held in San Diego, Calif., July 11-14, in conjunction with the 30th annual conference of the National Association of Counties. Formal election of the officers and directors will take place at that time.

Card of Thanks 4

IN APPRECIATION

Since arriving in Lincoln in mid 1963, Emma Lou and I have made many friends. We had many occasions to recognize these friendships in both an official and social capacity. Since her passing on 17-March, I have received hundreds of expressions of kindness. Each reflected the sincerity and friendship we have enjoyed so much. Please accept my deep appreciation and most humble thanks for your thoughts and kind words. They will remain with me as fond memories of our association in Lincoln.

William F. Seith, Col. USAF Base Cmdr. 1

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors, friends and relatives for their comforting expression of sympathy, in so many ways. To East Lincoln Lodge No. 210, Scottish Rite, VFW Auxilliary 131, and Trinity Methodist Church. Your kindness will always be remembered. Mrs. Claude H. Mann and family. 1

Campus Where Volunteers Were Trained To Be Quiter

Oxford, Ohio (AP)—The campus where more than 600 student civil rights volunteers trained before they were sent to Mississippi last summer will be quieter this year.

The two groups that cooperated in setting up last year's training sessions have no plans for a similar venture this spring.

Western Reserve College for Women, whose facilities were used last June, said they will not say "no" to requests for another such program.

But Fletcher Coates, New York spokesman for the National Council of Churches, said his organization has no plans to repeat the project.

SNCC Request

The council's Commission on Religion and Race supplied last year's instructors at the request of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which was recruiting for its Mississippi summer project.

Western donated its dormitories for two one-week schools, where trainees were briefed on Mississippi law and customs, voter registration work, the teaching of basic skills like reading, and how to protect themselves non-violently if attacked.

This year, Coates said, the commission will devote most of its energies to community development in several cities, with the emphasis on Cleveland, Ohio.

Less Extensive

The committee plans to supplant its summer project with similar but less extensive work in four Deep South states—Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Arkansas. It also plans to devote considerable energy to the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party's challenge of the election of four Mississippi congressmen.

Among the graduates of last year's schools were Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, two white students from the New York area who disappeared at Philadelphia, Miss., shortly after their arrival. Their bodies, and that of Negro James Chaney of Meridan, Miss., were found under an earthen dam Aug. 4.

Oxford, population 7,800, paid little attention to the trainees.

Illuminating Unit Set Conference

The Cornhusker Section of the Illuminating Engineering Society will hold a one-day conference Friday at the Cornhusker Hotel

Prof. M. R. Hodgell, head of the University of Nebraska department of architecture will talk about "Lighting in Architecture" Friday afternoon.

Other speakers will be the Rev E T Lange of Ute, Iowa, talking about church lighting and Joe B. Campbell, Sylvania Co. area manager from Dallas He will discuss "Outdoor Area Lighting Applications."

Robert W. Brewer of Sioux City, Iowa, is chairman of the group and Roy Olson, also of Sioux City, is program chairman.

Rites Held For Former Mayor

Hemingford—Funeral services were held here for William H. Mackler, 81, a former Hemingford mayor. He had been hospitalized for the past five years at Scottsbluff.

Surviving are sons, Lloyd of Scottsbluff and Louis of Newcastle, Wyo.; daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Gray of Phoenix, Ariz.; four brothers, three sisters, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

PNEUMONIA BOUT

Former U.S. Sen. Guy M. Gillette, 86, of Cherokee, Iowa, has just won a bout with pneumonia and is back at his consistent reading again. The one-time lawyer is the last living member of a group which prepared a tentative draft of the original United Nations charter

Lincoln Girl Wins National Music Contest

Jane Schroeder of 3724 Randolph Wednesday was named national winner in the high school auditions sponsored by the Music Teachers National Association.

Miss Schroeder, a cellist, was selected by a national panel of music teachers who assembled this week for the association's national convention in Dallas, Tex.

She had been selected as the west-central division winner earlier this week. In recognition of her achievement she received a $250 continuing study grant from the Hammond Organ Co. Hammond also presented her teacher, Mrs. Carol Work, of Lincoln with a matching award.

Miss Schroeder performed with the Southern Methodist University orchestra at Wednesday's banquet.

Other winners from Lincoln are Jnta Jozeps of 1911 So. 26th, divisional winner on the violin, Katherine Knappenberger, divisional winner on the piano, and Cheryl Marsh, violinist.

Lincoln was the only city in the country which had more than one winner.

College Gets Loan

Washington (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced a loan of $750,000 to Waldorf College of Forest City, Iowa, to build a dormitory and a student union.

Soviet Jet Seen In West Germany By British RAF

Bonn, Germany (AP)—A jet aircraft of the Soviet bloc flew 11 miles into West Germany air space, spokesman of the British Royal Air Force reported Wednesday.

The incident took place Tuesday in the area of the northeastern border.

An immediate protest at the violation of Western air space was lodged with Soviet authorities by the British commander-in-chief, the RAF spokesman added.

RAF officials declined to say to which Soviet bloc country the plane belonged and whether it was military, commercial or private.

Jonesboro, La., Vote OKs Gym At Negro School

Jonesboro, La. (UPI)—Voters approved an $800,000 bond issue to provide a new gymnasium for Jackson (Negro) High School by an 8-1 majority, a final tally showed Wednesday.

Negroes staged protests and boycotts for three week for improved conditions at the high school.

Final returns showed the popular vote was 990-182 in favor of the issue.

The gymnasium was one of the facilities which, Negro students charged, were inadequate.

Governor John McKeithen who made a trouble- shooting trip to Jonesboro last weekend, said from Chicago that he felt passage of the bond issue would end racial unrest.

Drybread Ranch Sells Whole Herd

Denver (UPI)—Two large cattle sales involving herds in three states were announced Wednesday. The transactions were described as the largest in the past several years.

RS Management Co. of Denver handled details of the sales.

The firm said Drybread Hereford Ranch of Valentine, Neb., sold its entire registered herd to Wyoming Hereford Ranch of Cheyenne. The Wyoming Hereford Ranch, in the second transaction, sold up to 350 head to Jack Oleson of Avon, Colo.

No prices were announced. The Valentine ranch is owned by Wilbur and Gene Drybread. The Wyoming Hereford Ranch is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Leavey of Los Angeles, Calif.

Thant Peace Role

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland suggested a possible peace-making role for U.N Secretary-General U Thant in the event the two sides in the Viet Nam conflict "have anything to say to each other."

Over 100 Designs Received In Centennial Medal Contest

Over 100 designs have been received by the Nebraska Centennial Commemorative Medal Committee, Chairman John J. Gabarron of Lincoln announced Wednesday.

Some 50 entries, including 15-20 from one school class, were counted by the committee on the Wednesday deadline. Gabarron noted that most of the entries submitted a design for both sides of the medal.

The chairman also pointed out that a few more entries may be received which were just mailed on the deadline date.

A prize of $100 is offered for each of the two sides of the official centennial commemorative medal. Awards will be made sometime in March, 1966 according to Gabarron.

Two judges will be chosen from the Nebraska Numismatic Association, and two others will probably be selected from the Artists Guild, Gabarron said.

Designs will be judged according to their appropriateness to Nebraska, how much they convey the spirit of the celebration and uniqueness.

Bulldozing Of 2 Blocks Hit By 10th, J Backers

The idea of bulldozing out two city blocks in downtown Lincoln, already occupied by taxpaying businesses, for a joint city-county building is utterly ridiculous.

That was the comment Wednesday from the 10th and J Building Boosters, headed by Roy Vermaas.

The committee chairman said the taxpayers already own the land necessary for parking and a new joint building at 10th and J

"Why pay at least $2 million more for acquiring land, half of which would go for the most expensive ground in the city of Lincoln?" he asked.

The 10th and J Building Boosters committee is backing a joint city-county building at 10th and J, site of the present courthouse, promoting a "for" vote on both city and county bond issues on the April 6 ballot

Penal Complex Inmate Escapes

Breaker is serving a two-year term from Hall County for breaking and entering. He was last seen at about 9 p.m.

He was described as white, six feet tall, 160 pounds, with brown eyes and black hair. He may be wearing a green jacket and will most likely be dressed in blue prison clothes.

Brogden Gets Planning Unit Nomination

Lincoln - Lancaster County Planning Director Douglas Brogden has been nominated to serve as second vice president of the newly formed National Association of County Planning Directors.

Brogden was one of several planning executives from across the country chosen to serve on the special committee of the National Association of Counties which met recently in Washington, D.C. to organize the new association.

Nominated officers and directors of the association include planners from North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Washington, Illinois, California, Arizona, Virginia, Nebraska, Oregon and New York.

The association was formed to improve county planning throughout the country and to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas.

The first annual national meeting of the association will be held in San Diego, Calif., July 11-14, in conjunction with the 30th annual convention of the National Association of Counties. Formal election of the officers and directors will take place at that time.

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 84-907, R.R.S., 1943, the Nebraska State Board of Education will hold a hearing for the purpose of presenting proposed changes affecting RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE SCOPE, EXTENT, PATTERN AND REPORT OF THE ANNUAL EXAMINATIONS OF ALL FINANCIAL RECORDS IN SCHOOL DISTRICTS OF NEBRASKA.

The hearing will be at 9:00 A.M. on Tuesday, April, 13, 1965 in the office of the Commissioner of Education, Room 2010, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska.

FLOYD A. MILLER
Commissioner of Education

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Department of Roads in the State Capitol at Lincoln, Nebraska, on April 8, 1965, until 10:00 o'clock A.M., and at that time publicly opened and read for SUBGRADE RECONSTRUCTION, LIME TREATED SUBGRADE, GRANULAR SUBBASE COURSE, SOIL-AGGREGATE BASE COURSE, SHOULDER CONSTRUCTION, ASPHALTIC CONCRETE BASE COURSE and incidental work on the BLUE STEM LAKE RECREATION ROAD State Project No. SR-6(1) State Road.

This project begins in Sprague and extends westerly for 3.6 miles, in Lancaster County.

4,030 Cu. Yds.	Mineral Aggregate (No. 2—Gravel)
8,070 Cu. Yds.	Mineral Aggregate (No. 5—Fine Sand) from Local Pits
900 Cu. Yds.	Soil Binder From Local Pits
1,100 Thousand Gallons	Water, Applied
18,300 Gallons	Asphaltic Oil for Prime Coat, Applied
100 Tons	Hydrated Lime
28 Stations	Lime Treated Subgrade
166 Stations	Subgrade Reconstruction
194 Stations	Shoulder Construction
5,560 Tons	Asphaltic Concrete
55,600 Gallons	Asphalt Cement for Asphaltic Concrete
1,000 Gallons	Asphaltic Oil for Tack Coat, Applied

Each bidder must be qualified to submit a proposal for any part or all of this work as provided in Legislative Bill No. 187, 1955 Legislative Session.

Proposal forms for this work will be issued to contractors who are qualified to submit proposals for bituminous surfacing.

The attention of bidders is directed to the Required Provisions covering subletting or assigning the contract.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish bond in an amount equal to 100% of his contract.

As an evidence of good faith in submitting a proposal for this work, the bidder must file, with his proposal, a certified or cashier's check made payable to the Department of Roads and in an amount not less than four thousand one hundred fifty (4,150) dollars.

IN APPRECIATION

Since arriving in Lincoln in mid 1963, Emma Lou and I have made many friends. We had many occasions to recognize these friendships in both an official and social capacity. Since her passing on 17-March, I have received hundreds of expressions of kindness. Each reflected the sincerity and friendship we have enjoyed so much. Please accept my deep appreciation and most humble thanks for your thoughts and kind words. They will remain with me as fond memories of our association in Lincoln.

William F. Seith, Col
USAF Base Cmdr. 1

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors, friends and relatives for their comforting expression of sympathy, in so many ways. To East Lincoln Lodge No. 210, Scottish Rite, VFW Auxilliary 131, and Trinity Methodist Church. Your kindness will always be remembered. Mrs. Claude H. Mann and family. 1

No Action On Power Proposals

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Wednesday listened to 4½ hours of testimony on the first two in a series of major public power reorganization proposals, then adjourned without taking action.

LB665, Loup River Public Power District's proposal to divide the state into six integrated electric utilities, won support from a group of eight investment banking firms, Norris Public Power District and the cities of Grand Island and Fremont, both of which operate their own municipal utilities.

Opposition was voiced by the Farmers Union, Consumers Public Power District, Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative and the Tri-State Generation and Transmission Assn.

Supported

LB288, proposing that members of public power boards be elected from their entire service areas, received the backing of Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and the City of Grand Island.

Testifying in opposition were spokesmen for the Nebraska Electric G & T, Loup, Fremont, Norris, Dawson County Public Power District and Southern Nebraska Rural Public Power District.

A companion bill heard Wednesday, LB869, would require joint meetings of the boards of Loup and Platte, which together form the Nebraska Public Power System.

End Duplication

Loup's plan would eliminate competition, duplication, conflict and excess power costs, Assistant General Manager Max Kiburz of Columbus told the committee.

In establishing integrated areas, it recognizes differing economic interests, Kiburz said, and would not require immediate refinancing.

Nebraska "can no longer afford the luxury of 104 operating electric utilities," Grand Island Utilities Commissioner Frank Phelps argued in supporting LB665.

'The Worst'

Central Nebraska General Manager Jack Boyd of Holdrege contended that the plan is "the worst of the reorganization proposals," and that it would destroy the Tri-County water resource project by separating it and diluting its management with non-irrigation interests.

The bill would create even more conflict and raise costs of electric energy, D. A. Blatchford of Columbus said. Blatchford spoke for rural electric districts.

It is an "economically unfeasible" plan, Consumers attorney Richard Wilson of Lincoln declared, would require refinancing of CPPD's bonds and "goes in the wrong direction" by dividing generation and transmission facilities, instead of consolidating them.

Possible

Platte supports LB288, General Manager Homer Loutzenheiser of North Platte said, because it "recognizes what is possible" in terms of reorganization.

The bill would keep the grid system intact, avoid costly refinancing and years of litigation, and eliminate "a serious objection" voiced by NPPS customers who contend they are not represented on Loup and Platte boards, Lloyd Kain of Lexington said.

Under LB288, voters in 80 counties would elect Loup and Platte directors. Loup's directors are now elected from one county, while five counties choose Platte's board members.

Blatchford said the bill would do "only half a job," failing to eliminate the dual responsibility which plagues NPPS operations today.

"It does not provide a permanent solution," G & T attorney Kenneth Olds of Wayne told the committee.

Protecting birds has not always been a picnic for the Audobon Society. Two of the first wardens sent to Florida's egret rookeries were murdered while trying to stop the slaughter of the colorful birds to satisfy the fad for women's feathered hats.

No Action On Power Proposals

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Wednesday listened to 4½ hours of testimony on the first two in a series of major public power reorganization proposals, then adjourned without taking action.

LB665, Loup River Public Power District's proposal to divide the state into six integrated electric utilities, won support from a group of eight investment banking firms, Norris Public Power District and the cities of Grand Island and Fremont, both of which operate their own municipal utilities.

Opposition was voiced by the Farmers Union, Consumers Public Power District, Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative and the Tri-State Generation and Transmission Assn.

Supported

LB288, proposing that members of public power boards be elected from their entire service areas, received the backing of Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and the City of Grand Island.

Testifying in opposition were spokesmen for the Nebraska Electric G & T, Loup, Fremont, Norris, Dawson County Public Power District and Southern Nebraska Rural Public Power District.

A companion bill heard Wednesday, LB869, would require joint meetings of the boards of Loup and Platte, which together form the Nebraska Public Power System.

End Duplication

Loup's plan would eliminate competition, duplication, conflict and excess power costs, Assistant General Manager Max Kiburz of Columbus told the committee.

In establishing integrated areas, it recognizes differing economic interests, Kiburz said, and would not require immediate refinancing.

Nebraska "can no longer afford the luxury of 104 operating electric utilities," Grand Island Utilities Commissioner Frank Phelps argued in supporting LB665.

'The Worst'

Central Nebraska General Manager Jack Boyd of Holdrege contended that the plan is "the worst of the reorganization proposals," and that it would destroy the Tri-County water resource project by separating it and diluting its management with non-irrigation interests.

The bill would create even more conflict and raise costs of electric energy, D. A. Blatchford of Columbus said. Blatchford spoke for rural electric districts.

It is an "economically unfeasible" plan, Consumers attorney Richard Wilson of Lincoln declared, would require refinancing of CPPD's bonds and "goes in the wrong direction" by dividing generation and transmission facilities, instead of consolidating them.

Possible

Platte supports LB288, General Manager Homer Loutzenheiser of North Platte said, because it "recognizes what is possible" in terms of reorganization.

The bill would keep the grid system intact, avoid costly refinancing and years of litigation, and eliminate "a serious objection" voiced by NPPS customers who contend they are not represented on Loup and Platte boards. Lloyd Kain of Lexington said.

Under LB288, voters in 80 counties would elect Loup and Platte directors. Loup's directors are now elected from one county, while five counties choose Platte's board members.

Blatchford said the bill would do "only half a job," failing to eliminate the dual responsibility which plagues NPPS operations today.

"It does not provide a permanent solution," G & T attorney Kenneth Olds of Wayne told the committee.

Protecting birds has not always been a picnic for the Audobon Society. Two of the first wardens sent to Florida's egret rookeries were murdered while trying to stop the slaughter of the colorful birds to satisfy the fad for women's feathered hats.
